Oil prices fluctuate, gold at lowest level

LONDON, Feb 3: : 1'he surprise attack launched Tuesday evening by seve ral thousand Iraqi soldiers on the Saudi town of Khafji, near ly two weeks after the outbreak of war in the Gulf, could not prevent gold from sliding to i ts lowest level for three month is and had little impact on oil prices, reports AFP.

Gold was the victim of a lack of interest among investors and speculators which saw it fall below its level of las t August 1, the day before the Iraqi invasion of Kuwait.

Brent North Sea crude prices fluctuated in the region of 20 dollars a barrel, given that fears of a shortfall in supplies -- which unleashed a climb to 40 dollars at the end of September - have not materialized.

On the London Metal Exchange (LME), worries relating to the recession provoked a slide in prices for most metals. Lead fell to its lowest level for three and a half years, zinc and aluminium hit two-year and nine month lows, respectively while copper was edging toward 30-month lows.

In softs, cocoa fell to an 11month low prompted by the increased levels of Ivory Coast supplies, while coffee remained close to its recent historical lows.

Prices of natural rubber fell to their lowest level. Tea market was steady and average prices remained stable.

Gold: weak. Prices slumped mid-week to their lowest level for three months, despite the first land battles between tragi and alfied forces, at the Saudi border town of Khafji. Analysts attributed the losses to liquidation by Japanese operators and by US funds and to rumours of sales by producers countries.

An attempt at a recovery was made in the aftermath of the falls, but by Friday prices had not come back to the 370 dollars an ounce mark, having lost nine dollars Wednesday.

Analysts said the metal was negatively influenced by the Gulf war, the market estimating the risk of damage to Saudi oil installations to be small now that the Iraqi air force is thought to be out of action. Meanwhile, although uncertainities about the duration of the war persist, the market has no doubles about an eventual allied victory.

Silver: Weak. Silver fluctuated in the wake of gold, sliding to fresh 15-year-lows. The recession affecting certain industrial economies and the uncertainities about the Gulf war damped sentiment for the Platinum: Weak. Platinum prices fell at the beginning of week to their lowest level for five years, depressed by the slowdown of the automobile industry in Europe and the United States, the manufacture of catalytic converter being the primary end-use of platinum.

Prices followed the fluctuations of gold during the remainder of the week.

Copper: Slightly easier, then rally. Copper came under pressure again at the beginning of the week, edging toward 30 months lows on recession in metal-consuming industries Japan's commitment to contribute 9 billion dollars to the war is expected to restrain growth with repercussions for all base metal demand. Announcement of cutbacks in spending and output by Toyota and Honda indicated the spread of reces sion in the world auto industry

Lead: Easier. The back ground of recession and weak ness in the new and replace ment car battery markets continued to undermine sentiment. Prices cased to new lows, cash metal falling below 300 pounds a tonne - their lowest since April 1987. A threatened strike at Peruvian state mining firm Centromin, which has been postponed until next Monday following a new wage offer, had little impact. LME stocks of lead fell by 2,075 tonnes to 65,200 Zinc: Easier. Worrics, about recession in the construction and automobile industries pushed zine to its/lowest levels since introduction of the current contract on the LME, before prices recovered slightly in the wake of copper. Tin : Quiet. Tin prices fluctuated in a narrow band in quict trading. Analysts said tin was resisting further falls partly because of the historically low price of the metal, but also because of uncertainity about the future pattern of exports from Brazil, the world's number one producer. At the end of December, the Government banned use of ore from independent prospectors using manual mining techniques to help protect rain forests.

Aluminium: Easier. A reduction in worries about the impact of the war on supplies from the region saw aluminium prices break through previous support levels, with threemonth metal dipping under 1,500 dollars per tonnel Cash metal fell to its lowest for nine months, prices firmed slightly at the end of the week in the wake of copper.

Nickel: Stable. Prices fluctuated in a narrow band. Lehman brothers international predicted Nickel prices would fall to an average 3.75 dollers per pound in 1991, compared to an average of 4.03 in 1990. The fall will be mainly due to a recession induced four per cent drop in consumption in the non-socialist world.

Coffee : Weak. Prices remained close to the previous week's 15 year lows, which are record lows in real terms.

Traders attributed the weakness of the market to the fact that forceast shortage on the January contract had not materialised.

Recent rains in the producer regions in the south of Brazil previously affected by drought contributed to the losses.

Sugar: Weak. Prices moved in a narrow band around the depressed levels of the previous week, despite rumours of recent Chinese purchasing.

According to market sources, Indian exporters are looking to obtain a 20 per cent Government subsidy to compensate for low export prices. The Government has authorised export of 200,000 tonnes of sugar by March.

