Request for Expression of Interest (EOI) on Partnership Brokering Training to Promote Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR) in Bangladesh CARE Bangladesh

In the modern business concept, stakeholders are becoming more important than ever. Companies are now not only concerned about their stockholders but also becoming responsible to all of its stakeholders to ensure a competitive and sustainable business. Leading companies in the world are buying partnership-brokering services from prospective and qualified service providers/brokers to address their stakeholders needs so that business operations run smoothly. As the local businesses are growing rapidly and also getting access to the international market, the need of partnership strengthening for companies is also gaining ground. To address this issue of brokering partnership, CARE Bangladesh in collaboration with KATALYST has taken an initiative to train potential service providers in the area of partnership brokering.

Interested service providers (private firms/consulting firms/NGO) are requested to send their proposals describing their plan of entering in this new service market and how they can identify the potential areas of industries, where industries can buy partnership services from the service providers. Interested parties are also requested to send their individual or organizational strength and proven capacity to work with the private sector.

Service providers will be selected on a competitive basis based on their proposal, strength and experience in this area. A need assessment for building capacity of the selected service providers will be done and finally the selected service providers will be trained by international experts on different aspects of brokering partnership based on the need assessment and market demand.

If you feel you are the right person or organization that suit the criteria to be trained so that you could take partnership brokering as a business, please send your application to the following address by August 31, 2006.
