Asian stocks close mostly up

AFP, Hong Kong

Asian stocks closed mostly up Wednesday after official figures showed robust Chinese economic growth and record oil prices boosted resources stocks, but concerns about inflation grew.

An upbeat outlook from chip giant Intel and a Wall Street rally on Tuesday also shored up sentiment after a steep slide in Asia at the start of the week over concerns about corporate earnings amid a US-led world economic slowdown.

Japan, the region's biggest stock market, climbed 1.20 percent. Taiwan, South Korea and Singapore also registered gains of around one percent or more.

But the stock markets in Hong Kong and Shanghai fell despite data showing the Chinese economy grew 10.6 percent in the first quarter of 2008, slowing only a little from the pace it set at the end of last year.

Experts said the economic numbers released Wednesday also showed high Chinese inflation in March of 8.3 percent, including soaring food costs, raising the fear of more measures to slow the nation's economy.

Record crude oil added to the concerns about rising prices.

Investors were also waiting nervously for earnings reports this week from Wall Street giants JPMorgan Chase, Citigroup and Merrill Lynch in the wake of the global financial crisis.

TOKYO: Japanese share prices closed up 1.20 percent as overnight gains on Wall Street and US chip maker Intel Corp.'s quarterly earnings cheered investors, dealers said.

The benchmark Nikkei-225 index climbed 155.55 points to end at 13,146.13. The broader Topix index of all first-section shares climbed 15.91 points or 1.27 percent to 1,271.88.

HONG KONG: Hong Kong share prices closed down 0.1 percent, dealers said.The Hang Seng index closed down 22.98 points at 23,878.35. Turnover was 64.63 billion Hong Kong dollars (8.29 billion US).

"Investors are worried that high inflation will undermine China's economic growth and corporate earnings," said Hua Xin, an analyst at Founder Securities.

Official data showed China's economy grew 10.6 percent in the first three months of 2008, down from 11.7 percent in the first quarter of 2007. Inflation was 8.3 percent in March.

TAIPEI: Taiwan share prices closed 1.58 percent higher, dealers said. The weighted index closed up 141.26 points at 9,066.04. Turnover was 210.29 billion Taiwan dollars (6.94 billion US).
