Misery mounts for Italy returnees

They have to pay hefty sum for tickets of Biman's special flight to Rome

JAMIL MAHMUD

Expatriate workers flying to Italy on a special Biman flight will have to pay about Tk 77,000 for a ticket, over twice the amount they used to pay before the pandemic.

The workers have already been struggling after months of being unemployed and stuck at home.

The special flight of Biman Bangladesh Airlines will carry a maximum of 260 passengers due to coronavirus restrictions imposed by the Civil Aviation Authority of Bangladesh.

The national flag carrier will operate the flight on Wednesday directly from Dhaka to Rome, Biman officials said.

Some of those who came home on vacation before the pandemic on Turkish Airlines flights said they paid between Tk 50,000 and Tk 75,000 for the round trip.

Although the additional money will be a burden for them, they have no choice because further delay might cost them their jobs in the European country, the expatriates said.

Mosharraf Hossain, an expatriate who works in Palermo, said he bought round trip tickets from Turkish Airlines at Tk 75,000 when he came home on February 3.

Talking to The Daily Star at Biman's Motijheel office yesterday, he said his original return date was March 14. But Turkish Airlines now wants to re-issue the return ticket for November 13.

Nepali firm likely to buy 2m shots of BANCOVID

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

Nepalese drugmaker Anmol Healthcare Ltd might buy two million shots of BANCOVID, the vaccine candidate being developed by Bangladesh's Globe Biotech Ltd, officials said.

The Nepalese company has sent a "letter of intent" to Globe on Wednesday, said a spokesperson of the company.

Nepalese Ambassador to Bangladesh Dr Banshidhar Mishra visited a laboratory of the company in the capital yesterday.

The Nepal government is also interested in procuring the potential vaccine once the clinical trials are complete, the ambassador said at the facility.

POTATO PRICE HIKE

Wholesalers allege pressure from hoarders

MAHBUBUR RAHMAN KHAN

Wholesalers have expressed concerns that the prices of potato may not calm down anytime soon as they are under pressure from a section of hoarders, who recently bought potato stocks at cold storages, to sell the vegetable at a price of more than the government-fixed rate of Tk 30.

They also alleged that the hoarders were threatening them of stopping the supply if they did not follow their directives.

The price of potato started rising from the middle of last month. Last week, consumers had to buy potato for up to Tk 50 a kg.

According to wholesalers, ownership of potato stocks changes for up to four times a year after they are stored in cold storages. This year, the ownership changed more frequently as a section of businessmen

BANGLADESH WILL ATTEND AS OBSERVER

Bangladesh will attend the Colombo Plan Consultative Committee meeting in New Delhi on October 30 as an observer. This decision to seat the newborn nation as an observer is taken by the Colombo Plan Secretariat after an overwhelming number of the 24 member nations extended their consent to the proposal. Bangladesh is already a member of the Commonwealth, a permanent invitee as an observer at the United Nations and an observer to such world bodies as the Food and Agriculture Organisation (FAO), International Labour Organisation (ILO), United Nations Development Programme (UNDP), United Nations Conference on Trade and Development (UNCTAD), World Bank and International Monetary Fund (IMF).

Son 'kills mother over property'

OUR CORRESPONDENT, Noakhali

A 55-year-old woman was killed allegedly by her son and six others in Noakhali's Subornachar upazila.

Police said Humayun Kabir Huma, 28, the victim's son, and six others strangled Noor Jahan to death and then cut her body into pieces and threw them onto a paddy field of one Amir Hossain, who had lent money to Huma's step-brother Belal, to frame him in the murder.

Noor Jahan was married to another person who fathered Belal, locals said.

Belal took Tk 4 lakh as loans from local NGOs and Amir Hossain for rearing cattle and farming fish, and Noor Jahan was the guarantor of the money, police added.

As Belal died around one and a half years ago, the lenders put pressure on Noor Jahan and Huma to repay the money.

BREXIT TRADE DEAL

Time running out

UK, EU get back down to business week-long hiatus

REUTERS, London/Brussels

With time fast running out, Britain and the European Union start yesterday intensified negotiations in a new, final push to try to secure a deal to protect billions of dollars of post-Brexit trade between the neighbours.

After Prime Minister Boris Johnson walked away from the negotiations late last week, the two sides reached agreement on Wednesday to resume talks just 10 weeks before a status quo transition arrangement expires and Britain goes it alone.

With trust damaged and tempers frayed, the two sides will sit down every day including the weekend until Oct. 25, and then set the intensified agenda for the coming weeks in both Brussels and London.

The EU is ready to negotiate by mid-November, but then needs time to be able to ratify any deal before the year-end deadline.

"Time is now very short and we've been repeatedly clear that any agreement needs to be in place before the end of the transition period and if an agreement can't be reached, we will leave on Australian-style terms," a spokesman for Johnson told reporters, using the government's term for no deal.

"Both sides have agreed to a genuine intensification of the negotiations with talks taking place daily, including at weekends, and both sides do recognise that

Senate body okays SC pick by Trump

REUTERS, Washington

The Republican-led US Senate Judiciary Committee yesterday approved

President Donald Trump's nomination of Amy Coney Barrett to a lifetime US Supreme Court seat despite a Democratic boycott of the meeting, clearing the way for a full Senate debate and vote on confirmation.

By a vote of 12-0, the panel approved Barrett with all Republican members voting yes and the 10 committee Democrats boycotting the meeting. Judiciary Committee Chairman Lindsey Graham said the Democratic boycott was "their choice, adding, "We're not going to allow them to take over the committee."

"This is a groundbreaking moment" for conservatives, Graham said before the vote began. Barrett, a federal
