American Airlines says first Boeing 737 MAX flights in December

REUTERS
American Airlines Group said on Wednesday it would make good on its plan to return Boeing Co's 737 MAX jets to passenger flights by the end of 2020 after the planemaker won US Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) approval to fly them again.
The No.1 US airline said it will begin with non-commercial flights in early December before resuming passenger flights later in the month.
The airline said it will operate two flights a day, or one round-trip between Miami and New York from Dec. 29 to Jan. 4.
The FAA detailed software upgrades and training changes Boeing must make in order for it to resume commercial flights after a 20-month grounding, the longest in commercial aviation history.

Overpriced bidding puts small investors at risk of loss

They are availing illegal benefits through underhand dealings with unscrupulous issuer companies seeking inflated prices in the bids, he said, adding, "Their bidding practice proves it."
The Bangladesh Securities and Exchange Commission (BSEC), which is the stock market regulator, should conduct investigations and punish errant market players, he said.
Otherwise, general stock investors will continue to incur losses and have their confidence in the market eroded, said the merchant banker.
The BSEC brought about the book building method in 2015 to keep in tune with international practices, but this has fallen victim to manipulation, he said.
Before its introduction, the BSEC used to itself determine the value, but that gave rise to a lot of criticisms, he said.
One recent instance of the blatant malpractice took place in the IPO price determination of Index Agro.
The stock had a face value of Tk 10 and many renowned asset managers with good performance records bid with offers ranging from Tk 15 to Tk 20. However, 38 institutional investors bid more than Tk 70. Of them, 21 were of mutual funds. Some went as far as Tk 100.
The BSEC recently formed a two-member investigation committee to identify anomalies in the IPO bidding of Index Agro.
The regulator has long been irritated by such manipulation, for which it had issued a notification last year stipulating that bidders would have to purchase the stocks at the respective price they had placed in the bid.
General investors in Bangladesh are allowed to buy stocks at prices 10 per cent lower than the cut-off price.
Though the notification brought some institutional investors to their senses, there were others who never flinched, presumably because they were not bidding with their own money.
The Daily Star talked to several asset managers, but none wished to speak on the record. However, most said the price finding mechanism was being affected for the malpractices of a few.
So, instead of blaming all the asset managers, the regulator should identify and punish the rogue ones, they said.
Earlier, the stock market regulator had also asked to see the analysis based on which institutional investors bid high prices in book building processes for Walton Hi-tech Industries and Mir Akhter Hossain Company.
Institutional investors cannot come up with a bidding price out of the blue. The procedure involves forming a committee within their institution to analyse the past performance of the issuer company alongside its prospects.
The investors need to conduct the analysis and have a valuation committee who will work on settling on a price, according to a BSEC notification.
"We have already sought an explanation from some institutional investors for their high-priced bids," said Mohammad Rezaul Karim, BSEC spokesperson and executive director (current charge).
"If we find that they have not followed the proper procedure, then we will take action," he said.
"Already, many investors have become alert, and others will also come about when they see that we are strict on this matter. Our market intelligence department is also working on it," he added.

Covid Fighter: How the humble home textile is beating the odds

He said his company has been receiving a lot of work orders from emerging markets like Australia, while a significant number of work orders are for items required in retirement homes.
Industry insiders say Bangladesh has become a major source for home textile because of massive investments made by local entrepreneurs.
As a result, local manufacturers can also supply a vast quantity of requirements of buyers.
More than Tk 25,000 crore has been invested in the homes textile sector over the last couple of decades in Bangladesh, said Munsoor Ahmed, secretary of the Bangladesh Textile Mills Association (BTMA).
The major exporters from Bangladesh are a bunch of more than 40 big mills, he said.
The BTMA secretary also said local exporters would end up shipping more than $1 billion worth of home textile from the country in a year.
The dyeing and other businesses associated with the home textiles sector are employing thousands of workers across the country, said Ahmed.

