

KIRAN CHANDRA ROY

"I am a freedom fighter. I sang numerous songs about Bangabandhu and also witnessed the 7th March speech. I am happy that the consciousness of our nation's independence is being embedded in the souls of our younger generation through this grand celebration of Bangabandhu's one hundred years."

TARIQ ANAM KHAN

"I am a freedom fighter. I have always considered myself to be a disciple of Sheikh Mujibur Rahman. I know the 7th March historic speech by heart, and I used to recite it to my friends during my time in camp. Bangabandhu is not only the Father of the Nation, but he is equal to a father figure for me."

KUMAR BISHWAJIT

"Another term for inspiration is Bangabandhu. His contribution to our country's freedom will be remembered by all the generations to come. We, as a nation, should be proud to have had a leader like him. It is my honour to call him the Father of our Nation."

CHAMPA

"Bangabandhu's booming voice incites belief, hope and love in our hearts. I have never seen another who can match up to his way of speaking. His one-hundredth birthday will mark a new opportunity for the younger generation to learn more about one of the greatest leaders of all time. I think that's very important."

SHIBLI MOHAMMAD

"I am the son of a martyr. My father died a martyr on the 26th of March. My father was inspired by Bangabandhu and he gave up his life for what he believed in. Even during periods of hardship, I look at our flag, and can't help but think of my family's contribution to it, no matter how small. Bangabandhu gave us guidance."

ARUNA BISWAS

"Bangabandhu, the selfless leader who saw no discrimination among people. He considered everyone to be equal. He also did a lot for arts and culture, and for me, he is not only a leader but a real life hero. I cannot define his glorious works in a few words. Bangabandhu is Bangladesh and we cannot forget him."

SAMINA CHOWDHURY

"When Bangabandhu was alive, I was really young and did not understand much of what was happening. Later, I read and learnt more about him. I believe that leadership starts at home. He thought about the people of this country and gave his all for them. That is why he is the Father of our Nation."

MASUM REZA

"I am a proud Bangladeshi. I was fortunate enough to hear Bangabandhu when called for the freedom of fellow Bangladeshis, while visiting Kushtia United high school. Through that speech, I began respecting him and realised the importance of the Six-Point Movement in the liberation of Bangladesh."

BHASKAR BANDYOPADHYAY

"Bangabandhu is the undisputed leader of our nation. He has worked for this country from the beginning till the end. He was selfless, and only thought of his country and its people. Sheikh Mujibur Rahman is truly Bangabandhu."

IMDADUL HAQ MILON

"Bangabandhu's murderers did not realise that killing him would not end the guidance and ideals he left behind. To me, Bangabandhu is like the sky, something indestructible. He is watching over us and always will. I have a lot of love and respect for him."

MISHA SAWDAGOR

"An ideal image of an artist is Bangabandhu. I am fortunate to be working for his biopic and this is a great achievement for me. I pray that with everyone's blessings, I can complete this project and through this, I can offer my respect to the Father of the Nation."

MUNMUN AHMED

"It is a great honour to be able to celebrate Bangabandhu's one-hundredth birthday. The fact that I can be a part of this celebration makes me incredibly happy, and I hope it is just as joyous for others. I hope we can fulfil all the dreams that he has etched in all of our hearts."

SHAMIM ARA NIPA

"Surrounding the celebration of Bangabandhu's one-hundredth birthday, I have one wish: to see Bangladesh reach the heights that he had dreamt of. To make those dreams come true, we, as a nation, must work together and inspire the younger generations to follow our footsteps."

ZAHD HASSAN

"Bangabandhu's role in building our nation is incomparable and unending. His one-hundredth birthday celebration marks many festivities for the entire nation. We have an amazing opportunity to have a good time and enjoy ourselves among these festivities."

BAPPA MAZUMDER

"Bangabandhu is Bangladesh. He is our existence and our ideals. There can never be any doubt about his greatness. He is a feeling in our blood and bones. Joy Bangla!"

MOHAMMED ALI HAIDER

"When I visited Bangabandhu's grave, I was overwhelmed with emotions – emotions one only feels for close friends. To me, he is an entity larger than life. He will live until the end of time in the hearts of Bangladeshis, and be celebrated with vigour for years to come."

