The Mughal Nobility under Aurangzeb

This important book, first published in 1966, led to a reconsideration of many long-held views regarding the ethnic composition of the Mughal ruling classes and the role of the nobility in a formally centralized state apparatus. It also illustrates how quantitative methods could be successfully applied to the study of political history. Athar Ali explores the structure and functioning of the administrative institutions of the Mughal empire. His extensive study of the ethnic and religious identities among the nobility, particularly under Aurangzeb, led him to revise many conventional views, such as

Mysticism and Logic Bertrand Russell

Price: Tk 495.00 Mysticism and Logic is a collection of essays concerned with different ways of knowing, the ultimate nature of matter and the particular problems of philosophy. They reveal one of Russell's lifelong preoccupations: the disentanglement of what is subjective or intellectually cloudy from what is objective or capable of logical demonstration. Russell's celebrated essay "A Free Man's Worship" appears in this volume. He argues that we can construct a new and deeper form of faith based on the power of reason and on our capacity to create our world through our own effect.

THE GREAT MASTERS

His Life and Works, Price: Tk 1395.00

Although Albrecht Dürer's name is intimately linked to Nuremberg, where he was born and lived, in all of German cultural history only Bach and Goethe are of comparable stature. In the late fifteenth century,

Nuremberg was one of the busiest, most liberal and cultured of German cities. There was, however, no equivalent artistic ferment to match the humanistic and scientific development. Art remained firmly anchored to the Gothic style and to the works through which many artists had carried this style to a formal perfection.

Abul Hussain Translated by Syed Sajjad Husain Price: Tk 225.00

Culled from the early writings of Abul Hussain, who is recognised as the first modern Bengali poet in Bangladesh, these poems, translated by Syed Sajjad Husain, provide a glimpse into the essence of his poetry-urbanity, wit and satire, colloquial parties did not fail to have polarised views on style and a toughness of texture. No effort the issue based on politics of denial and has been made to convey the singularity of his diction and the expertise of his metrical and rhyming innovations, which distinguish to a more informed understanding of the him most from his contemporaries, since they are simply untranslatable.

Persistent Power Structure and Agricultural Growth in a Bangladesh Village Kirsten Westergaard & Abul Hossain Price: Tk 260 00

This book is based on a restudy undertaken during the second half of the 1990s of a village that Kirsten Westergaard studied in 1975/76, and which she named Boringram. The period between the two studies had witnessed many changes at the policy level in Bangladesh. Over time, the ideology of socialism had been abandoned and replaced by capitalism, emphasising liberalisation and privatisation as well as other structural adjustment reforms.

Directed by Giuseppe Tornatore Cast: Tim Roth, Pruitt Taylor Vince, Mélanie Thierry, Bill Nunn, Clarence Price: Tk 100.00

An English pawn shopkeeper recognises the tune Max plays on his trumpet as one on an unreleased recording discovered and restored from shards found in a piano salvaged from a cruise ship-turned-hospital ship, now slated for demolition. Max's longest jazz gig was several years with the band aboard the posh cruise ship Virginian where he was befriended by a young pianist Danny Boodman TD Lemons 1900, although everyone just called him 1900, the year of his birth. 1900 was a gifted planist, a great jazz improvisationist, a composer of rich modern music inspired by his intense observation of the life around him, the stories of passengers on all levels of the ship.
