

SC stays Sangram editor’s bail

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

The Supreme Court yesterday stayed for eight weeks a High Court order that granted bail to Abul Asad, editor of Bangla daily Sangram, in a case filed under Digital Security Act on charges of “circulating provocative report and sedition”.

Chamber judge of the SC’s Appellate Division Justice Md Nuruzzaman passed the order following a petition moved by additional attorney general and acting attorney general Murad Reza, seeking stay on the HC bail order.

Asad cannot get released from jail following the SC stay order, Murad Reza told The Daily Star.

On September 23, the HC granted ad-interim bail to Asad, editor of Bangla daily Sangram, for one year. The HC bench of Justice Md Emdadul Huq and Justice Md Akram Hossain Chowdhury granted the bail.

Asad’s lawyer Mohammad Shishir Manir told The Daily Star that his client is now in Kashimpur jail. A Dhaka court sent him to jail on December 14.

Afzal Hossain, a freedom fighter, filed the case with Hatirjheel Police Station. Police detained Asad on December 13 last year after mob vandalised the daily’s office, over publishing a report that termed Quader Mollah, a “martyr”.

Mollah, former assistant secretary general of Jamaat and known infamously as “The butcher of Mirpur” during the Liberation War, was hanged in 2013 after being convicted in a case by the SC for committing crimes against humanity during the war on September 17 that year.

Cigarette-seller killed for refusing to sell on credit

STAFF CORRESPONDENT, Rajshahi

A cigarette-seller was killed by some miscreants in Rajshahi city’s Bheripara area yesterday for his refusal to sell them cigarette on credit, said police.

The deceased, Md Adar (25), succumbed to his injuries at Rajshahi Medical College Hospital after he was stabbed on his left thigh at 12:30am, said Shahadat Hossain Khan, officer-in-charge of Rajpara police station.

Adar was buried in the afternoon after an autopsy. He died of excessive bleeding from his stab injury, the OC said quoting medical reports.

After stabbing him, the perpetrators dragged him some 30 yards and dumped him in the middle of the road to make it look like an accident, the OC said quoting witnesses.

Adar’s brother Abdul Hannan filed a case with Rajpara Police Station accusing six named and several unnamed persons regarding the murder.

The OC said police arrested Bappi and Darpan, two of the accused. They were trying to arrest the prime accused, Tuhin, and his father Pitu, he added.

According to Hannan, the case’s complainant, Tuhin went to Adar’s shop on Monday evening and wanted to get a cigarette on credit.

As Adar denied, Tuhin threatened him of dire consequences and left. When Adar was returning home at night closing his shop, Tuhin and his accomplices attacked him, Hannan told reporters.

He said Tuhin and his friends stabbed Adar. Tuhin’s father then dumped Adar in the middle of a road.

“We are conducting drives to arrest the accused,” the OC said.

Speakers said government, non-government and corporate organisations must work together to formulate a national education strategy, with the combination of conventional and digital methods.

Keynote presenter Shahin Islam, project director of EGE, revealed the findings of his study.

Rasheda K Choudhury, executive director of CAMPE, said, “Do we have data showing how many children have the opportunity to access online classes? There must be proper data from the field. Besides, it’s important to know how many parents can afford mobile internet. For this, Robi can collaborate with the government to provide free internet,” she said.

Shahed Alam, chief corporate and regulatory officer at Robi Axiata, also focused on a national strategy with platform, devices and content in mind.

Tapan Kumar Ghosh, director general (additional secretary) at Bureau of Non-formal Education, said, “Our students have been deprived of school activities for nearly a year, and it was estimated that many of them will drop out eventually...For those who will, we can include them in the out-of-school children programme,” he said.

Delwar Hossain, deputy director of Directorate of Primary Education, said “Although online education is a new approach in our education system, and we have limitations and flaws -- we consider it a successful programme. It will take time to improve the culture, and we need closed studies and recommendations so that some strategies can be implemented.”

Dr Narayan P Kafle, education director at Save the Children, and Mohammad Mohsin, manager of early learning at Unicef also spoke at the event, moderated by Dr Manzoor Ahmed, professor emeritus of Brac University and vice-chairperson of CAMPE. The programme was broadcast live at the Facebook page of Save the Children in Bangladesh.

He also suggested rights organisations to raise awareness so people take “full responsibility” for the dogs instead of just feeding them, says the release.

