All-party consensus to solve CHT problem suggested

A former judge Saturday suggested an all-party conference for reaching a consensus on Chittagong Hill Tracts where insurgency has been causing a serious problem, reports UNB.

The Hill Tracts is not merely a regional issue, it has become a national concern and should be addressed at the national level," Justice Abdul Rahman Chowdhury told a national seminar in the morning.

The two-day seminar on "Publication of Distorted Information and the Conspiracy about Chittagong Hill Tracts," held at the Engineers' Institute, was organised by Chittagong Hill Tracts National Coordination and Peace Council (CHTNCPC).

Chaired by CHTNCPC convenor Saiful Islam Dildar, it was also addressed by Parbatyaya Gana Parishad president Jalaluddin Ahmed, executive director of Bangladesh Manobadhikar Bastobayan Sangstha Md Abdul Matin, ex Shantibahini member Shashikanta Talukder Chakma, local physician of Panchhari upazila Dr Jahurul Islam, Parbatyaya Shanti Parishad secretary general

Maniruzzaman Monir and a local leader Lal Angela Pangtho.

Termining the situation in the Hill Tracts "a man-made human tragedy," Justice Chowdhury said the issue could have been resolved in 24 hours had India demonstrated sincerity.

But India seems unwilling to see a settlement of the problem, rather wants to keep it alive, he added.

More than 4,000 people have been killed in the Hill Tracts since the tribal insurgency began in early 1970s. The insurgents have been operating from safe sanctuaries across the border.

Justice Chowdhury said if a consensus cannot be reached through the proposed all-party conference, the government should discuss the matter with India.

"If the issue still remains unresolved, the matter then should be raised in the United Nations," he said.

Referring to military involvement in the hill tracts, Justice Chowdhury said it was the Awami League government who had stationed security forces there. He, however, called for political solution of the problem.

Giving a background of the problem, Justice Chowdhury said it started with declaring the tribals "Bengalee" and inclusion of Bengalee nationalism in the Constitution in 1972.

This was vehemently protested by tribal leader Manabendra Narayan Lama.

Justice Chowdhury alleged that some political leaders were acting as "spokesmen" of the outlawed Shantibahini to serve the purpose of a neighbouring country.

Maniruzzaman Monir said some left-leaning political leaders are passing "fabricated and concocted" stories of oppression on the tribals to western capitals where seminars were being organised to misguide the people there.

Md Abdul Matin said government should come out with the exact figure of casualties in the April 10 incident at Logang.

Dr Jahurul Islam strongly refuted reports in a section of the press which quoted him as saying that he had seen more than a hundred bodies in Logang.

"These are all falsehood. I have seen only 13 bodies and 13 injured."

Condemning the reports which were passed on to western capitals, Dr Islam of Panchhari said "the reports were motivated and provocative."

In his presidential speech, Saiful Islam Dildar urged the government to put an end to the "propaganda" resorted to by vested quarters saying the misinformation has tarnished the image of the country.

AIDS can be averted through preventive method: B Chowdhury

Deputy Leader in parliament Prof Badruddoza Chowdhury Saturday called for creating mass awareness about AIDS in view of its spread in neighbouring countries to prevent the killer disease, reports UNB.

"We must have much knowledge of AIDS since the disease is gradually increasing in the neighbouring countries," he told the 16th meeting of the National AIDS Committee (NAC) in the WHO office here.

B Chowdhury, an eminent physician, presided over the NAC meeting as its new Chairman.

He said the extent of the problem should be well realised first and necessary action be taken to combat the disease, which has caused scare in the West and spread to many developing countries.

Dwelling on the importance of checking AIDS through preventive method, the Deputy Leader of House said cent per cent cases of the Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome (AIDS) could easily be averted through preventive rather than curative method which is quite expensive for a country like Bangladesh.

He also stressed the need for strict checking in land and maritime frontiers of the country so that incoming and outgoing travellers could not pass unchecked.

Imams of mosques in remote parts of the country could also help a lot in making the people aware of the danger, as they are those who maintain mass communication through their religious leadership, Prof Chowdhury observed.

Regarding spread of the disease by prostitutes, he said they should be motivated towards blood test so as to check spread of the disease through sexual contact.

For that, he suggested, a welfare organisation could be formed.

Eminent physician Prof Nurul Islam told the meeting proper detection of AIDS needed most for success in combat against the fatal disease.

Among others, former NAC Chairman Maj Gen (Retd) B Chowdhury, National Programme Manager (AIDS) Dr Mohammad Mustafa Kamal and Col A S M Matur Rahman of the Armed Forces Institute of Pathology (AFIP) participated in the discussion.
