World stocks win back ground

AFP, London

World stock markets advanced Thursday, with Asia boosted by a record new stimulus package in Japan and Europe lifted by overnight US gains before a British interest rate call and the Easter break.

Tokyo jumped 3.74 percent after the Japan's ruling party approved a stimulus spending plan that amounts to more than 15.4 trillion yen (154 billion dollars), or about three percent of gross domestic product.

Hong Kong rallied 2.97 percent, Sydney gained 1.44 percent and Seoul closed 4.3 percent higher. Shanghai closed up 1.38 percent on bargain hunting.

The injection for Japan, the world's second largest economy, would be part of a wider package worth over 56.8 trillion yen when tax cuts, loan guarantees and other measures are included.

The markets also took their lead from Wall Street. New York rose 0.61 percent Wednesday after two days of declines as investors appeared to hedge against a tough corporate earnings reporting season.

The positive sentiment spilled over into Europe, where London gained 0.74 percent and Paris added 0.78 percent in late morning trade.

"European equity markets are set to start the final session of this shortened trading week on an upbeat note after Wall Street finished in positive territory," said Jimmy Yates, head of equities at CMC Markets.

Frankfurt was up 0.96 percent, winning an additional boost after the German government launched a takeover of troubled Hypo Real Estate bank.

However, trading was expected to be muted because all three main European markets will be shut on Friday and Monday for a four-day Easter holiday weekend.

"With a long Easter weekend on the horizon, the markets are likely to be thin today, as many participants pack up early," said Calyon analyst Stuart Bennett.

London investors awaited an interest rate decision later Thursday from the Bank of England (BoE), which was expected by analysts to keep its key lending rate at the current record low of 0.50 percent.

The central bank last month launched a twin-pronged attack on the global credit crunch by creating 75 billion pounds of new money under a quantitative easing plan and slashing borrowing costs to 0.50 percent.

"The significant item today is the (BoE) meeting and again here the focus will be on the success of the quantitative easing that we've seen so far and also what the bank is planning to do next," Yates said.

Oil shoots up

AFP, London

Oil prices jumped on Thursday, continuing to draw support from a smaller-than-expected rise in crude reserves in key energy consumer the United States, analysts said.

New York's main futures contract, light sweet crude for May delivery, gained 1.63 dollars to 51.01 dollars a barrel.

Brent North Sea oil for May delivery advanced 1.37 dollars to 52.96 dollars.

Money Market

Money market was active on Thursday. Most deals traded at .25-.5 per cent. Market was very liquid.

International Market

The dollar and yen slipped against other major currencies on Thursday as European shares asked gains, renewing appetite for so called riskier assets ahead of the Easter holidays. The euro was supported by a 0.3 percent rise in regional share prices, although the currency retreated from a session high after a European Central Bank Governing Council member said that a fall below 1 percent in the central bank's key rate was "open for discussion".
