SPORT

The Daily Star

record-holder, said the sport would

"A lot of batsmen in world cricket will be delighted to learn he's leaving the game, but I think the game will be poorer without him." the former seam bowling kingpin told flamboyant and just incredible to

"He has been a matchwinner

Damien Fleming, a former

"He is one of the greatest cricketers of all time and we will never

Wicketkeeper Adam Gilchrist

whose cries of "bowled Warnie" followed many of Warne's deliveries, said he would miss his team-the colour he's added, the character that he's brought to the game

"What he's done for the game,

More of Australia's victorious

while batsmen Damien Martyn quit suddenly just before the third

Australia's opposition leader

"I don't know how it's going to see his like again," he said.

be poorer for his departure.

Radio Sport

watch.

mate

Buchanan plans post-Warne era

AFP, Sydney

Australia coach John Buchanan admitted Thursday that Shane Warne's Test retirement would leave a huge void in his side, but insisted plans were in place to cope with a changing of the guard.

Veteran paceman Glenn McGrath is tipped to be the next Australian to call stumps on his career, and Buchanan said it was only a matter of time before Matthew Havden, Justin Langer and Adam Gilchrist retired.

Batsman Damien Martvn has already departed, shocking his teammates when he walked away from the game on the eve of the third Ashes Test.

The Australian team threw England's "Dad's Army" jibes back in their faces by crushing the tourists to take an unbeatable 3-0 series lead and reclaim the Ashes last week, but questions remain about what happens when the crop of ageing champions move on.

Buchanan said Australia had the infrastructure in place to handle the strain of a mass exodus, unlike the 1980s when Dennis Lillee, Greg Chappell and Rod Marsh's departure crippled the national side.

"One of the significant differences that has occurred is that there are things like the Centre of Excellence program, Australia A, and we have seen the emergence of young talent," he said.

"The transition from moving the older, great players out (for) newer, younger players should be a bit easier than in the past.

"(Retirements) will occur, whether that be within two, three, six or 12 months, but it heralds an exciting time in Australian cricket."

Buchanan, who will step down in April after the Cricket World Cup, hinted that Warne's departure may force Australia to rethink the positive, attacking game plans that have allowed it to dominate world cricket in recent decades.

"Certainly from a selection point of view and looking into the future that will now be a huge void that will take maybe generations to fill," he said.

"When you lose one of your great players it does mean you have to rethink and re-look at your team, its balance and the way you want to play your game."

New ball

FROM PAGE 21

from public use, it would be difficult to maintain quality," said the CCDM boss adding that he would consider not holding the second tier of the Premiership at Dhanmondi.

"We have superior grounds outside the capital and if needed, we will move out. If we wait for the National Sports Council, the facilities will never improve, so I will

Winners of the 'CityCell Cric Freak' contest pose with chief executive officer of CityCell Chye Hoon Pin and other officials in a prize giving ceremony at the Pacific Center in the city recently.

Crunch time for India

Even before the first-Test debacle, Mickey Arthur, South Africa's coach, had requested for pitches with plenty of pace and bounce.

adding that he didn't fancy a grassy surface. After his top order was ruthlessly exposed on a surface that offered bounce without being especially quick, it remains to be

Pigeon stays tight-lipped

Kingsmead.

Durban.

Cricket

CRICINFO, undated

Kingsmead has few happy memories for India, outside of the 2003 World Cup, but they arrived in Durban on Wednesday afternoon aware that five days of the discipline and grit shown at the Wanderers will take them close to perhaps their most celebrated Test series win in recent memory.

Less than a month ago, they left Durban with abuse from Indian supporters still resounding in their ears, having been bowled out for 91 in a 157-run one-day defeat, and the old-timers like Sachin Tendulkar, Sourav Ganguly and Rahul Dravid will still grimace when they recall the slide to 100 and 66 all out against Allan Donald and company a decade ago It doesn't help that India do poor encores. The scarcely believable victory at Adelaide -- Australia had made 400 for 5 on the opening day was followed by a nine-wicket defeat at the MCG, where they squandered the initiative given them by Virender Sehwag's audacious 195. A few months later, in Pakistan, they slipped up again. Rahul Dravid led India to their first win on Pakistani turf, a comprehensive triumph by an innings at Multan, but India, but several of the others also showed far greater applicaa week later at Lahore, the batting tion and awareness of the conditions than their South African order crashed and burned against Umar Gul, with only Yuvraj Singh counterparts. With the exception and Irfan Pathan saving face. of Ashwell Prince and Jacques

