only mosque made of wood in the country. The author's ancestor Moulvi Mominuddin Akon started the construction work of the mosque in 1913. Interestingly, it was also the year when Lord Curzon inaugurated the Dhaka Museum at the then secretariat. The book contains photographs of the mosque from several angles, closeup shots of the door panels depicting intricate designs, and some geographical maps. Although written in a slightly casual manner, the book surely endeavours to protect not only the work of an ancestor but also the whole nation

Doctor Zhivago (1965) Directed by David Lean

Cast: Omar Sharif, Julie Christie, Geraldine Chaplin, Rod Steiger, Siobhan McKenna Price: Tk 120.00

A Russian epic, the movie traces the life of surgeon-poet Yury

Zhivago before and during the Russian Revolution. Married to an upper-class girl who is devoted to him, yet in love with an unfortunate woman who becomes his muse, Zhivago is torn between fidelity and passion. Secret Ballot (2001), Directed by Babak Payami

A soldier stationed on a deserted beach wakes up and discovers that it's not going to be an ordinary day: there are the elections, but nobody seems to know anything about them. Just as an electoral urn is being parachuted from the sky, a young woman disembarks on the beach. To the soldier's bafflement, it turns out that she is in charge of the mobile electoral seat and voting on the islands; therefore the soldier is obliged to obey her orders and escort her with his rifle and army jeep across the desert, where the woman obstinately intends to collect the votes.

This is the reprint of a book written around a hundred years ago. Apparently, the first book of history ever written on Faridpur, the book contains some rare ancient maps of the Faridour collectorate, formed in 1815 with parts of Dhaka and Jessore. In 1859, it became a district. The book was published most probably around 1906-07. Writer-journalist Abu Saeed deserves thanks for discovering the book after searching through different libraries.
