The ugliness of urban existence Rapper Missy Elliott Takes Top Honor at MTV Awards

REUTERS, New York

APPER Missy Elliott, teen heart throb Justin Timberlake, singer Bevonce Knowles and rapper 50 Cent were the big winners on Thursday at the 2003 MTV Video Music Awards

Elliott took the evening's top honour, Best Video of the Year, and also won Best Hip-Hop Video for her song Work It. Knowles won Best Female Video, Best R&B Video and Best Choreography while rapper 50 Cent won for Best Rap Video and Best New Artist.

Timberlake won Best Pop Video, Best Dance Video and Best Male Video--a category in which he beat out Johnny Cash, a rock-n-roll legend old enough to be his grandfather

"This is a travesty, I demand a recount," Timberlake said while accepting the Best Male Video award. "My grandfather raised me on Johnny Cash...and I think he deserves this better than any of us here tonight."

British band Coldplay, who won Best Group Video, Best Direction in a Video and Breakthrough Video. gave one of the highlight performances and dedicated it to Cash.

Cash, 71, was not at the Radio City Music Hall ceremony but was in a Nashville hospital, where he was in stable condition. He has been in declining health in recent years because of a nervous system disorder, autonomic neuropathy, which makes him prone to pulmonary problems

Cash, who rose to fame in the 1950s when Elvis Presley and Jerry Lee Lewis were the hottest things in music, was nominated for six awards but only won Best Cinematography for Hurt. In the video, a frail Cash sings a haunting Nine Inch Nails song about death, decay and regret

Among other winners in the ceremony, hosted by comedian Chris Rock were punk band Linkin Park for Best Rock Video, rockers Good Charlotte for the Viewers' Choice award and rapper Eminem