The meeting came in light of DSCC’s decision to relocate stray dogs from different parts of the city to the Matuail landfill “based on complaints by people,” a move animal lovers denounced as illegal and inhumane.

A writ petition was also filed with the High Court challenging the legality of the move. The HC on September 27 adjourned the hearing on the petition till October 6.

Celebrated actor Jaya Ahsan, one of the petitioners, was present at yesterday’s meeting. “We had an amicable meeting with the mayor,” she told this newspaper. “And we are hopeful that he sat with us and is willing to work together.”

“All of us want a long-term solution, and we talked about that. However, he did not make any verbal commitment to remove or relocate dogs. We do not want even a single dog to be relocated,” the national film award-winning actor told The Daily Star.

Rakibul Haq Emil, founder of People for Animal Welfare Foundation, said, “We made a presentation on the problems regarding stray dogs, and how culling and relocation has been unsuccessful. We also showed which stakeholders can work to address which issue, and tried to show that it’s not an overnight process.”

“The mayor heard us out, but his viewpoint is that he imagines Dhaka not as a South Asian city but as Singapore or European cities. He also said it is not feasible for them to relocate thousands of dogs. He asked us to submit a work plan as soon as possible,” said Emil.

“We are optimistic with the meeting. He made some valid points, and we want to work together,” he added.

development, and train workers.”

According to the review, most jobs have been created in a small number of countries, but employment benefits are showing up more widely, especially through deployment of solar photovoltaic technologies.

Although precise estimates remain scarce, off-grid decentralised renewables are creating a growing number of jobs, while also propelling employment in productive uses ranging from agro-processing and health care to communications and commerce in local communities, the report added.

of MC College have been made respondents to the rule, Deputy Attorney General Nawroz MR Chowdhury told The Daily Star.

The HC bench of Justice Md Mozibur Rahman Miah and Justice Mohiuddin Shamim came up with the order and rule following two reports published in The Daily Star on September 27 on the incident.

The bench fixed October 18 for passing further order on this issue. Supreme Court lawyer Md Mesbah Uddin placed The Daily Star reports under the headlines “Rape in MC College: 6 accused BCL men moved with impunity” and “Unpublished crimes led to horror like this” before the HC bench for necessary orders.

Contacted, Sheikh Muhammad Shamim, assistant commissioner of Dhaka Metropolitan Police (Ramna zone), said, “Police officials asked the two activists if they had taken permission from the authorities since it was wall of a school. They were taken to police station after they locked into an altercation with the police official. The police officials released the duo later after taking an undertaking.”

He also denied the allegation of torturing the duo inside custody or beating them up at the spot.

Impunity

Dhaka University Professor Robaet Ferdous alleged that violence against indigenous women is part of a process to eliminate indigenous people. Such incidents continue to increase due to a culture of impunity.

DU professor Khairul Chowdhury; Jakir Hossain, executive director, Nagorik Uddyog; Tarik Hossain, representative of Jonouddyog; Ujjal Azim, representative of Kapaeng Foundation; Saleh Ahmed, general secretary, Sammilito Samajik Andolon, and representatives of various rights and indigenous-based organisations expressed solidarity at the programme.

ONE HELD FOR RAPE OF TEEN IN CTG
Meanwhile in port city’s Patenga, police arrested the main accused in a teenage girl rape case early yesterday.

The arrestee is Chan Mia (30), alias Chandu of Supariwalapara area.

Police arrested three other accused on Monday, said OC Sadip Kumar Das of Double Mooring Police Station.

The victim, an eighth grader, came to visit a relative’s house with her aunt from Feni. When she went to visit a relative’s house in Superiwalapara on September 27 evening, the accused raped her, said the OC, referring to the case statement.

The girl somehow managed to flee and inform family members, who filed the case.

He urged the government to include information-providing services as emergency service during times of crises like the pandemic.

At the onset of the discussion, MJF Knowledge Management Director Rezwan-ul-Alam presented findings from research works on RTI during 2019-2020. A total of 15 research works -- such as studies, surveys, assessments, journal articles, and conference papers -- were produced during the time.

The findings revealed that research interests on the RTI Act and its implementations are limited only to a few NGOs and individual. Mostly funded by development partners, these studies, mostly in English, covered a wide-range of research topics, generally covering both supply and demand sides.

The presentation recommended the strengthening of both research and strategic communication capacities of the information commission; compilation of learning, best practices and case studies of the past decade; and collaboration with universities to undertake joint-research works.
