Ottey aging with agility

MOSCOW, June 6: Merlene Ottey, still one of the world's top sprinters 16 years after competing for Jamaica at the Moscow Olympics, returns on Friday for the first Grand Prix here since 1992, the year after the breakup of the Soviet Union, reports Reuter.

After more than a decade of frustration at major competitions, Ottey finally broke through at the 1993 Stuttgart World Championships with a victory in the 200 metres.

Ottey retained her title in Gothenburg last year, although she enjoyed a large slice of good fortune when her perennial rival Gwen Torrence was disqualified for running out of the lane.

At the age of 35 and now officially designated as a roving ambassador for Jamaica, Ottey has a grand total of four bronze medals from four Olympics Games.

Atlanta next month must represent her last chance for an Olympic title, with the 200 metres probably her best bet against the formidable challenge of Torrence who will be competing in her home town.

On Wednesday night, Ottey clocked 11 seconds exactly in winning the 100 metres at Rome's golden gala, ahead of three fellow Jamaicans and she will race over that distance again here on Friday. Her time was the second fastest of the season, bettered only by Torrence.

This time, Ottey faces Europe's leading women's sprinter in Russian Irina Privalova, who won the 100-200 metres double at the European Championships in Helsinki two years ago.

Provalova has been training intensively at Moscow State University for her first outdoor meeting of the year.

Juliet Cuthbert, who won two silver medals at the 1992 Barcelona Olympics and finished second to compatriot Ottey in Rome, is also in the field.

Noureddine Morceli, the Olympic and world 1,500 metres champion, competes in his specialist event for the second time in three days while world steeplechase champion Moses Kiptanui, who finished third in the 5,000 metres in Rome, drops down a distance to compete in a 3,000 metres flat race.

Kiptanui, a former world record holder over the 5,000, set a personal best in Rome but still finished behind Morocco's Salah Hissou and fellow-Kenyan Philip Mosima.

Pole vaulter Sergei Bubka, who like Ottey has something to prove in Atlanta, will also be competing at the Lokomotiv Stadium.

Bubka has reigned unchallenged at five consecutive World Championships since the inaugural Helsinki competition in 1983 but crashed out of the 1992 Barcelona Olympics when he failed three times to clear his initial height.

The field events will also feature Czech Jan Zelezny who holds the world record in the Javelin and is threatening to take the mark past 100 metres after his phenomenal throw of 98.48 in Germany last month.

Cops ready for action

LONDON, June 6: The Euro '96 police chief said on Wednesday he was unhappy about reports that fans were buying tickets without security checks. But he expressed confidence his forces could quell any outbreaks of violence, reports Reuter.

Assistant chief constable Malcolm George said if fans bought black market tickets, or were sold them on match days, it could undermine police attempts to segregate fans and cut the risk of clashes inside stadiums.

"There is great concern that the segregation we had hoped to see will not be in place," he told a news conference just three days before the start of the 31-match tournament.

"The implications of free association are significant flexible because of the potential for violence. But we have a system enough to manage the situation and minimise trouble. We will have to be more vigilant," he added.

George made his comments after the Financial Times newspaper quoted police in the central city of Sheffield as saying they were shocked by Football Association plans to sell tickets on match days, a practice the police oppose.

Fans who applied for tickets ahead of time had to give a string to personal details, allowing some troublemakers to be weeded out at an early stage.

The tournament is the largest England has staged in 30 years and authorities are determined to crush any attempts by hooligans to run amok, although they acknowledge that some unwanted incidents are inevitable.

"I can't say the operation is 100 per cent totally secure but we have measures to minimise trouble," said George.

Police have made a series of high profile arrests over the last two weeks but dismiss media speculation that European thugs plan a concerted campaign of violence.

"There is a very small amount of evidence suggesting collusion by European hooligans," said detective chief inspector Bryan Drew, head of specialist crimes at the Elite National Criminal Intelligence Service.

"We do have information that certain individuals plan to engage in criminal activity and we will act to stop that."

George said he wanted to present the estimated 300,000 foreign fans coming to England with a low-level but friendly presence rather than run the risk of stirring up trouble by flooding the streets with riot police.

"Our main objective is an unobtrusive police presence. But if that is abused, the approach will change very quickly and you will see officers in full protective uniform," he said.

George was not impressed by the antics of the English national soccer team, which allegedly damaged equipment on an airliner bringing them back from a Far East tour last week.

"Any alleged incident affecting any of the national squads, be it soccer, rugby or cricket, does not help and does not give a good impression just days before the tournament is due to begin," he said.

