STAFF CORRESPONDENT

Speakers at a 'National Consultation on Rio+10 Assessment' yesterday suggested forming a national steering committee to review the progress of implementation of "Agenda 21" adopted in the 1992 Rio Earth Summit in Brazil.

The steering committee should involve government agencies, environmental experts, NGOs, journalists and other stakeholders for better coordination in carrying out the 'Agenda 21', they added.

Forum of Environmental Journalists of Bangladesh (FEJB) organised the seminar at the National Press Club yesterday to discuss the preparations for the next year's Rio plus ten Summit to be held in Johannesburg. Almost ten years elapsed since the Rio Summit, yet little progress has been made to translate the agenda 21 into action, the participants said, adding that the civil society and pressure groups should put pressure on the government to implement those commitments.

Speaking as chief guest, Information Secretary Syed Marghub Murshed said Rio summit was a landmark and historical event in recognising environment as a key issue as regard for the survival of the human species.

"Now we have to take stock of what we have done in the past ten years. We should be well prepared for the Rio 10 plus summit to highlight our concerns", he added.

Dr. Atique Rahman, Chairman of Coalition of NGOs and Centre for Advanced Studies, said Bangladesh should highlight its magnitude of natural disasters along with the progress it made in environmental sector including the landmark National Environmental Management Plan(NEMAP).

Assistant Resident Representative of UNDP Syed Shireen Kamal said Bangladegh had so far nothing to be called as national paper to be presented in Johannesburg despite some preparatory initiatives taken by some of the civil society bodies.

FEJB Chairman Quamrul Islam Chowdhury called for applying indigenous knowledge and incorporating all initiatives taken by the prospective stakeholders to come out with a national consensus on policy formulation.

Sunil Kanti Bose and Omar Ali of the Environment Ministry, Anju Sharma of Indian Research Group Centre Science and Environment, Nepalese journalist Aditya Man Sharestha also spoke on the occasion.
