At around 3:00 pm, under the piercing hot sun and the glare of a very small section of audience, the tall and eversmiling Mehreen performed her pleasing numbers. The crowd started to get bigger once ABC, the key attraction of the show, got on stage and began to tune in their instruments. For the very first time Artcell, Black and Cryptic Fate got together on one platform and joined their forces to create a musical phenomenon. It was amusing to watch and listen to the experimental performance which was fairly appreciated by occur due to the fluctuating voltage. The Audience had to be kept waiting in the scorching sun, while the problems were being solved. Anchor Misho, taking advantage of the break, reminded everyone of the blood donation scheme which was being conducted at the Stadium. After the experiment performance by ABC, the crowd seemed to get bigger and a sudden spurge of people of the male sex seemed to fill in every crook and nook of the area, just to watch young Tishma. This young singer, nicknamed Shakira, with curly hair and a dark get up, danced to her tunes along with the dancing crowd. By the time the popular Nogor Baul and Shadhinota got over with their performances, the dark stadium was lit bright with lights and was filled to the brim with people from all kinds of city corners.
