

GRAPEVINE

King Khan looks back

Badshah of Bollywood, Shahrukh Khan, has been away from the silver screen for over a year now. He was last seen starring in Aanand L. Rai's Zero, which did not achieve the anticipated box office hit. Recently, one of his blockbuster films, Raees, celebrated three years of its release. King Khan shared a video to thank the entire team of Raees for the hard work and also made humorous response to his absence from doing movies. He was reciting the famous Raees dialogue in the clip, where he was interrupted by someone, "Abbe, tu jaldi se picture chalu kar na! Dhandha-dhandha kar raha hai, kuch kar nahi raha! (Just start a film soon! You are talking about business, but not making any films!)." Shahrukh posted the clip captioning, "Need to take Raees advice myself...soon! Tks to whole team of Raees for making this beautiful film." Fans are eagerly waiting for their favourite Khan to be back with a great film.

Match made for THE 5th TIME!

Former Baywatch bombshell Pamela Anderson recently got married for the fifth time to Batman producer Jon Peters, who is also on his fifth marriage. Reportedly, it was love at first sight for Peters as he has always crushed over Pamela, since he first met her at the Playboy Mansion in the 1980s. He even proposed to her shortly after that meeting. According to sources, the couple tied the knot in a private ceremony held in Malibu. Anderson wrote, "His life used to scare me. So much for a girl like me. Now I've seen more of life and realize ... He's been there all along." Previously, Pamela was married to rockers Tommy Lee and Kid Rock, and Peters' most recent marriage ended in 2004.

Monochromatic ATTENTION

American pop singer Ariana Grande recently posted a photo on her Twitter handle that stirred up quite a buzz. Grammy Awards being right around the corner, every artist who will be gracing the stage with their performances has been working really hard. Similarly, the 7 rings singer is very excited about it and has been practising a lot. Recently, she shared a monochrome photo with the K-pop sensation, BTS. She captioned the post with, "look who i bumped into at rehearsal :)." Fans flooded Twitter with their enthusiastic reaction to this, while the BTS army was quick to notice the absence of SUGA, a.k.a. Min Yoon-gi from the picture. This led to the army asking "WHERE IS YOONGI" on Twitter and it soon started trending as well.