That too was a nine-wicket Kallis, the batting was simply wretched, and a reshuffle of sorts defeat, and Dravid admitted at the post-match press conference in is expected, with AB de Villiers Johannesburg that India needed moving up to partner Graeme Smith at the top of the order. to be wary of a similar blip in

Smith's travails epitomise those Luckily for India, South Africa of his team. He made some bold have plenty of problems of their pronouncements in Australia last own. Dale Steyn limped out at the summer, and was then taken apart Wanderers, and is doubtful for this by an Australian pace line-up that game. In his absence, there was a takes considerable joy in exposing sameness to the attack that would shallow talk have worried the team manage-The misery continued in the ment, despite a splendid perforreturn series, and with the excepmance from Shaun Pollock, who tion of the Centurion one-day game went past 400 Test victims in the earlier this month, he has barely put game. Makhaya Ntini was flat and bat to ball against the Indians. Both erratic, while Andre Nel veered Zaheer Khan and Sreesanth have zoomed in on his tendency to play between two extremes, bowling some excellent deliveries interacross his front pad, and Durban spersed with phases where he let will be a real test of his character, ego and aggression dictate matwith the team also under the pump.

From being prohibitive favourites to win the series -- Haroon Lorgat, convener of the selection panel, spoke confidently to an Indian newspaper about a 3-0 whitewash -- the South Africans will arrive in Durban on Friday staring at the spectre of only a second series defeat to non-Australian opposition since their readmission to the world game in 1991.

seen what instructions will be passed on to the curator at As for the Indians who left Durban last month as badly beaten Only Sourav Ganguly and VVS as one of Mike Tyson's early vic-Laxman made half-centuries for tims, they must resist the urge to pinch themselves and focus on the task in hand, starting with a two-day game against a KwaZulu Natal Invitation XI on Friday.

'Tendulkar, Lara best' AFP, Melbourne

Outgoing Australian spinner Shane Warne on Thursday said India's Sachin Tendulkar and the West Indies' Brian Lara were the toughest batsmen he played against. Reflecting on a stellar Test career, which will end when the current Ashes series finishes in January, Warne said Tendulkar and Lara were the batsmen he feared most

"Sachin Tendulkar and Brian Lara are the two best batsmen of my era," he said.

"I think those two guys have been the toughest at international level. Brian Lara because of his placement. I can't believe it, it's just amazing his placement in cricket. "He can dominate a game, as we've seen over the years, no matter who's bowling.' Warne, no stranger to the spotight, praised the way Tendulkar handled scrutinv in India there's ever been," Gatting said. "I really admire Sachin for what he has to go through every day in just by Australia but by cricket in India, with a billion people wanting general." him to do well," he said. "There's 50,000 people outside the stadium and when he walks up to bat they all charge in. One of the hardest things when you've been a successful player is everybody you down after a while." Warne rated Australia's loss to Sri Lanka in the 1996 Cricket World Cup as the lowlight of his career.

former Australian captain Allan over England in Adelaide was a highlight, along with a Test against Australia to a come-from-behind

Arambagh rope in Morshed

SPORTS REPORTER

Arambagh Krira Sangha recruited their second professional footballer in two days when they registered Abu Morshed yesterday.

The forward, who played for the same club last season, has signed a one-year contract for the B. League -- the inaugural Professional Football League, which is scheduled to kick off from February 15.

him for a six, and he said something. didn't really follow what he said because I started walking towards the square-leg umpire. I caught up with him after the game and told him: 'Now you can tell me what you wanted to say on the field'. We shared a joke, and since then we've afterwards dubbed the 'ball of the India are scheduled to tour century', confirmed Warne's emer-

World expresses shock

Cricket

the finest leg-spinner the world has ever seen," former Australian Test

captain, leg-spin bowler and cricket

Former England captain Mike

"He's the best leg spinner

"He'll be hard to replace -- not

"He's in superb touch, he's

Former Australian bowler Geoff would have gone on to take 1.000

wickets if he had chosen to remain

Mike Gatting, the man on the receiving end of the 'ball of the century', responded to Shane Warne's impending retirement from international cricket by saying the sport

may not see the like of the Australia

Warne, Test cricket's most successful bowler, said Thursday he would call time on his Australia career at the end of the current

Gatting played a key role in Warne's career when, in 1993, he was bowled by the Victorian's first delivery in Ashes cricket during the Old

The astonishing leg-break, soon

Former England batsman

Ashes series against England.

leg-spin great again.

