The non-government primary teachers under the banner of Bangladesh Non-government Primary Teachers Association held a rally yesterday at the Central Shaheed Minar and submitted a memorandum to the prime minister demanding nationalisation of their jobs.

Non-government Primary Teachers Association, led by Mansur Ali, started indefinite strike at their educational institutions from Tuesday.

They would hold a grand rally at Muktangon in the capital around 11:00am today and lay siege to the Prime Minister's Office afterwards. They would begin hunger strike until death at Muktangon in the afternoon in a bid to force the government accept their demands. Bangladesh Shikkhak-

Karmachari Oikya Parishad, a platform of eight teachers' and employees' organisations, will hold a grand rally at Muktangon at 11:00am today protesting the government's delay in meeting their demands using dialogues as an excuse.

A procession will also be brought out following the rally that will march different streets of the capital, leaders of the Parishad said.

They also said they will hold a grand rally at the Central Shaheed Minar on August 9 in a bid to force the government accept their demands.

National Front of Teachers and Employees (NFTE), a platform of eleven teachers' and employees' organisations of non-government high schools, colleges and madrasas, will bring out protest processions at all districts today.

FROM PAGE 16 projects, the study says donor agencies tend to push the aid agenda of their headquarters or apply global templates in designing projects without adequate feedback about local cultural traditions and institutional characteristics.

Citing an example, the study reports that a recent evaluation or rehabilitation of some of the projects of the Bangladesh Water Development Board shows that the original purpose of the projects were vindicated by more than 80 per cent of the people in the respective localities, but only one out of the 35 projects could be successfully rehabilitated. "Among many problems, neglect of the details of local circumstances was found to be the main cause of failure," the ERG study observed. The report says an in-depth expost impact study of a project by DANIDA found that although the project have had some beneficial effects on the region's economy most of the goals including sustainability remained unfulfilled Among the weaknesses specially cited by the study were too much reliance on expatriate advisers and a top-down set-up bypassing the government systems. More than 60 ong-term expatriate advisers -- most of them Danish --worked 2-3 years each on the project. About frequent cancellations of aid to on-going projects and prema-

Outlaw killed in 'shootout' with Rab

OUR CORRESPONDENT, Kushtia

An outlaw of Banglar Communist Party (BCP) was killed during 'shootout' between Rapid Action Battalion (Rab) and his cohorts at Nagda of Alamdanga upazila in Chuadanga early yesterday. The dead was identified as Nazrul Islam Nazu, 30, of Pikepara in Alamdanga upazila. He was a close aide to notorious outlaw Nuruzzaman Laltu. According to a Rab press release, a Rab team arrested Nazu from Chuadanga Police Station area on Tuesday morning.

Following his confessional statement during quizzing, a Rab team along with Nazu went to Pikepara of Barabaria to arrest his accomplices and recover hidden firearms.

When the team reached Nagda around 4:30am, the BCP men started firing at the Rab team prompting the law enforcers to retaliate.

Rab claimed Nazu, when trying to escape custody during the shootout, was caught in the line of fire and died on the spot.

Rab retrieved a gun and 13 bullets from the spot. Nazu's accomplices however managed to escape. Chuadanga police said Nazu was accused in seven criminal cases including four murder cases filed with Alamdanga and Chuadanga police stations.

"I don't see any serious initiative at this moment for electoral reforms. It seems the agenda for reforms is gradually becoming a dead issue as both the ruling and opposition alliances started election campaigns," former adviser to a caretaker government M Hafizuddin Khan told The Daily Star vesterday.

If the caretaker government wants to bring reforms in the election laws, it will have to do that through promulgating an ordinance as the parliament will be dissolved at the time. "But it will be difficult for the caretaker government to bring reforms as it will have a very little time to tackle the massive task of holding an election," Hafizuddin observed.

Analysing the latest political development centring expansion of electoral alliances, many political analysts believe, it will dominate discussions in the next two months as HM Ershad announced his intention to join the four-party ruling alliance by September while the tenure of the government is set to expire in October.

Needing 17 runs from six balls, the right-hander smote the second ball, a full toss, high over mid-wicket for a six and then smacked the fourth delivery, another full toss, to the same region for a four, leaving the equation at five from two balls. He hit the fifth delivery straight to Rafique at midwicket and though Tawanda Mupariwa, who had done his part in a magnificent 81-run eighth wicket stand, wanted a single, which Taylor turned down resulting in him being run out Taylor's decision to keep the strike for the final delivery paid off in no better way as Mashrafee fatefully bowled another full toss and he gleefully dispatched it over the widish long-on fence sparking wild celebrations among a small crowd.

Taylor finished on an unbeaten 79 as Zimbabwe toppled Bangladesh's 236 all out with the final delivery of the match. The victory gave the host a 2-1 lead in the five-match series.

Earlier, the Bangladesh total was built around a couple of half centuries by Aftab Ahmed (53) and Rajin Saleh (54). Mohammad Ashraful scored 46 but the visitors' innings derailed once the three set batsmen got themselves out.
