Mojar School, an organisation which sponsors education for underpriveledged children, partnered with The Daily Star for a fun artistic outing with the children and two talented young artists—Oishik Jawad and Junaid Iqbal Ishmam. The kids were encouraged to draw as they pleased and the results were quite astounding. Some drew their family, some drew their friends, and some drew the homes where they had previously lived in, before they migrated to Dhaka. Their youthful innocence was quite refreshing, and we leave the results for you to enjoy!