Trafford Test.

AFP, London

praise on his former adversary.

commentator Richie Benaud said.

AFP, Sydney

departure.

this -- he's just bowling so terrifically," he said. "I thought he might still have

"I'm absolutely gobsmacked by in the game.

The cricket world heaped praise on another three, four years left in the retiring Australian great Shane game and in fact I've lost a lot of Warne on Thursday while many money because I backed him to expressed shock at his sudden take 1.000 Test wickets and it's not going to happen now." "Shane Warne is without doubt teammate of Warne's, said the "I thank him for the massive bowler's place in history was contribution he's made to assured. Australian cricket," Howard said.

Australian Prime Minister John Howard applauded Warne for his "massive contribution" to cricket.

"You would certainly have Warne right up there as one of the "He's the greatest slow bowler greatest Australians to ever step on this country has had and the greatthe field," he said, adding Warne est slow bowler the world has seen would leave a huge gap in the and he's done amazing things for the art of leg-break bowling."

Cricket Australia chief James Gatting, who fell prey to Warne's Sutherland paid Warne the huge 'ball of the century' in 1993, heaped compliment of evoking Donald Bradman, the batsman regarded as Australia's greatest ever player. "There are a generation of he's going to be tough to replace,' Australians who were privileged he said. enough to see Bradman. We are the generation that will always say Test team are also expected to pull we were privileged to see Warne. up stumps next year, with fast Sutherland said. bowler Glenn McGrath tipped to announce his retirement soon, Sutherland described Warne's 699 Test wickets as staggering, but said the bowler's career transcended statistics.

Ashes Test. "To personally change the course of so many games, to excite Kevin Rudd said the ebullient Warne's departure would change the public imagination about cricket the face of Australian cricket. the way he has, and to inspire a generation of Australian kids to take up the once neglected art of unfold in the future without Shane leg-spinning takes him beyond the Warne in the team," he told reportstats and puts him in a league of his own." he said.

Sports Minister Rod Kemp said Ex-England captain Nasser Warne was a legend of the sport. Hussain described Warne as "the "Shane is widely regarded as reason you played cricket" and the world's greatest-ever bowler,' New Zealand great Sir Richard Kemp said Hadlee, a former Test-wicket passes, I am still asked about it regularly and I expect I always will be," Gatting wrote in Thursday's edition of The Times newspaper.

Victim turns admirer Warne. No matter how much time Cricket

"I suppose I can say that 'I was there' at the moment he first indicated his potential to the wider world. There or thereabouts, anyway," he also told the British daily. "Anyway, as everyone knows that particular ball at Old Trafford spun a long way ... Having pitched way outside leg stump, it had somehow found just the right angle to go past quite a wide fellow with a bat in his hand and nudge the off bail.

"It was extraordinary." added the stout former Middlesex skipper.

Gatting, the last England captain to win an Ashes series in Australia. during the 1986-87 tour, and renowned as a fine player of slow bowling said only Pakistan's Abdul Qadir came close to Warne in his experience of lea-spin.

But while he reckoned Qadir had "Qadir was perhaps the nearest equivalent to Warne, a strong bowler who really put some spin and drift on the ball. He had plenty of variations but he used to bowl plenty of bad balls, so you only had to wait. "Warne, on the other hand did not have as many variations, but he was amazingly accurate and still gave the ball a big rip."

The 37-year-old Warne has the remaining two matches of the current Ashes series in which to extend his world record tally of 699 Test wickets.

However, Gatting said Warne's impact couldn't be measured in figures alone.

"Thanks to him. there are many more lea-spinners in the game People talk about how much he has done for Australia, but he has done an awful lot for the sport as a whole. Like Ian Botham, he has worked hard and he has played hard. We may not see his like again.'

