Economist & Governance Advisers - DFID, Bangladesh

The Department for International Development (DFID) is one of the largest donors in Bangladesh. It has exciting opportunities for knowledgeable, experienced and enthusiastic development professionals to join its dynamic team based in the Dhaka office.

You must have a minimum of four years' experience and be able to demonstrate significant successes and a track record of achievement as a development professional, preferably as part of an international organisation. Applications from specialists with specific Bangladesh expertise are particularly encouraged.

You will take full advisory responsibility for the design and supervision of parts of the Bangladesh country programme. Some in-country and international travel will be required.

You should be able to demonstrate by example that you have personal competence in forward thinking, communicating and influencing, analytical thinking, judgement and working well with others. You must possess a relevant post-graduate degree or equivalent from an internationally recognised programme.

As an Economist in DFIDB, you will be expected to make contributions to the programme on economic and corporate issues. You will work with other Economic Advisers to help ensure that economic issues get proper consideration in implementation of the Bangladesh Country Plan. This will involve working closely with partners including Government, academic institutions and other key donors, especially the World Bank, ADB, IMF and other bi-laterals. If you have experience of applying economic concepts to public finances, development projects and poverty reduction, this position offers a challenging environment and offers you an opportunity to help work towards poverty reduction in Bangladesh.

DFID defines governance in terms of seven 'capability areas': i) Political systems; ii) governance in private sector development and trade; iii) governance in public financial management; iv) Governance in service delivery (health, education, water); safety, v) security and access to justice; vi) national security and conflict resolution; and vii) government accountability and anti-corruption. Candidates for the post of Governance Adviser must have a successful track record in at least one of these areas, and ideally more.

You will make innovative contributions to programme aims and delivery. This will involve governance advice to individual projects; working as one of a team of Governance cross cutting advisers on sectoral work across the programme priorities (e.g. health, education, livelihoods, private sector development, trade), and through contributing to office-wide policy analysis, including political analysis and anti-corruption. DFID is currently developing with other partners a significant new financial aid instrument built around governance reform and you will play a major role in the implementation of this.

There will be an attractive and competitive local salary and benefits package, including a relocation allowance, to reflect the responsibility of the post and your skills and experience. You will be able to apply for permanent membership of the DFID Advisory cadre after successfully completing a probation period of ten months.

DFID is an equal opportunities employer. We actively encourage applications from women, ethnic minority groups and those with a disability. Selection is on merit although you will need to hold Bangladeshi citizenship or have a Bangladesh work permit. We particularly encourage applications from Bangladeshi citizens living abroad.

To receive an application form and the full job description for these posts, you can either go to the DFID Bangladesh website www.dfidbangladesh.org or e-mail Dfidb-Recruitment@dfid.gov.uk quoting either "Economist" or "Governance Adviser" in the subject box. Closing date: 2 February 2006.
