Chief Justice Syed Mahmud Hossain has talked to all the infected judges and asked officials concerned to take necessary actions to ensure proper treatment of the judges.

The chief justice also asked the district judges concerned to take appropriate measures for the treatment of the infected staff.

Two separate committees have recently been formed to ensure the treatment of the infected judges across the country.

"We were overwhelmed," said Villazon, likening the incident to a "terrorist attack". No serious violence was reported by police.

The villagers had previously held protests demanding the mayor take down the masts over fears that they could spread Covid-19, according to the newspaper.

Interior Minister Arturo Murillo said on Twitter that people loyal to former president Evo Morales were destroying masts in Yapacani as well as San Julian and Ichilo, two other eastern towns.

Bolivia's communications ministry issued a statement reminding people that 5G technology is not available in the country and that it is not linked to the respiratory illness.

one of their staff members said all tickets were booked till the middle of next month. I will lose my job if I fail to fly to Italy within next two weeks," said expatriate Bangladeshi Shamim Hossain who came home in January.

Like Shamim, some others complained that they didn't get tickets of Qatar Airways to fly to different Middle Eastern countries. They said they were also at risk of losing their jobs if they failed to reach their destinations within the next couple of weeks.

Speaking to this correspondent, a Qatar Airways official said they were issuing ticket considering the priorities of passengers.

"Our priority is to give tickets to passengers whose visas will expire soon and who are at risk of losing jobs," added the official.

The CAAB yesterday resumed international flight operations on a limited scale.

A Qatar Airways commercial flight touched down at Hazrat Shahjalal International Airport at 2:10am yesterday. It carried 33 transit passengers from Doha and flew back to Doha with 274 transit travelers, said Air Vice Marshal M Mafidur Rahman, chairman of CAAB.

On June 11, the government decided to resume operations of Biman Bangladesh Airlines flights on the Dhaka-London-Dhaka route and had granted permission to Qatar Airways to operate three flights a week on Doha-Dhaka-Doha route on condition that those would carry only transit passengers from yesterday.

The CAAB chairman said they made all preparations to operate international flights in line with health guidelines, prepared following instructions of International Civil Aviation Organization.

The CAAB installed a disinfectant tunnel at the boarding gate to sanitise the arriving passengers before they would move toward the airport terminal.

Qatar Airways will operate flights on Doha-Dhaka-Doha route on every Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday.

However, Biman has decided to operate Dhaka-London-Dhaka flights from June 21.

"Initially, we will operate one flight to London from Dhaka on every Sunday," said Tahera Khandaker, deputy general manager (public relations) of Biman.

The CAAB chairman said they want to reestablish air links with different other destinations where the demand of tickets is high.

Flight operations on all international and domestic routes, except for China, remained suspended since late March to curb the spread of Covid-19.

According to the Gaibandha district primary education office, there are around 100 primary schools in char areas under Gaibandha Sadar, Saghata, Fulchari, and Sundarganj upazilas. There are around 15,000 students studying in these primary schools.

There are also over 5,000 schoolchildren from the chars who study in schools on the mainland, said Md Hosen Ali, Gaibandha district primary education officer.

"Electricity and TVs are rare in the char areas of Gaibandha. In very few houses, you can find a TV run by solar power or charger-battery," Hosen Ali told The Daily Star.

There are also eight high schools and three madrasas in the char areas of Gaibandha district, where the number of students is more than 5,000, said Md Enayet Hossain, district secondary education officer.

In Sariakandi upazila of Bogura, there are 47 primary schools, six high schools and four Ebtedayee madrasas in the Jamuna chars, according to the upazila primary and secondary education office. Students number more than 10,000 in total.

Additionally, around 2,000-3,000 students from the chars regularly attend upazila town educational institutions, said Md Shahidul Islam, secondary education officer of Sariakandi upazila.

He, however, claimed many students on the chars have TVs and access to the internet and if interested, can access the government's online education programme.

"Students who are living on the mainland are also showing less interest in online education," said Shahidul.

In chars under Bogura's Sonatala upazila, there are 10 government primary schools and a Dakhil madrasa where around 1,000 children study.

