

Getting back to life

Why is life so precious? Why do we cling on to it so dearly? Is it because life is short? Or, because we get to live only once?

No.

Life is precious because there are precious things in it. We cling on to it because there are roots of relationship— roots that bind our own lives, to those of our loved ones. That is why we want to go on living— not for ourselves but for those we love.

And from today, you will find us beside you— constantly striving to help you to go on enjoying the beauty of life and the joy of living with those we love, in health and happiness.

SQUARE Hospital is the most advanced medical facility of the country. The finest physicians including renowned expatriated Bangladeshi doctors, the best-trained nurses and staff and cutting-edge technology— all have come together in this centre of excellence.
