Asian shares lower

AFP, Hong Kong

Oil prices hovered just below the $100 a barrel mark on Monday as traders grew increasingly worried about unrest in Egypt, while stock markets in Asia mostly fell.

Share prices partly lost ground due to last week's sharp falls on Wall Street -- the result both of instability in Egypt and poor corporate results.

However, resource stocks gained on higher prices for oil and gold.

Tokyo's Nikkei index ended down 1.18 percent, or 122.42 points, at 10,237.92 and Sydney's S&P/ASX 200 index dropped 0.44 percent, or 21.0 points, to 4,753.9, while Hong Kong's Hang Seng fell 0.72 percent, or 169.68 points, to 23,447.34.

But the Shanghai Composite Index rose 1.38 percent, or 37.94 points, to 2,790.69, with gains among oil companies and gold miners.

World oil prices rose, with the most obvious threat from Egypt's turmoil being the risk that supplies through the vital Suez Canal could be disrupted.

New York's main contract, light sweet crude for March delivery, was up 74 cents at $90.09 per barrel in late afternoon trade. Brent North Sea crude for March fell 44 cents to $98.98.

The price rises were likely to fuel expectations that oil could top $100 a barrel.

Indian stocks fell 0.37 percent on Monday, its fourth straight day of losses, with the benchmark 30-share Sensex index tumbling 68.21 points to 18,327.76.

Asian markets were not helped by Wall Street's poor performance -- the blue-chip Dow Jones Industrial Average lost 0.41 percent over last week after eight straight weeks of gains. Sentiment was dented by disappointing earnings reports from Amazon, Microsoft and Ford Motor Co.

However some traders were unworried about any knock-on from the situation in Egypt.

Hong Kong pared back some of its losses late in the day.

Risk averse investors kept away from the euro in Asia.

The European single currency stayed at $1.3610 in Tokyo afternoon trade after slumping to a low of $1.3569 in early trade, compared with $1.3609 in New York late Friday, when it plunged due to escalating tension in Egypt.

The single European currency dropped to 111.58 yen from 111.72 yen.

The dollar fetched 82.05 yen, flat from 82.09 yen in New York Friday.

Gold closed at $1,333.30-$1,334.30 an ounce in Hong Kong, up from Friday's close of $1,314.50-$1,315.50, amid a general rise in commodity prices on the back of the Egyptian unrest.

In other markets:

Seoul fell 1.81 percent, or 38.14 points, to 2,069.73, led by construction stocks concerns over Egypt. Bangkok fell 1.81 percent or 17.73 points to close at 964.10. Banpu lost 24.00 baht to 730.00, while PTT fell 7.00 baht to 335.00.

Singapore's Straits Times Index closed down 49.97 points, or 1.55 percent, to 3,179.72.
