Value-added tax from July 1

Star Economic Report

The Value Added Tax (VAT), to be introduced from July 1, 1991 under the forthcoming national budget, it will replace sales tax which now accounts for 12 per cent of total tax receipts of the government, according to official

Besides, about 43 per cent of existing earnings in the form of excise duty will come under the fold of this manufacturer-cum-import level Value Added Tax.

Excise duty contributes to about 35 per cent of total tax receipts now. This duty is narrowly based and is dominated by three categories of goods tobacco, gas and POL (Petroleum, Oil and Lubri-

After the VAT is introduced, the share of excise duty will be substantially cut and about 15 per cent of total tax earnings will come from areas which are now covered under excise duty. Gas production and eigarette manufacturing will remain outside the domain of VAT at its beginning.

The council of ministers decided at a recent meeting for introducing the VAT, replacing a large component of sales tax on imports and many domestic excises.

Much of the revenue benefits of the VAT are expected to be realised after the first two years of implementation, though its immediate revenue impact is considered neutral, according to the World Bank in its latest country economic memorandum.

The bank observed, past instability in sales tax yields wil be resolved through its replacement by the VAT. It however, warned that the critical element for a favourable impact of the VAT will be its smooth implementation and improvements in tax collection procedures.

Smugglers at Gohira come alive again

From Nazmul Ashraf

ANWARA (Chittagong), May 30: Smugglers have reportedly reactivated themselves to use their old transit of Gohira in Anwara upazila, one of the smuggling zones in Chittagong. Smuggling operations were disrupted for several weeks, following the April 29 cyclone and tidal bore. But the illegal or informal trade in foreign goods including tobacco and transit, sources said. Well known as a 'heaven for the smugglers', Gohira however wears a battered look now. The catastrophic cyclone and tidal surge ravaged the area, claiming many lives and leaving the survivors without valuables including stocks of illegal or smuggled goods. Gohira was richer than other areas in the upaztla, local people claim. Most people there had their golden days with good earnings from an elaborate and thriving smuggling network in the pre-cyclone

wine resumed at the Gohira-

A large number of Gohfra's inhabitants, as the local sources noted, lived on this illegal occupation. They used to carry smuggled commodities from the ships at the outer anchorage in the Bay of Bengal to Chittagong city. There were many warehouses including those underground along the coastal belt in the area for transshipment purposes. Sources said, ship-loads of banned items await at the outer anchorage in the sea Local people, working as middlemen couriers, carry the goods from ships to shore by trawlers and boats. From there, they despatch the goods to the city, using the warehouses. And such operations fetched them good earnings. Illegal trade groups in the metropolis have well connections with the locals. Besides, few locals also operate the whole business for themselves.

The warehouses were damaged by inundation of surging water during the catastrophe But now again, the operators in illegal trade have resumed their business. While I visited the area last week, many local people confessed their involvement in smuggling operations before the cyclone struck the coastal zone. They said on condition of anonymity that they had nothing to do for sur vival. They also alleged that relief operations had so far been very scanty in the locality.

TOKYO: Crown Prince Naruhito visited the Bangladesh booth at the five-day long Tokyo International Trade Fair (TITF) recently. He is evincing keen interest at cane baskets. Bangladesh products included shoes, leather, brasswares, fabrics, ceramics, linens, jute goods and furniture. Some 2000 exhibitors from 55 countries participated in TITF.

Al-Hiti said Iraq, whose oil installations were damaged by Allied bombing during the Gulf war. Can now produce 700,000 barrels of oil per day and will produce 1.6 million barrels daily at the end of the year.

"Everything can be solved through dialogue and understanding each other." Oussam Abdel Razzak Al-Hiti said. adding Iraq officials would attend in the spirit of a dialogue and "in an open-minded

Al-Hiti, meeting with foreign journalists, invited the other 12 members of the Organisation of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC) to adopt the same approach and pleaded for the removal of economic sanctions against Iraq, including those on oil

It is not good for the stabil ity of the region that Iraq is not authorized to have normal relations and deal with the rest of the world," Al-Hiti said.