Vegetable oils : Easier. Vegetable oils lost ground, particularly soya off, which fell back after the rains in Brazil-world number one producer of soya -- took the country out of several months of drought.

Palm oil followed the trend despite an expected slowdown in Indonesian exports due to a drop in stocks and production.

Oil : Quiet. North Sca Brent Crude prices moved in a narrow bank around the 20 dollars a barrel mark, with Gulf events having little influence. The decision of the international energy agency to go ahead with contingency plans to make an extra 2.5 millions barrels per day available to the market had been anticipated and consequently had little tween Iraqi and allied forces also failed to spark any movement, the market continuing to accord most significance to the current absence of any crude shortages or damage to Saudi installations.

The first land battles be-

Rubber: Weak. Prices of natural rubber fell below the 500 pounds per tonne mark on the London physical market, following slides on Asian markets. Prices in Singapore fell to their lowest level for 15 years due to liquidation by Japanese tradehouses.

Grains: Recovery after a weak start. After easing at the beginning of the week, wheat and barley futures recovered.

The International Wheat Council (IWC) forecast in its last report that world production of wheat in 1991-92 (July-June) would register a substantial fall against the record level of 1990-91, which at 594 million tonnes was an increase of 10 per cent on the previous Tea: Steady. Demand became more selective at the weekly auction, where average prices remained stable at 230 pence per kilo for quality grade and a 135 pence for medium grade, but advanced to 88 pence from 86 pence the previous week, for low medium grades.

Prices of same drugs vary

Star Economic Report

Prices of pharmaceutical items of same ingredients produced by different companies often vary signifi cantly.

The patients, being prescribed by the doctors have to buy the high rated items as the others are claimed to be substandard or not credible.

It is claimed by some doctors, producers of high rated medicines and some patients. Availing the opportunity of high demands, some companies create a gulf of difference between the prices of its products and the same products, produced by other companies, a pharmaceutical salesman said. It was gathered that the price of Riboflavine, produced by Squib and Chemist costs Taka 90 and Taka 80 per box while the costs of other companies vary from Taka 27 to Taka 33 per box.

Grysovine of Glaxo, Fulsine fort of ICI and Sfulvine of Square costs Taka 7, Taka 4.50 and Taka 4.00 respectively. though all these contain some ingredients of same ratio, as claimed by the levels.

Colonel (Retd.) Mukhlesur Rahman, Director of Drug Administration said the administration considered two factors while chalking out the policy of fixing up the prices of pharmaceutical items - one was the active ingredients and the other excipient ingredients, the medicines contained within it.

The active ingredients refers to the chemicals and the excipient ingredients to the binding, flavour and packaging of the products.

The Director said a separate committee in the Administration was active in supervising the prices. He ad-

Large oil field found in China

BELJING, Feb 3 : An oil field one and a half times the size of Tatwan has been discovered in China's far-western region of Xinjiang, an official newspaper reported Saturday, reports

The 48,000 square kilometer (19,200 square mile) oil field was located in the Turpan-Hamt Basin, in eastern Xinjiang, the China Daily said. quoting China National Petroleum Corp. Vice President Zhou Yengkang.

Mr. Zhou did not provide figures for oil reserves but said estimates could be expanded since exploration work was still incomplete.

Exploration is currently focused on the Qiuling and Shanshan areas, where 15 test wells have struck oil with industrial value, he said.

The official said 10 oilbearing structures have been identified, adding that his corporation planned to build a large oil field with an annual capacity of two million tonnes over the next five years.

Capacity could be expanded to four million tonnes after 1950, Mr. Zhou said, China, which began oil exploration in the basin in the 1950s, made the recent breakthrough by using advanced scismic technology.

China National Petroleum has spent more than 100 mil lion yuan (19 million dollars) in exploration there so far, and has deployed 10 seismic sur vey teams and 41 drilling teams staffed by 14,000 work crs, Mr. Zhou said.

China's northwest has major oil deposits, particularly in the Tarim Basin. Despite the region's great potential, transportation problems in the landlocked area have prevented greater exploitation.

India in fiscal crisis despite IMF loans

NEW DELHI, Feb 3 : Despite a' 1.79 billion Dollar loan from the International Monetary Fund, India is grappling with what may be the worst fiscal in its history. economists say, reports Reuter. Finance Minister Yashwant Sinha said a bloated budget deficit in the culprit and the government will raise taxes and slash spending in the 1991/92 budget that begins in April. Even such sacred cows as food and fertilizer subsidies may be axed.

The starting point must be controlling the fiscal deficit he told reporters last week. "We are looking at the entire area of subsidies to see where they can be reduced. "Undoubtedly, the economy is facing its worst fiscal crisis. economist P.R. Brahmananda said, citing vanishing foreign exchange reserves and the burgeoning deficit. Unofficial estimates say the
