Magic pencil

Children's book illustration exhibition held at the British Council

NOVERA DEEPITA

ASNUVA Amin Nova, a girl of twleve, liked one of the exhibited illustrations by Patrick Benson from the book The Minipins of Roald Dahl, It shows some very small people riding on the back of birds. Tasnuva likes the picture because it is very colourful and the people in it are so tiny. 'It reminds me of the Lilliputs in the Gulliver's Travels', she says, Tasnuva, came all the way with her friends from Naraynganj to see the exhibition and to have fun, watching the puppet show and animation films for children.

British Council has acquired facsimile prints of 60 illustrations from the original Artwork of Magic Pencil and arranged an exhibition at the institute's auditorium. The illustrations have been chosen by the celebrated children's author and illustrator, Quentin Blake, first incumbent of the post of Children's Laureate.

The exhibition features the artworks of 13 most accomplished and innovative illustrators in print today of the UK like Quentin Blake himself, Raymond Briggs, Tony Ross, John Burningham and Michael Foreman. Others represent new and varied ways of approaching book illustration, such as the photographic collages and creative layouts of Sara Fanelli and Lauren

The illustrations are taken from different books of fairytales, comics and other books for children. An illustration by Angela Barrett taken from the book Snow White of Josephine Poole offers a pleasant picture. It shows Snow White is running through the woods along with the inhabitant-foxes, wolves and tigers. This tells her helplessness when she was evicted from home by her step-

The exhibition was inaugurated by eminent artist of the country

Mustofa Monwar. He said in his speech, 'Illustration is not just a picture, it helps the child understand the story itself. Illustration depicts the love and affection for the children. And we have a tradition of illustration in our country and there is playfulness in these pictures.'

Among others Feroz Alauddin, Director of Bangladesh Shishu Academy, and Charles Nuttall, Deputy Director of British Council, also spoke at the occasion. Besides the exhibition there will be multimedia presentation, screening of animation films and puppet show arranged for the children. The exhibition will remain open up to August 15 every day from 10am to 6

New production house of Mimi

CULTURE

FSANA Mimi has started working with fresh enthusiasm. The making of the new mega serial Sharey tintala has started this month under the banner of her new production house 'Krishnachura'

After the closing of Machranga in June, the audience along with the media world were giute disappointed as Mimi was producing two popular mega serials Bandhan and Grihagalpo under its banner. Everybody expected that she would present standard dramas when Machranga was closed all of a sudden.

Mimi established Krishnachura and produced a number of commercials from the house. Besides two promotional films on articles of law titled Mamla Noy Mimangsha and Aurthohin Adalot have been made.

Sharey Tintala has been written by Nazrul Islam and Debashish Kakon and directed by Manirul

ANWAR ALI, Rajshahi

OLO musician Rezaul Karim was announced as the best performer of Raishahi regional Benson and Hedges Star Search competition

And with the announcement. made at a colourful ceremony at Nanking Community center in the city on Sunday night, the regional level auditions for the 'One and Only Star Search Award for 2003' were

Kumar Biswajit

The young crowd of Rajshahi and many of the local elite enjoyed the dancing, clapping and even voicing with the popular tracks of Kumar Biswajit who is famous for his western blend with Bengali songs and also with the 'Renaissance' best selling tracks that were popular for their folk-typed rhythm.

The Rajshahi Award announcement session started an hour later completed.

Earlier in the day, twenty performers--eight band teams and 12 solo musicians (chosen from the 16 districts of Rajshahi division earlier) took part in a day long audition at a rest house in Padma residential area in the city. The panel of judges were a bit dizzy while sieving through the promising musicians as they said in the announcement ceremony, but found it easy to officially declare Rezaul Karim as the Best Regional Performer The final decision of the judges comprising the country's noted singers and musicians -- Kumar Biswaiit. Nakib Khan and Faisal Siddique were not solely based on musical composition but the performers' knowledge on music was also given importance. The night at the Nanking hall room was winded up with drums, heavy lighting and above all a number of songs presented byf the judges Nakib Khan, Faisal Siddique and their band 'Renaissance' and