3 Indian troops killed

On Monday night, a small group of soldiers came to blows in the Galwan Valley, Indian officials said, but it was not clear what had provoked them.

"During the de-escalation process under way in the Galwan Valley, a violent face-off took place yesterday night with casualties on both sides," the Indian army said in a statement.

"The loss of lives on the Indian side includes an officer and two soldiers. Senior military officials of the two sides are currently meeting at the venue to defuse the situation.

The officer who died was a colonel, a government source said. The two sides had been discussing ways to de-escalate but at some point the People's Liberation Army turned on a group of Indian soldiers, the source

"They attacked with iron rods, the commanding officer was grievously injured and fell, and when that happened, more soldiers swarmed to the area and attacked with stones," said the source, who had been briefed on the matter.

The Chinese side brought in reinforcements and the brawl went on for a couple of hours, the source said. No shots were fired at any stage.

Indian Defence Minister Rajnath Singh has reviewed the current operational situation in eastern Ladakh along with Chief of Defence Staff Gen Bipin Rawat and the three service chiefs. External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar was also present in the meeting, reported our New Delhi correspondent. 'ATTACKING

PERSONNEL'

Beijing yesterday confirmed a clash took place, but made no mention of casualties. It accused Indian soldiers of crossing into Chinese territory and "attacking Chinese personnel".

Foreign Ministry spokesman Zhao Lijian said Indian troops "crossed the border line twice... provoking and attacking Chinese personnel, resulting in serious physical confrontation between border forces physical on the two sides".

"We again solemnly request that India follows the relevant attitude and restrains its frontline troops," he

The editor-in-chief of China's Global Times newspaper said the Chinese military had suffered losses, though it was unclear whether those were deaths or wounded.

On May 9, several Indian and Chinese soldiers were injured in a clash involving fists and stonethrowing at Naku La in India's Sikkim state, which borders Bhutan, Nepal and China.

But the Chinese foreign ministry countries sidestepped the offer.

said only last week that a "positive consensus" had been reached following "effective communication" through diplomatic and military channels.

In a later statement, India's foreign ministry said the two sides would "continue the military and diplomatic engagements to resolve the situation and to ensure peace and tranquillity in the border areas."

However, Indian sources and news reports suggested that Chinese troops remained in parts of the Galwan Valley and of the northern shore of the Pangong Tso lake that it occupied in recent weeks.

"This is extremely, extremely serious, this is going to vitiate whatever dialogue was going on," former Indian army commander DS Hooda said.

Military experts say that one reason for the face-off is that India has been building roads and airfields to improve connectivity and narrow the gap with China's far superior infrastructure.

At Galwan, India completed a road leading to an airfield last October. The Chinese side have asked India to stop all construction. India says it is operating on its side of the Line of Actual Control, the de facto border. PRICKLY RELATIONS

India and China have never even agreed on how long their "Line of Actual Control" frontier is, and each side uses different frontier proposals made by Britain to China in the 19th century to back their claims.

India gives a figure of 3,500 kilometres (2,175 miles). China does not give a number, but state media says the border should be just 2,000 km (1,250 miles) based on China's claims on Jammu, Kashmir, Ladakh and other regions.

Relations between China and India have long been prickly.

They fought a brief war in 1962 in which China took territory from India. Further deadly clashes followed in 1967, but the last shot fired was in 1975. In 2017 there was a 72-day showdown after Chinese forces moved into the disputed Doklam plateau on the China-India-Bhutan order. After that India's Prime Minister

Narendra Modi and Chinese leader Xi Jinping sought to ease tensions at summits Alice Wells, the top US State Department official for South Asia, said last month that China was seeking to upset the regional balance and had to be "resisted".

US President Donald Trump also offered to mediate, but both

SEPARATE MINISTRY FOR IUTE

The government is actively considering the formation of a separate ministry for jute. It has long been a demand of the people of Bangladesh. Currently, jute is the main cash crop of the country. Bangladesh has exported 87,000 tonnes of raw jute in the first five months of this year and earned Tk 69 crore.
