Treat stranded Pakistanis sympathetically

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

Speakers at a book launching ceremony in the city yesterday urged to treat stranded Pakistanis in Bangladesh sympathetically towards ending their identity crisis.

At the launching of the book -- A Community in Transition: The Biharis in Bangladesh, they also insisted upon assimilating the stranded groups in the country's demographic mainstream on a right-based social approach.

Empowerment through Law of the Common People (ELCOP), a human rights organisation, organised the launching programme and the book is a compilation of research works by 18 law students of different public universities.

"Refugees are victims of reasons far beyond their control," said Dr Kamal Hossain adding that proper attention should be given to the issue.

"The issue of stranded and internally displaced people is a post-conflict legacy which is prevalent across the world," he added.

Shahidul Haq, South Asian Representative of the International Organisation for Migration, asked for the time needed to end transitory period of refugee status and determining their legal status.

Pointing to the plight of refugees at various camps in the country, Executive Director of the ELCOP Dr Mizanur Rahman said the book deals with the crisis of a community from human rights perspective.

Human chain formed in Khulna

STAFF CORRESPONDENT, Khulna

Khulna Development Action Committee yesterday formed a human chain at Khalishpur Industrial belt demanding immediate reopening of the laid off jute, newsprint and hardboard mills.

Normal life came to a stand still for an hour from 11.00am to 12.00 noon as hundreds of people from all walks of life joined the human chain.

Padma records further rise More low-lying areas may go under water

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

The flood situation in Chapainawabganj district may deteriorate and more low-lying areas in Rajbari, Munshiganj and Narayanganj are likely to be inundated as the Padma recorded further rise at various points in the last 24 hours.

The rivers across the country recorded rise at 29 points and fall at 37 points while they were flowing above danger levels at six points, according to the Flood Forecasting and Warning Centre.

In the Brahmaputra basin, the Brahmaputra-Jamuna registered slight rise at Bahadurabad and Sirajganj and Aricha. The river was flowing above danger level by 22 cm at Aricha.

The Brahmaputra and the Jamuna, however, recorded fall in the upstream.

The water level of old Brahmaputra rose further at Jamalpur and Mymensingh while the Buriganga saw slight rise in Dhaka.

The Balu was flowing above danger level by 10cm at Demra and the Lakhya was flowing 20cm above danger level at Narayanganj.

The Dhaleswari recorded rise at Jagir and all the rivers in this basin are flowing below danger levels.

In the Ganges basin, the Padma registered further rise at Pankha, Rajshahi, Hardinge Bridge, Goalundo and Bhagyakul.

The river is flowing above danger level at Pankha by 70 cm, at Goalundo by 15cm and at Bhagyakul by 16 cm.

The Mohananda at Chapainawabganj, the Goral at Goral Railway Bridge and the Atrial Khan at Madaripur also registered further rise.

In the Meghna basin, all the rivers are flowing below danger levels.
