our country.

In the late '60s Iqbal Ahmed, a student of economics at the Dhaka University, was a popular figure in the cultural realm of the country. It was a time when the fiery patriotic songs, filled with passionate idealism was gaining momentum. The Bangali believed in cultural freedom. It was the burning patriotism mingled with romanticism, which made the songs blossom in mood and melody.

Bengal Foundation recently released two of Iqbal Ahmed's albums. One Rabindra Sangeet and the other a gonosangeet (people's song) album. The gonosangeet album has a collection of songs composed by Kazi Nazrul Islam, Sk Luthfur Rahman, Ajit Roy, Altaf Mahmud, Mukundo Das and Gurushodoy

Iqbal Ahmed's new albums released at Bengal Foundation

After a long interval the fans of Igbal had the unique opportunity to listen to his golden voice once again. Iqbal rendered numbers from his latest albums in front of a packed audience.

If we look back in the early forties of this century a new trend of Bengali art song known as gonosangeet or people's song was formed by those who worked against all kinds of repression in the society. The songs were mostly patriotic in nature. Rabindranath's creative career started as a composer of patriotic songs. Out of 2500 songs that he composed, about 60 belonged to the patriotic trends. Nazrul returned from the frontiers and started to compose patriotic songs also. Mukundo Das was inspired by the patriotic feelings of Aswini Dutta and soon began to compose songs to propagate anti British feelings. For this he was severely tortured Mokundo Das has in iail. reflected almost all the moods of patriotism in his songs. When Iqbal was a student of Chhayanaut, he was inspired by teachers like Sanjida Khatun, Zahidur Rahim and Sheikh Luthfur Rahman. He gained his first popularity when he sang in 1969 to welcome the new students of the Dhaka University in a play "Roktokorobi". Iqbal was himself a cultural activist and involved very much with the ongoing cultural movement in the pre-liberation period. In 1971, Iqbal was imprisoned by the Pakistani army and tortured severely. After independence he Igbal's career started as a lecturer at the Jahangirnagar University. He completed his Ph. D from the Cambridge University and later joined the ILO at Geneva. In spite of his busy schedule Iqbal wholeheartedly practices and performs. So far he along with his wife Sakera have performed extensively in England, Germany, Canada, France, Zambia and India.

Iqbal says that the "sur" (Tune), "bani" (words), and chhondo (rhythm), are all necessary to make a song a success. It is the sincerity of the voice that carries the meaning of the songs to the listeners. Iqbal has that maturity in his voice.

Iqbal has a bold and melodious voice. Very passionate too. As a person Iqbal Ahmed has always been a man with high spirits and without artificiality. Nothing much has changed in all these years and we hope to listen to more of lqbal's passionate renditions in the near future.

Springsteen shows who's boss at Grammy awards

AFP, REUTERS, New York

nostalgic reunion by legendary folk duo Simon and Garfunkel kicked off the 45th annual Grammy awards here Sunday, with Bruce Springsteen showing who was the Boss by picking up three early trophies.

The soft, jazzy voice of Norah Jones inviting listeners to "Come Away With Me" swept up eight Grammy Awards at Sunday night's top music industry awards that were punctuated by a smattering of low key anti-war protests.

Jones, 23, nominated personally for five awards and tipped by many music critics to dominate the 45th annual Grammys, did just that by taking home the golden gramonhone statuettes for Album of the Year, Best New Artist, Record of The Year for the single "Don't Know Why," Best Pop Vocal Album and

The rising

In the pre-telecast segment the National Academy of Recording Arts & Sciences gave Springsteen, 53, three Grammys in rock categories for "The Rising," the first all-new recording with his famous E Street band since 1984.

Springsteen and the band performed a rousing version of "The Rising" during the awards ceremony.

The Springsteen album includes the track "Into the Fire," which he wrote after the Sept. 11 attacks. Another track was "My City of Ruins," an earlier song about downon-its-luck Asbury Park, New Jersey, that the musician dedicated to New York after the attacks.

In another echo of the attacks on New York, country singer Alan Jackson's emotional "Where Were You (When the World Stopped Turning)" won in the category of Best Country tune. Dixie Chicks won Grammys for Best Country Album for "Home" and Best Country Performance By A Duo Or Group With Vocal, "Long Time Gone," and Best Country Instrumental Performance, "Lil Jack Slade" and Best Recording Package on "Home" went to art director Kevin Reagan.

Dixie Chicks talked about how satisfying it was winning with the "Home" album, which they put together themselves.

Simon and Garfunkel

"This is special," said lead singer Natalie Maines. "We feel we made this one by ourselves. We had no on else to answer to."

The Blues album called 'Screamin' and Hollerin' The Blues: The Worlds of Charlev Patton" won three Grammys in the pre-telecast show -- Best Boxed or Special Limited Edition Package, Best Album Notes and Best Historical Album. The Grammvs returned to New