Bulgarians off to battlefield

SOFIA, June 6: Bulgaria captain Borislav Mihailov and leading players Hristo Stoichkov and Emil Kostadinov raised their national flag at Sofia airport before heading for Euro '96 today, reports Reuter.

President Zhelyu Zhelev was among the dignitaries watching as the players left to the stirring accompaniment of a military band.

He said he hoped the team would perform even better than they did in the 1994 World Cup when Bulgaria reached the semifinals.

French booters keep going

VILLENEUVE D'ASCQ, France, June 6: France extended their unbeaten run to 23 matches but failed to impress as they beat Armenia 2-0 on Wednesday in their last soccer friendly before the European Championship finals, reports Reuter.

Jocelyn Angloma opened up the scoring by flicking the ball over Armenian goalkeeper Haroutioun Abrahamian from a brilliant pass by Youri Djorkaeff after 16 minutes.

Michael Madar put the issue beyond doubt by converting a Bixente Lizarazu cross with a header in the 72nd minute.

France, who will play their first European Championship match against Romania on Monday in Newcastle, made a cautious start before gaining control over a modest Armenian side.

They squandered several opportunities in a one-sided second half with substitute Patrice Loko hitting the post twice in the 71st minute and again in the 80th.

Asia's Premier basketball live on Star Sports

HONG KONG, June 6: Star TV brings you live coverage of Asia's premier club basketball championships, the ABC Champions Cup from Manila, the Philippines. Live coverage begins on Saturday June 8, 14:00 (BST), with the semi-finals. The high-flying action continues on Sunday, June 9, 12:00 (BST) with the 3rd/4th place playoff and the finals, say a press release.

The Champions Cup features ten of the best Asian Club teams who have qualified through the five Asian Basketball Confederation sub-zones. These five zones (East Asia, South East Asia, Middle Asia, The Gulf and West Asia) span across the Asian region encompassing 40 different national associations.

The East Asia sub-zone is considered to be the most competitive with teams from China, Japan, Korea, and Taiwan. The south-east region is led by the Philippines who will also be the host nation and as the defending champion, they automatically quality for the tournament.

Cappellini aims for third in Russia

LONDON, June 6: The current leader in the Formula 1 World Powerboat Championship, Guide Cappelini, is aiming to make it three in a row this weekend at the Grand Prix of Russia in St. Petersburg, says a press release.

After victories in Sardinia and Hungary, the Italian heads the championship table by eighteen points with German Michael Werner and Italian Massimo Roggiero chasing the reigning world champion.

The John Player Gold Leaf team drivers are in fourth and sixth position in the overall championship after they had mixed fortunes in front of the 40,000 crowed in Hungary. Jonathan Jones failed to finish the race after an unfortunate accident after only two laps and rookie Paul Blackburn continued his improvement in Formula 1 to claim fifth position.

Jones, who finished third last season on the St. Petersburg circuit behind his main rivals Werner and Cappellini, is still confident of catching the world champion despite his bad luck in Hungary. "Hopefully I've had my unlucky race for the year and I'm looking forward to getting some good finishes through to the end of the season. I can't afford to let Guido pull away again and I'm sure the race in St Petersburg will be close.. and I hope it will be fair."

After improving one position from his Formula 1 Grand Prix, Blackburn is hoping that he will continue to improve. "If I can keep improving one place each race, by China I should be No. 1! I've never raced on the St. Petersburg circuit but I hope that the experience I have gained in my first two races will help me finish in the top four."

All the drivers will certainly get plenty of encouragement from the local crowd which is expected to reach over 300,000 around all areas of the circuit in one of the most attractive cities in the world.

The Grand Prix of Russia takes place this weekend with the qualifying sessions on June 8 and the race itself on June 9.

Moroccan steals the show

ROME, June 6: American Dennis Mitchell beat Olympic 100 metres champion Linford Christie at the Golden Gala Grand Prix on Wednesday but it was Morocco's Salah Hissou who took the crowd's breath away in a remarkable 5,000 metres, reports Reuter.

Olympic 100 metres bronze medalist Mitchell — running in electric lime colours — clocked 10.05 seconds, just short of the wind-assisted 9.93 he ran in Atlanta last month and a fraction slower than Christie's season's best of 10.04.

Christie crossed the line second in 10.10.

"Linford's the person I love to race the most. He's a very good friend of mine," said Mitchell afterwards.

But the rather less flamboyant Hissou was the talk of the stadium after setting the second fastest men's 5,000 metres time in history.