Sachin salutes FROM PAGE 21

been good friends." Australia in a year's time, and Many were surprised at Warne's announcement he would retire at the end of the current Ashes series while still at the height of his powers, even though he is aged 37. "I just got the inkling that he was even considering one more tilt at England in England (in 2009) and game.

He said this month's Test victory

Border. bowling well physically," he said. Sri Lanka in 1992 in which he took "He's been a breath of fresh air for three auick wickets to help the game. win. He said it made him feel part of Lawson told Fox Sports Warne the Test team for the first time.

else's expectations. They can wear that would see him out, but it's just caught everyone by surprise," said request the board to renovate the dressing rooms at its own cost."

TODAY'S MATCHES

Sonargaon v Indira Road (Fatullah); Mohammedan v Brothers (BKSP-2), Abahani v Young Pegasus (DCS) at 9am; Old DOHS v Kalabagan (Fatullah), Victoria v Biman (DCS), City Club v Partex (BKSP-2) at 1pm.

Inter smash

FROM PAGE 24

absorbed the early pressure and started to show their class late in the first half.

After Hernan Crespo had clipped a shot wide, Inter went ahead with a goal made in Argentina.

Crespo surged into the box before cutting the ball back for Cambiasso whose left-footed shot squeezed pastAngelo Peruzzi.

Inter were reduced to 10 men just before the break when Ibrahimovic was cautioned for a second time for booting the ball away after being flagged offside.

The second booking was harsh on the Swedish international who connected with the ball just a fraction of a second after referee Gianluca Rocchi had blown his whistle.

Peruzzi had to get down low to repel Dejan Stankovic's driven freekick before Julio Cesar tipped Lazio captain Massimo Oddo's volley over the bar.

Materazzi ended Lazio's resistance in the 85th minute, rising at the back post to meet Luis Figo's crossed free-kick wide out on the left wing.

Huelva make

FROM PAGE 24

from the penalty spot 19 minutes into the second half after Luis Fabiano had tumbled over in the area

Luis Fabiano produced a bullet header from an Alves free-kick before Alves added the icing on the cake by curling the ball over the wall and into the net from a 20-metre free kick

Depor, who have gone nine games without a win, are 15th, four points off the relegation zone.

Osasuna collected their fifth league win in a row, a 2-1 victory over struggling Levante lifting them to eighth.

Cricket

REUTERS, Sydney

Australian fast bowler Glenn McGrath was keeping a low-profile on Thursday amid growing speculation he was about to follow Shane Warne into retirement.

Rumours have been rife in Australian media that McGrath is planning to follow Warne and guit after next month's final Ashes Test in Sydney.

Warne confirmed his retirement plans at a news conference in Melbourne on Thursday but there was no word from McGrath or his management team.

Cricket Australia officials would not comment on the speculation but the fact McGrath has not denied the claims has fuelled the media's had abandoned his dream of pursuing a third World Cup title in West Indies next year in order to take care of his sick wife. Jane McGrath was diagnosed > this year with her third bout of cancer and has been undergoing treatment since.

ment in the next week.

McGrath took eight months off from the game to care for the couple's two young children before making his comeback in September

He helped Australia win the Champions Trophy for the first time, then rejoined the Test side for the Ashes

McGrath's fitness played a pivotal role in the Ashes series in England last year. He was named

The Hollywood

FROM PAGE 21

The first negative headlines came when it emerged in 1998 that Warne and batsman Mark Waugh had been fined three years earlier for supplying information to an Indian bookmaker.

He was stripped of the vicecaptaincy in 2000 after it emerged he had bombarded an English nurse with lewd text messages after meeting her in a nightclub.

A series of infidelities culminated in his break-up last year from his wife of 10 years Simone, with whom he has three children and still shares a home despite their split. He produced a man-of-the-match performance when Australia won the World Cup in 1999, but missed the 2003 tournament after he tested positive for a banned diuretic, a drug scandal that almost cut short his career. He insisted his mother had given him the pill to help him lose weight before a television appearance but doping authorities said it could have been used to mask the use of steroid and he was banned for a year in February 2003.

Warne returned to Test cricket in March 2004 but never again played international one-dayers, instead preferring to concentrate on the longer form of the game.

He beat several careerthreatening injuries, coming back stronger than ever, and while his deliveries lost some of the turn produced in his early career he concentrated on deceiving batsman with flight and pace.

