UN Volunteers

United Nations Development Programme
 United Nations Volunteers Programme
VACANCY ANNOUNCEMENT

UNDP/UNV-Bangladesh seeks applications from Bangladeshi nationals for the following position, for work in a host country where one or more Cisco Networking academies are already operational. The duration of the assignment is one year.

UNV Specialist in ICT for Cisco Networking Academies :

This post is a United Nations Volunteers Programme Assignment and based on the values of free will, commitment, engagement and solidarity, which are the foundations of volunteerism. Volunteering brings benefit to the individual volunteer. It makes important contributions, economically, as well as socially. It contributes to creating social cohesion and capital, through helping to build trust and reciprocity among citizens. The United Nations Volunteers is the UN Organisation that supports sustainable human development globally through the promotion of volunteerism and mobilisation of volunteers. It serves the causes of peace and development through enhancing opportunities for participation by all peoples. As a United Nations Volunteer, one is encouraged and expected to relate to local volunteerism and to be identified with the concept.

Background :
 The Cisco Networking Academy Program is a comprehensive, e-learning program, which provides students with the Internet technology skills essential in a global economy. The Networking Academy program delivers web-based content, on-line assessment, student performance tracking, hands-on labs, instructor training and support, and preparation for industry-standard certifications. Launched in 1997, there are now over 10,000 Networking Academies in more than 155 countries. Over 400,000 students are enrolled in Academies in high schools, colleges and universities, technical schools, community-based organizations, and other educational programs around the world. The Networking Academy program is a powerful development tool, because it employs the Internet and education - the two great equalizers. <http://gender.ciscolearning.org>

The Networking Academy program curriculum teaches students, at educational institutions and in-transition workers in-demand, Internet technology skills including a broad range of topics from basics on how to build a network to how to build a web site and more complex IT concepts such as applying advanced troubleshooting tools. www.cisco.com/go/netacad

Bringing the Cisco Networking Academy Program to developing countries has allowed their students the same educational opportunities that are currently being offered to students in other countries around the world. Providing a workforce with the skills to design, build and maintain the Internet infrastructure is a critical step to participation in the global economy. This is a program that can assist offering sustainable development and accelerate a country's progression and full integration into the world economy.

Duties and Responsibilities:
 The incumbent will gain access to training by working with current Academy Instructors in the host country. Major areas of work will be:

- Assisting in the creation of national plans for the Networking Academy Program through production of national project plans, and consultation and technical support to the Government in developing the framework for project implementation and expansion.
- Broadening the reach of Networking Academy Program in the host country by fostering public-private partnerships among local NGOs, private firms and academic communities.
- Outreach to group with restricted access to ICT training, through ensuring program expansion to reach groups that have limited or no access to technical ICT training, identification of the target groups, and implementing community strategy for promotion of ICT training and raising awareness about it.
- Outreach and advocacy to improve female participation and retention in the Academy Program, ensuring program expansion to reach females that typically have limited or no access to technical ICT training, and development of country-specific strategies for providing most effective opportunities for them.
- Provide support in terms of Gender Issue and Technical Assistance to the Academy Program, by way of dialogue with Networking Academy in host country to help them identify links with various organizations, serving as a role model in ICT by making presentations to community leaders, teachers, NGOs, and potential students- and developing a system of mentoring for female students with other role models.
- Helping to manage community-telecenter functions in those Academies that will double as telecenters.
- Assist Regional and Local Academies with Financial and Strategic Planning
- Strengthen Networking Academy Program knowledge network, also providing Weekly Reports to Cisco team, as well as other ad hoc reports and quarterly report to partners in the initiative on the status of Networking Academy Program implementation.
- Support Academy instructors with activities for students, instructors and community members.
- Maintain database with details about Academy graduates.
- Participate in the online UNITEs community and share work experience and program activities with other ICT volunteers.

Required Qualifications and Experience :
 The candidate should have a Masters degree, with minimum experience of 5 years in the areas of (i) Education, (ii) Labour & Employment, and (iii) Poverty Eradication. S/he should also have proven expertise in at least one of the Sustainable Development key areas, such as Education, Labor & Employment, Poverty Eradication. Other significant assets will be advanced user-level ICT skills, experience in working with multiple partners, and a passion for bringing about change to improve human development. Experience in volunteering and a commitment to volunteerism as a critical element in community development and building ICT capacity are highly desirable. Experience of working or having an involvement with CISCO Networking academies will be considered as an added advantage.

Submission of Application : Applications should be submitted in English and include a covering letter, recent photograph of the applicant and the CV. Applications addressed to the Assistant Resident Representative (Human Resources) should be sent, quoting the post title on the envelope, to UNDP, GPO Box: 224, Dhaka-1000, by close of business on 04 February 2006. Incomplete applications will not be considered, and only short listed candidates will be contacted. Any attempt to influence the selection process in favour of any candidate will result in automatic disqualification of the recommended candidate.

Female candidates are encouraged to apply.
 UN offices are a smoke-free work environment.
