Malaysian envoy hands over relief fund to Grameen Bank

By Staff Correspondent Tunku Nazhah Binte Tunku Mohammad Rus, Malaysian High Commissioner to Bangladesh has handed over a fund of Taka 113,000 to the Grameen Bank. The money will be used in income generating activities among the cyclone affected rural poor of Chokoria in Cox's Bazar. Taka 80 thousand of the fund was raised at a charity evening for cyclone victims organised recently by women golfers of the Kurmitola golf club. The rest Taka 33 thousand was contributed by the Malaysian community in Bangladesh. Tunku Nazhah, who is also the ladies' golf captain, handed over two separate cheques for the fund to Prof Mohammed Yunus, Managing Director of the bank at her Gulshan residence Monday afternoon. Prof Yunus thanked the Malaysian High Commissioner for her gesture. Ms Patricia Goddard, the ladies' golf vice-captain, other women golfers and some members of the Malaysian community were present on the occasion. Later, Prof Yunus told The Daily Star that the money would be deposited with the Dulahazra Chakoria branch of Grameen Bank and recycled in that area, badly affected by April 29 cyclone.

Tax-free budget suggested

Renowned economist Dr Sadrel Reza has suggested a tax free national budget for the next financial year in view of the present sluggish economy of the country. Dr Reza, Professor of Economics at Dhaka University, observed that it could be possible for the government to place the forthcoming budget without adding new taxes and enhancing existing tax rates.

Giving out his views to UNB today on a model budget for the country for the coming fiscal he said, "this year the budget proposals bear special significance atleast for two important reasons."

"Firstly, it is", he said, "being prepared by a government democratically elected and accountable to the people." The second factor, he maintained, would be the profound influence of the loss and damages caused by the recent cyclone and tidal surge.

Grant-in-aid for schools demanded

By Staff Correspondent Bangladesh Shikshak Samity (Teachers' Association) has strongly demanded immediate release of government grant-in-aid for the non-government high schools for the fiscal year 1990-91.

A two-day meeting of the Samity's National Executive Committee ending on June 7 made the demand. Samity President Sheikh Amanullah presided over the meeting. Among others, Secretary General of the Association Azizul Huq Shah spoke in the meeting.

In another resolution, the meeting demanded government benefit for the teachers of the schools recognised in 1987.

The meeting observed that following government decision of exemption of tuition fees for the girl students up to Class-VIII in the non-government high schools were now facing severe economic crisis. It demanded compensation for losses on account of tuition fee exemptions.

The meeting expressed concern over postponement of Teacher-Employees Welfare Trust and urged the government to withdraw the decision. It also demanded regular payment of government benefit to the teachers.

Tense situation prevailing on CU campus Govt urged to intervene immediately

CHITTAGONG, June 10: The APSU and CUCSU supporters continued siege on the Chittagong University campus cutting essential supplies to the striking Shibir activists who remained excommunicated inside, reports UNB. Situation in the whole port city became explosive today as the varsity teachers went on hunger strike demanding resolution of the deadlock while Shibir supporters from outside gheraoed the office of the Superintendent of Police protesting the campus siege. Campus sources said heavy contingents of armed police and BDR patrolled University gate number 1 and 2 where the All-party Student Unity supporters backed by the Chittagong University Central Students Union staged gherao of the Shibirites till this afternoon. Communications to and from the university were also reported cut off.

Police said the campus life was totally paralysed as electricity and water supply and telephone lines were cut off again this morning during the gherao programme. APSU began the gherao Sunday morning, as announced earlier, in a counteraction against continued Shibir action including marathon, campus strikes pressing for resignation of the Vice-Chancellor. The ruling BNP's student wing Jatayatbadi Chhatra Dal (JCD), a component of APSU, however, didn't take part in the gherao. Today was the third day of the 72-hour strike called by Islami Chhatra Shibir-supported alliances, Sangrami Chhatra Oikya and Sammlita Chhatra Oikya Parisad. The Shibirites are demanding resignation of VC Prof Alamgir Mohammad Sirajuddin, lifting expulsion order on five students and show-cause notice on 63 others.

It's the 10th day that the varsity is passing through a series of strikes since June 1. The Vice-Chancellor have been staying outside the campus for the last 10 days. In the town, the Shibir supporters staged sit-in demonstration in front of the Police Super office this morning in protest against the APSU-sponsored encirclement of the campus. They demanded arrest of 'terrorists' who reportedly beat up two Shibir men Sunday afternoon at the university gate no 1. On the other hand, 80 CU teachers, opposing Shibir excesses, staged a 10 am-5 pm token hunger strike at Dr. Milon Square in the town, demanding that the government immediately intervene to free the campus from violence and reopen the besieged University.

tion would have discussions with officials for selecting priorities. Replying to another question Dr. Turki said that the Saudi government was financing a number of development projects in Bangladesh and that King Fahd Bin Abdul Aziz, the custodian of the holy Kabaa, was very much sympathetic to the government and people of Bangladesh and would stand by them in times of need. Govt urged to refix oil price Bangladesh Sarak Paribahan Samity urged the government Monday to refix fuel prices as oil rates in the international market have fallen after the Gulf war, reports UNB. In a statement, the Samity said during the Gulf war, the price of oil including mobil and lubricant doubled. But bus fare was raised before the oil price rise, which became meaningless after oil became dear due to the Gulf war. It said oil rates reduced about 30 per cent in world market after the Gulf war and the oil stock in country was quite satisfactory now. The Road Transport Association also urged the government to bring oil rates down to the level as it was before the war.