It is not just the massive investments that are drawing buyers.
Bangladesh had a comparatively shorter lockdown period for the pandemic compared to that imposed in countries such as India and Pakistan. Moreover, most of the factories were in operation during the lockdown, giving much-needed relief to buyers searching for sources open for business.
Another factor has been a shift of a portion of work orders from China because of its trade war with the US. Many of these came from the buyers in the US, looking for alternatives to China. China has been losing work orders for garments and home textiles because of a higher cost of production and shortage of skilled workforce in context to that in Bangladesh.
Shahadat Hossain Sohel, president of the Bangladesh Terry Towel & Linen Manufacturers and Exporters

Association, also cited that the export of healthcare textile items had boomed over the last few months because of the higher use in hospitals for the pandemic.
For instance, the export of medical gowns and patient gowns and towels for hospitals increased a lot from Bangladesh for the spread of the virus, he said.
Moreover, home textile work orders shifted to Bangladesh not only from China but also from Pakistan at the beginning of this year.
Sohel himself received a good quantity of work orders from a buyer who had long been dependent on a source in Pakistan.
This buyer shifted work orders from Pakistan, citing two reasons. Bangladesh is offering a better-quality product, and there is a management problem in the Pakistani company, he said.
The boom in online shopping is another important reason for the higher export of home textiles from Bangladesh, he said.

Superbrands to recognise country's 'top brands'

STAR BUSINESS REPORT
Superbrands is going to recognise what it says are Bangladesh's topmost brands for the year 2020-21 today.
The names of the brands will be revealed through a virtual event. It will also mark the unveiling of Superbrands' publication for the next two years, according to a press release.

GPH Ispat starts billet export to China

The minister also urged the entrepreneurs of the steel industry to make an effective contribution to the national economy by increasing the production of MS Billet and its export to the world market.
The government is trying to give an incentive to the steel entrepreneurs to encourage steel and billet exports, Commerce Minister Tipu Munshi said.
The steel-maker's disclosure came a month after it expanded its annual billet production capacity from 2.1 lakh tonnes in 2018 to more than 10 lakh tonnes this year.
The company also increased its rod production capacity from 1.50 lakh tonnes in 2018 to 7.60 lakh tonnes in this year.
Having started its journey in 2006, GPH began commercial production in August 2008 with an annual capacity to produce 84,000 tonnes of billet and 120,000 tonnes of rod.
Currently, 35 factories of around 400 mills of the sector make billet by importing scrap and scrap ships.
Bangladesh Trade and Tariff Commission Chairman Munshi Shahabuddin Ahmed, Chattogram Port Authority Chairman Rear Admiral SM Abul Kalam Azad and Chattogram Chamber of Commerce and Industry President Mahbubul Alam were also present.

Bogura handicrafts makers hit hard by back-to-back natural disasters

This year, around 12,563 hectares of jute worth Tk 101.74 crore got damaged in Bogura, Sirajganj and Pabna districts, according to data of the Department of Agricultural Extension.
"Heavy downpour and floods have damaged a lot of sea grass, kans grass and jute and has created a crisis of the raw materials," said Ahsan, also the president of Bangladesh Handicrafts Manufacturers and Exporters Association (Banglacraft).
That is why the handicrafts production cost has increased by around 30-40 per cent based on the location of the manufacturing factories, he said.
"We have over 400 entrepreneurs who produce handicrafts under Banglacraft and around 92 per cent of them export their goods to nearly 80 foreign countries, earning name and fame for the country."
"The DAE should encourage the farmers to grow raw materials for the handicrafts factories. Otherwise, we will face this kind of crisis again and again."

Garment workers stage sit-in in Ashulia for arrears

The rest will be paid by auctioning the factory's equipment, but this has not been possible due to the stay order that came on October 20 following an argument of a bank.
The factory authority shut the factory in the middle of April as it had no work orders, said Subhan. "We asked the factory authority to pay the worker dues multiple times."
"As the factory authority failed to pay the workers, we had decided to pay the workers by auctioning off the belongings of the factory," he said.
The bank lent the factory, so it filed the writ petition seeking the stay order, saying if the auction is held, it will face huge losses, he said.
"We are trying to have the stay order vacated through the attorney general," Subhan said, adding that there will be a court hearing on the matter next week.