Iraq will also ask for the help of other OPEC members to compensate for the loss of earnings during the 10 months it has not been able to sell its oil, he said.

Asked about the most desirable price for oil, he said: "we hope that our partners study carefully the supply and demand question to reach the right price for oil."

USSR likely to get $1.5b US credit

WASHINGTON, May 30: Soviet Presidential Envoy Yevgeny Primakov said yesterday he thought there were "real possibilities" for his country to get the new 1.5 billion Dollars in US agriculture department credits it wants to purchase American grain, reports Reuter.

Primakov, who arrived in Washington on Tuesday to lobby for the credits and other US aid in exchange for promises of accelerated Soviet reform, spoke to reporters after a meeting with Senate Republican leader Robert Dole.

possibilities to get it," he said of the Grainc Redits. "I am more optimistic."

Gorbachev sent a letter to President George Bush this spring asking for the new credits to help ease food shortages, in addition to the one billion Dollars in US credits Moscow already received last December.

Last week, Gorbachev called for billions of Dollars in other aid from the west to rescue his country's failing economy, saying helping to maintain stability in the Soviet Union should be well worth it to the rest of the world.

But Bush has been noncommittal on new US and western aid to Moscow, saying his administration would first like to talk to Primakov and see whether he had any concrete proposals for converting the Soviet Union to a market

Administration officials have said they are not impressed by Soviet reforms to date and many doubt the wisdom of continuing to aid Moscow under such circumstances.

Some congressmen have accused the administration of trying to use the aid issue as a lever to gain Soviet concessions on conventional and strategic arms treaties.

Pakistan faces $ 17 b in foreign debt burden

KARACHI, May 30: Thanks to a record cotton corp and resurgent exports. Pakistan's economy has weathered the shocks of the Gulf war and suspension of US aid and grown 5.6 per cent, it was announced Wednesday, reports

The data came in a national economic survey, published by the government ahead of both a new budget to be tabled in the national assembly and the end of Pakistan's fiscal year on June 30.

It said Pakistan in fiscal 1990-91 was burdened by 17 billion Dollars in foreign debt, a defence budget of nearly three billion Dollars and population growth rate of 3.1 per cent.

It faced costlier oil imports, loss of trade with Kuwait and from 70,000 Pakistani expatriate workers who returned home after the start of the Gulf crists last August. Pakistan also lost 600 million Dollars worth of US economic and military aid in October 1990, due to concern in Washington over Pakistan's nuclear programme. Nevertheless, the nation's economy managed to grow, the survey said, thanks in part to growth in agriculture manufacturing and exports. Agriculture has grown 5.5

per cent, compared to 4.8 per cent in fiscal 1989-90, with the cotton crop hitting a record 9.61 million bales, up 12.2 per cent on the fiscal

The manufacturing sector grew 5.7 per cent. Large-scale

Iraq, and fewer remittances industry grew 4.7 per cent and small-scale manufacturing 8.4

per cent.

There was a 22 per cent in crease in exports in July through April mainly because of the multiplication of valueadded textiles and cotton products and garments.

The current account deficit was estimated to have gone down from 1.981 billion Dollars in 1989-90 to 1.328 billion Dollars.

Foreign exchange reserves held by the State Bank of Pakistan on May 18 were put at 467 million Dollars, up sharply from 87 million Dollars last December. Growth was also supported by an increase of 16.3 per cent in fixed investment, 78 per cent of which was financed by national savings. Foreign aid was 2.11 billion

Blamed for the inflation were a 10 per cent increases in the price of petroleum products early this year, following pressure from the International Monetary Fund and the World Bank, and simi lar increase in the cost of elec tricity, gas and railway tickets.

The survey said 34,900 vil lages out of a total 45,000 now had electricity, and 110,000 new telephones had been installed. The country's population was estimated at 113 million as of January 1, and per capita income 9,213 Rupees (389 US Dollars).
