CLIMATE MIGRATION Bangladesh may see seven-fold hike by 2050

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

Climate migration in Bangladesh could increase by up to seven-fold, displacing three million people from their homes by 2050 due to climate disasters, a new study found.

The rate of migration in the country is more than double the average migration rate of any other South Asian country.

The displacement and climate-related migration could rise to 900,000 by 2030.

"Under current mitigation pledges and targets demonstrating lower ambition, Bangladesh could see a seven-fold increase in displacement and distress migration by 2050," states the study, titled "Costs of climate inaction: displacement and distress migration", by ActionAid and its partners Climate Action Network South Asia and Bread for the World.

The study, released last week, was

ASTRAZENECA VACCINE It has 'winning formula' for efficacy: CEO

AFP, London

The Covid-19 vaccine developed by the British drugs group AstraZeneca and the University of Oxford has achieved a "winning formula" for efficacy, the company's chief executive said yesterday.

The vaccine, currently being evaluated by Britain's independent medicines regulator, provides "100 percent protection" against severe Covid disease requiring hospitalisation, Pascal Soriot said in an interview with the Sunday Times newspaper.

He added he believes trials will show his firm has achieved a vaccine efficacy equal to Pfizer-BioNTech at 95 percent and Moderna at 94.5 percent.

"We think we have figured out the winning formula and how to get efficacy that, after two doses, is up there with everybody else," the chief executive said, while saying only that data would be published at "some point".

The UK government announced on December 23 that the developers of the Oxford-AstraZeneca vaccine had submitted their data to the Medicines