SHARMILA BANDYOPADHYAY

"I started to learn about Bangabandhu during the mass uprising of 1969. It was he who taught us to love our nation, our country, and understand the importance of freedom at such an early age. It was because of him that our patriotism was awakened, even as students."

AFZAL HOSSAIN

"Bangabandhu had the ability to inspire everyone. He brought out the extraordinary in even the most ordinary people. We fought and achieved our own country, our flag and our map. We marked the existence of our individual nation. We can proudly say that we are Bangladeshis."

SADYA AFREEN MALLICK

"Bangabandhu is the leader of humanity. He is our light, and his teachings will always shine upon us. We shall forever continue walking with the principles he has left us behind."

CHANDANA MAJUMDAR

"I am incredibly proud and joyful that Bangabandhu's one-hundredth birthday will be celebrated countrywide among several festivities. I hope this will take us to another milestone where the marginalised and distressed population will be benefitted. We have to pay respect to such an incredible leader."

AZIZUL HAKIM

"Behind the creation of our free and sovereign nation is Bangabandhu's leadership and ideas. I believe that without him and his guidance, Bangladesh would never be created. So, in my opinion, Bangabandhu is Bangladesh and our flag is Sheikh Mujibur Rahman."

TAUQIR AHMED

"We are forever indebted to Bangabandhu for our existence as Bangladeshis. Our culture, language and development is because of his undeniable contribution. He is the Father of the Nation, the greatest hero, the biggest inspiration for me."

AZAD ABUL KALAM

"Bangabandhu is a symbol of freedom. His name is tied to the very independence of our country. Freedom of expression is very important for an artist. Similarly, one's individuality is related to this type of freedom. He is one of the main reasons we artists have our creative freedom."

IRIN PARVEEN LOPA

"Among the few individuals who were courageous enough to motivate and mobilise the nation for the great independence and took it as their duties, Bangabandhu Sheikh Mujibur Rahman was the most notable. He was the greatest leader, the most liberated, the best statesman."

RAISUL ISLAM ASAD

"Bangabandhu is independence. Unfortunately, before he could spread his intellect, sensibility and courage to all the corners of Bangladesh, he was taken away from us. To build the Bangladesh our greatest leader dreamt about, we all need to work more and bring forth huge economic development for the nation."

FARIDUR REZA SAGOR

"I am honoured to have been born in the same country as a great leader like Bangabandhu. I am also proud to live in a nation governed by his successors, who are leading Bangladesh towards Bangabandhu's dream. To me, Bangabandhu and Bangladesh are closely intertwined."

SHAMPA REZA

"We are a proud nation only because of the contributions of Bangabandhu. I was very young during the liberation war, but I still remember how great and inspiring he was. Learning about him would bring a radical change in the mindset of our country's people, which is extremely necessary."

ANISUL HOQUE

"Bangabandhu Sheikh Mujibur Rahman is the sigil of our freedom. For his one-hundredth birthday, my wish is for all of us to remember the fact that he had always wanted to see happiness in the faces of everyone, no matter how downtrodden, and do something to benefit the poor and ordinary citizens of our country."

FERDOUS ARA

"There is no Bangladeshi who doesn't love Bangla language or Bangladesh. Bangabandhu taught us how to love our country. I am a Nazrul Sangeet singer, and we got our national poet, Kazi Nazrul Islam, because of the independence achieved by our Bangabandhu. I shall remember Bangabandhu till my last breath."

FAHMIDA NABI

"The tales of the courageous leader and his nerve-wracking inspirational speeches still mesmerises every Bangladeshi soul. Whenever his image comes to mind, heart fills with pride. On his one-hundredth birthday, I want to give him my respect and love."

SHAHIDUZZAMAN SELIM

"I consider Bangabandhu a unique political leader and human being. He is the reason behind the freedom of our nation. Without his contributions, we wouldn't have been able to showcase our art. Bangladesh to me means Bangabandhu, and vice versa."

GAZI RAKAYET

"We cannot imagine a free Bangladesh without Bangabandhu. A leader like him will only come once. He is one of the greatest leaders the world has ever seen. I consider him a leader of the world. His poise, stance and words made him a great performer. Bangabandhu is a hero."