He also became a master of mind games, targeting batsmen ahead of a series and warning he was working on a new mystery ball with which to bowl out his "bunnies" in the opposition line up.

His performance in the 2005 Ashes is regarded by some pundits as the best in his career when he overcame his disintegrating marriage and a tabloid frenzy to take 40 wickets

While he was unable to singlehandedly prevent England winning the series, he later admitted his passion for cricket was the factor that held him together during the tough period.

However, with reports Warne has reconciled with his wife and a spot on the commentary team at Australia's Channel Nine likely beckoning, the "Sheikh of Tweak" decided to call stumps on his remarkable career and reinvent himself

"I'll sit back and have a few quiet beers and few smokes and try and weigh it all up and see what the future holds." he said.

belief he will make an announceman of the match after steering Australia to victory in the opening The Sydney Morning Herald Test but stepped on a ball on the reported on Thursday that McGrath morning of the second Test and missed the game.

Australia went on to lose the series 2-1 and the Ashes for the first time in 16 vears. The 36-year-old McGrath has been troubled by niggling injuries for most of the past few seasons but remains as dangerous as ever whenever he is fit.

He took six wickets in Australia's first Ashes Test win in Brisbane last month but struggled on a flat pitch in Adelaide and was noticeably slugaish in the field in Perth, where Australia regained the Ashes.

Ronaldinho

FROM PAGE 21

The 26-year-old former Paris Saint Germain player joined Barcelona in 2003, winning the Champions League with the club last year. His Mexican teammate Rafael

Marquez recently obtained Spanish citizenship

Apart from Ronaldinho, the only other non-EU player at Barcelona this season is Cameroon's Samuel Eto'o, who is currently injured.

Ronaldinho's obtaining Spanish citizenship would allow young Mexican-Brazilian player Giovanni dos Santos move up to Barcelona's first team.

Dhaka-BKSP

FROM PAGE 21

In reply to Dhaka's 226 for seven in 50 overs, Nilphamari managed only 119 in 48.5 overs with Hanif, Raisul and Sharifullah sharing seven wickets.

In the other semifinal, the home side thrashed Rajshahi by 96 runs. Batting first, BKSP posted a modest total of 168 in 47.4 overs with Nasir hitting 41 and Mahmudul Hasan 35. Delwar Hossain took four wickets.

Rajshahi failed miserably with the bat, being bowled out for 72 in 21.2 overs. Delwar starred with the bat as well, scoring a quickfire 33. Kibria took four wickets while Riaz and Mahmudul chipped in with two wickets each.

The final will be held at BKSP on Saturday.

Tendulkar was asked if the game would be poorer for the personal rivalry having come to an end. "I've always said that it's not about Shane Warne and Sachin." he said.

> "It's Australia and India. People like to build up these things. In time to come, there will be someone else."

As for what had made Warne so special, Tendulkar pointed to his legendary accuracy and a spirit that remained unbowed no matter how tough the situation. "You had to be awake to play Warne (smiles)," he said. "There was no breathing space at all. Warne being such a fierce competitor, you knew that at no stage could you bat him out of the game. He was always coming back at you. That kept me on my toes.

"I've already sent a message to him," he said. "I want to wish him all the very best. And above all, good health.

Chelsea, Spurs

FROM PAGE 24 of opening the scoring on 27 minutes when his superb 25-metre shot hit the underside of the bar and bounced off the line.

Andriy Shevchenko came close for Chelsea on the stroke of halftime when his angled drive clipped the far post while Lampard also struck the woodwork with a chip in stoppage

Tottenham were given a scare by second division bottom club Southend, who beat Manchester United 1-0 in the previous round.

The first 90 minutes at White Hart Lane ended goalless and it was another 25 minutes before England striker Jermain Defoe scored the winner from a Mido pass.

Mascherano

FROM PAGE 24 cessful here. But if I'm still not playing, things get complicated. "Our teammates have welcomed us well and, what with the language problem. I can't complain as to how they have treated us.

"I came to the Premier League really excited about it all, because wanted to be successful at West Ham

"This was my aim and it still is, but I haven't had enough opportunity to see if this will be possible."

gence as a world-class bowler. "It is more than 13 years since I the greater variety, Warne was the more accurate of the two. faced my first ball from Shane

8x3