Infections in the South Asian nation of 1.3 billion people have reached 1.43 million, including 32,771 deaths, India's health ministry said, with daily cases close to a record 50,000 yesterday. India is only trailing the US and Brazil now in the number of confirmed infections. India has been ramping up testing, with 515,472 samples taken on Sunday, according to government sources. Still, India and Brazil have some of the world's lowest testing rates, with 11.8 tests and 11.93 tests per 1,000 people respectively, compared to the US with 152.98 tests per 1,000 and Russia with 184.34.

Nearly 3,500 Afghans killed or hurt in first half of 2020

More than 1,280 Afghan civilians have been killed in the first six months of the year as fighting rages in Afghanistan despite a pact between the United States and Taliban militants, the United Nations said yesterday. The violence, mainly between Afghan government forces and the Taliban, killed 1,282 and injured 2,176 for a tally of 3,458 civilian casualties, it said in a report. The Taliban were responsible for 43% of all civilian casualties and government forces caused 23%, chiefly from air strikes and indirect fire during operations, it added.

Young adults majority of new virus cases in Canada

Canadians under the age of 39 make up a clear majority of new cases of COVID-19 in Canada, health authorities said Sunday, warning young adults they are not "invincible" against the disease. For the week ending July 22, the incidence rate was highest among young men and women aged 20-29, followed by those aged 30-39. Canadian health authorities pointed out that, of the cases of COVID-19 reported to public health last week, 63 percent involved people under 39 years of age, of whom roughly one-third were hospitalized. According to the latest available figures, Canada has so far recorded some 113,800 cases of the new coronavirus and 8,900 deaths.

First batch of Rafale jets for India leaves France The first batch of five Rafale jets flew out of France yesterday and will arrive in India today when the fighter jets will officially be inducted and join the Indian Air Force fleet in Haryana's Ambala. The fighter jets, built by French aviation firm Dassault, took off from the Merignac airbase in southern France's Bordeaux. The five aircraft will be the first tranche of the 36 planes bought by India from France in a Rs 59,000-crore inter-governmental deal in 2016. Twelve IAF pilots and engineering crew members are fully trained on the Rafale fighter jets. The Rafale fighter jets are capable of carrying a range of highly effective weapons, including the Meteor air-to-air missile and Scalp cruise missile.

RETALIATION FOR HOUSTON CONSULATE CLOSURE BY US

China seizes Chengdu consulate

AFP, Chengdu

The American flag was lowered at the US consulate in Chengdu yesterday and Chinese authorities took charge of the building, as Beijing carried out a Cold War-style retaliatory closure of Relations have deteriorated in recent weeks in an intensifying standoff between Washington and Beijing, with the Chengdu mission ordered to shut in retaliation for the forced closure of the Chinese consulate in Houston, Texas.

Beijing confirmed that the consulate had closed at 10:00am. "Afterwards, Chinese authorities entered through the front entrance and took it over," the foreign ministry said in a statement.

Both consulates closed 72 hours after the respective orders were made.

A State Department spokesman told AFP the mission's diplomats and their dependents would leave China by August 27.

Video footage published later

yesterday by the US embassy on Chinese social media platform Weibo showed US Marines in dress uniform lowering and folding the Stars and Stripes from the front of the consulate, before handing it to consul general Iim Mullinax

Both US and China have alleged that the respective consulates were engaged in activities against national security.

"Today, we bid farewell to the US consulate in Chengdu. We will miss vou forever," the US embassy in Beijing posted on Weibo.

In a separate statement the consul general posted that his mission had provided services to more than 200 million people in southwest China and Tibet, and had given "thousands" of visas every day to Chinese students and tourists.

The Chengdu consulate covered southwest China, including Tibet. Many Tibetans accuse the central government of religious repression and eroding their culture.

Tensions have soared between the world's two biggest economic powers on a range of fronts including trade, China's handling of the novel coronavirus and a tough new security law imposed on Hong Kong, with US officials warning of a "new tyranny" rom China

Nationalistic tabloid the Global Times warned in an editorial Monday that if Washington was "determined to push China-US ties in the worst direction... the 21st century will be darker and even more explosive than the Cold War era".

It said the rising tensions could lead to "unprecedented catastrophe".

26 Rohingyas found alive on Malaysian islet

REUTERS, Kuala Lumpur

Twenty-six Rohingya refugees, who had been feared drowned while trying to swim ashore on the Malaysian resort island of Langkawi, were found alive hiding in the bushes on a nearby islet, a senior coastguard official said yesterday.

Malaysia does not recognise refugee status, but the Muslim-majority country is a favoured destination for Rohingvas seeking a better life after escaping a 2017 military crackdown in Myanmar and, more recently, refugee camps in Bangladesh.

Late on Saturday, one Rohingya swam ashore from a small boat off Langkawi's west coast. Officials had feared that the rest of the group had drowned while trying to reach the beach, but they were later discovered on an islet just off the coast.

Authorities have detained the refugees Two more Rohingya migrants have also been arrested for suspected trafficking in connection with the people found. The refugees were believed to have transferred to a small boat to sneak into Malaysia, having travelled on a "motherboat" carrying hundreds of Rohingya from Bangladesh, the official said.

Eat less to reduce Covid-19 death risk

UK unveils plans to tackle 'obesity time bomb'

British people should eat less to lose weight as being obese increases the risk of dying from the novel coronavirus, junior health minister Helen Whately said as UK yesterday unveiled a plan to tackle obesity problem in the country.

announced by the British government. Other measures outlined include bans on "buy one get one free" deals on unhealthy items, junk food television adverts being aired before 9pm and a "consultation" on placing calorie labels on alcohol. Another potential measure announced on Monday was a proposal to ban the placing of sweets and chocolate bars at supermarket checkouts.

Restaurants will have to display calories on menus under plans

It is not the first time a British government has attempted to do something about the country's bulging waistlines, but this latest attempt has been prompted by the pandemic.

Analyses show that nearly eight percent of critically-ill patients in intensive care units with the virus were categorised as morbidly obese, compared with less than three percent of the general population. A Public Health England study published on Saturday found that

Two-thirds of UK adults are above a healthy weight, with 36 percent overweight and 28 percent obese, according to government data. "Losing weight is hard but with some small changes we can all feel fitter and healthier," Prime Minister Boris Johnson said. Johnson required

I was duped by Mahathir

Says Anwar Ibrahim

THE STAR/ANN

Malaysia's Parti Keadilan Rakyat (PKR) president Anwar Ibrahim has now realised that he was duped by Dr Mahathir Mohamad when the latter promised to pass on the country's top job to him, Sin Chew Daily reported.

In an exclusive interview with the newspaper, the Pakatan Harapan leader said he had believed that Dr Mahathir would fulfil his promise of handing over the baton to him after two years in office.

However, Dr Mahathir kept changing the date before finally saying he would vacate the post after the Asia Pacific Economic Cooperation (Apec) meeting this November.

On Feb 24, he resigned as prime minister without informing Pakatan party leaders, leading to the collapse of the Pakatan-led government and voiding the succession promise. If Mahathir did not resign, Pakatan would still be the government now, he said, adding that all internal issues could have been dealt with. Anwar denied that Mahathir's resignation was due to pressure from PKR.

"Why was there pressure? Because he (Dr Mahathir) did not seem to be leaving. One year, two years, three years, election...," said Mr Anwar, who added that while he could still communicate with Dr Mahathir, he would never endorse him as prime minister again.

"Dr Mahathir is unable to garner support (to rule) from the majority of MPs, said Anwar.