His time of 12 minutes 50.80 seconds was just off the record of 12:44.39 held by Ethiopia's Haile Gebresilasie.

Second and third placed Kenyans Philip Mosima and Moses Kiptanui, who set a 5,000 metres world record here last June, were well inside Kiptanui's previous world mark of 12:55.30.

Hissou said later he had not intended to go for the record but took advantage of Kiptanui's fast pace-setting.

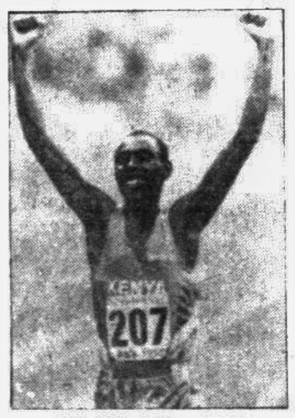
"My aim is to be as fit as possible for the Olympics. I wasn't looking for any particular time. I will start thinking about that after the Olympics," he said.

Italy's Giuseppe D'Urso also had the crowd stomping their feet when he took the 800 metres in the fastest time this season and the first under one minute 44 seconds.

Algerian Noureddine Morceli also set a season's best in the 1,500 metres with a time of 3:30.93.

Namibia's double Olympic silver medalist Frankie Fredericks won the men's 200 metres in 19.96 seconds.

It was his first 200 metres of the season and he said afterwards that he felt on top form. Christie turned the tables on Mitchell, finishing third ahead of the American.



MOSES KIPTANUI

Otherwise, many of the big names were suffering.

Britain's Colin Jackson, the world record holder, made a good start in the 110 metres hurdles but was overtaken on the fifth hurdle and finished a disappointing fourth.

American Allen Johnson, who has the fastest time over the distance this season of 13.13, won in 13.33.

"I'm just trying to concentrate on my rhythm right now. I got no speed at all between the hurdles," Jackson said.

Ireland's Sonia O'Sullivan won the women's 5,000 metres in a time of 14:54.75, who is at below par so far this season, and was unhappy with her performance.

"It felt more like a 10,000 metres than a five. I'm not flying," the world champion said, adding that she felt tense going into the Olympics due to the expectations at home.

Triple jump world record holder Jonathan Edwards of Britain, still way of his extraordinary form of last year, put in a personal season's best of 17.55 metres on his final leap.

Until then he had looked like ending a remarkable unbeaten run stretching back to September 1994.

'Magic' to team with Boca!

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, June 6: US basketball grat Earvin "Magic" Johnson, who announced his retirement last month, will play for Argentine club Boca Juniors next year, Boca's chairman Mauricio Macri said on Wednesday, reports Reuter.

"In the week beginning July 9 Boca will sign a preliminary contract with Magic for him to play for us in the National Basketball League between February and May 1997," Macri told state news agency TELAM.

Buenos Aires club Boca Juniors is better known for soccer, with its football team currently including Argentine Diego Maradona.

Boca has recently modernised its soccer stadium, but will now have to find a bigger basketball stadium if Johnson does move South.

"Our gym only has capacity for 2,000 spectators and Johnson's presence will create a lot of interest, so we'll need a proper setting for such a big event," said Macri.

Johnson retired from professional basketball last month after playing part of the 1995-96 season with the Los Angeles Lakers. He had quit the game in 1992.

New officiants for Pak hockey

KARACHI, June 6: The Pakistan Hockey Federation (PHF) has appointed former Olympian Samiullah as manager and Jehangir Butt as coach of the Atlanta-bound national hockey team, officials said today, reports AFP.

Samiullah, veteran of more than 100 international matches and a former captain, had been manager of Pakistan's junior hockey team.

The decision has been taken in the national interest, PHF president, Air Vice Marshal Umer Farooq said.

"We believe the new manager and coach will perform their duties well and help the team in performing great hockey," he said.

Farooq said the national team will be announced on Saturday. The team, scheduled to leave for England on Sunday, will participate in four-nation tournaments in England and the Netherlands before playing in the Atlanta Olympics in July.

Cantona's word of caution

PARIS, June 6: French footballer Eric Cantona, star of England's Manchester United, will quit football if unauthorised use of his name by British firms to sell products does not stop, his lawyer said on Wednesday, reports Reuter.

"If such abuse continues, and independent of legal suits which may be engaged against companies and company officials who act in this way, Eric Cantona will no longer continue his activity," lawyer Jean-Jaques Bertrand told Reuters.

Asked if he meant Cantona was threatening to quit football, Bertrand replied: "Yes."
