Courier, Agassi on collision course

PARIS, June 2: Jim Courier and Andre Agassi tangled last year in the French Open final. This year, they are on course for a collision one round earlier, reports AP. Each has one more difficult hurdle to clear before Agassi gets a chance to avenge his five-set loss. Courier, the No1 seed, faced hard-serving Goran lvanisevic in the opening men's quarterfinal Tuesday.

Agassi, who says his sometimes-erratic game comes to life at Grand Slams, was to follow against Pete Sampras in an all-American showdown. Sampras is seeded third, yet he accepts that Agassi, seeded 11th, is the favorite. "The fact that I'm in the quarterfinals - I don't think too many people expected me to be here," Sampras, a hardcourt specialist, said after beating Germany's Carl-Uwe tennis championships:

Steeb 6-4, 6-3, 6-2 Monday. He called it his best match ever on clay. As expected, all four topseeded women advanced to Tuesday's quarterfinals.

The pairings include topseeded Monica Seles, the twotime defending champion, against No 5 Jennifer Capriati; No 2 Steffi Graf against unseeded Natalia Zverva of Belarus; third-seeded Gabriela Sabatini against No 7 Conchita Martinez of Spain; and No 4 Arantxa Sanchez Vicario against unseeded Manon Bollegraf of the Netherlands.

The last two men's quarterfinals are scheduled for Wednesday, paring France's Henri Leconte against Sweden's Niclas Kulti, and Russian Andrei Cherkasov against Petr Korda of Czechoslovakia. Korda, at No 7, is the only seed left in the bottom half of the Courier has won 20 straight matches and along with Leconte, has not lost a set during

FRENCH OPEN QUOTES

PARIS. June 2: What they are saying at the French open

"W HEN I play a Grand Slam I am very arrogant the way like I am unbeatable at times" — Andre Agassi, bidding for the singles title after losing in the final for the last two ent things but I am certainly not going to get rid of what I

11 T played Davis Cup in the Philippines and the crowd the Italian Open against Italian Omar Camporese on the Centre Court. I have played John McEnroe here in the first round. You could say I am pretty used to it" - Sweden's Nicklas Kulti after learning that he would play Frenchman don't have a coach. Only my father is here. He is not a specialist but he keeps me in a good mood" - Russian

"Sometimes I am very nervous and I start screaming.

When I am quiet, when I am not nervous, when I am not throwing down rackets.... it is much better" - Andrei Cherkasov on his decision to adopt a different approach to IIT E is very fit. He hits very hard from the baseline. He

In has a very good first serve. He has a very strong forehand. He is afraid of nothing It is not going to be easy'

- Henri Leconte, reserring to his Swedish quarter final Leconte, asked how he was going to prepare for his quarter

"I am going to take my phone off the Hook" - Henri

PARIS, June 2

He wasn't supposed to be around at this stage of the French

Open. Now that he is, the pressure is on.

Beyond question, flamboyant Frenchman Henri Leconte's march to the quarterfinals is the big surprise of the tournament. His only problem is that a goodly portion of his 56 million compatriots expect player, has undergone a series of back operations, including one last June, and has dropped to 200th in the world rank-

Yet in December, he be came the improbable hero of a stunning upset of the United states as France won its first

Davis Cup in 59 years. Now, after an indifferent showing this season (a record of 5-6) and even some thoughts about quitting, he's back in the lime

He crushed Uruguay's

Marcelo Filippini, 6-3, 6-2

Monday as the center-court crowd chanted his name.

completing four rounds without loss of a set. Among his vic tims was the No. 4 seed.

dently," Filippini said. "He says, 'OK, now I am going to put in an ace, and he puts it

"He's playing very confilight again.

Michael Stich.

Leconte, a one-time top 10 him to go Further, writes AP.

Henri Leconte on the Centre Court in the semi-finals.

quarter-finalist Andrei Cherkasov.

on court crises.

final. — AFP.

ports AP.

Belgrade.

to Belgrade.

Yugoslavia.

opponent Nicklas Kulti.

It's a bus back home for them

HEATHROW, England, June

2: A Yugoslav track team

Partizan Belgrade, flew home via Bulgaria Monday after flights to and from their own country were banned by United Nations sanctions, refor the national Yugoslav airline, J.A.T. the party of 26 competitors and officials, who competed Saturday and Sunday in the European Clubs

Birmingham, were unable to take their scheduled flight to airlines flight to Sofia and then were scheduled to take a bus

The UN has ordered sanc tions against Serbia-led Yugoslavia, holding it responsible for continuing fighting in neighbouring Bosnia-Herzeg-cutting sports links with Federation, has removed Yugoslavia from the Davis and Federation Cup team competitions. And the world and European soccer organization,

FIFA and UEFA, also has banned the team with the result it has been booted out of Championships and replaced month's European

The sanctions also involve

The International Tennis

Instead, they took a Balkan

Championships

According to a spokesman

I were pushing the Philippine player. I have played in know" -- Andre Agassi, on where to draw the line.

"I don't mind adding things to my game and trying differ-

W I feel out there. I feel extremely confident and I feel the tournament.

But if he gets past eighthseed Ivanisevic, he will face a confident opponent in either Agassi or Sampras. Agassi was delighted with his 6-1, 6-3, 7-5 fourth-round victory Monday over Spain's Emilio Sanchez, who had easily won the last meeting of the two in March at Indian Wells,

"I never thought he would play like this," Sanchez said.

"This really emphasizes where my game was at the beginning of the year versus where it is in now," Agassi said. "Emilio is a tough competitor....The fact that I did beat him as comfortably as I did really gives me a lot of confidence going into the latter part of the week."

How much better was Agassi now?

"I would have to say, if not 100 percent, then sure close to it," he replied.

Agassi admitted he sometimes lacks concentration during regular ATP Tour events.

"But when you get to the Grand Slams, you get the best in the world, and I think it taps a part of me that I don't see as much as I would really like to," he said.

"It's weird. In normal tournaments, even when I'm playing well, I always feel like an underdog. I'm almost surprised when I go out there and win. When I play a Grand Slam, I am very arrogant... I feel extremely confident and I feel like I am unbeatable out there.

Sampras felt unbeatable against Steeb, to whom he lost on clay in straight sets in "This was the best clay court match I've ever played so far," said Sampras, raised on the hard courts of California. "I was patient. I served extremely

"This is the quickest clay court of the year," added Sampras, who had 16 aces. "It's surface you definitely can serve and volley on."

Graf, Sabatini struggle to reach semifinals sets for the first time in the tournament, Steffi

Graf and Gabriela Sabatini stormed back against tough opponents Tuesday and advanced to the semifinals of the French Open, reports AP.

Sabatini, the No 3 secd, seemed on the brink of defeat after dropping the first set to Spain's Conchita Martinez and trailing 0-3 in the second. Suddenly, the seventh-seeded Martinez unraveled and Sabatini won nine straight games en route to a 3-6, 6-3, 6-2 victory.

Second-seeded Graf, a twotime French Open champion, battled past Natalia Zvereva of Belarus, 6-3, 6-7, (7-4), 6-3. Graf served for the match at 5-4 in the second set, but was broken then lost the tiebreaker as Zvereva hit backhand winners on the last two points. Graf rebounded to win the first four games of the final set.

"I needed to have a tough, close match," Graf said. "I was disappointed by the way I served. That made me a little

Pressure mounts on hero Leconte seeded Guy Forget, got knocked out in the second round. The last of the other

Frenchmen, Cedric Pioline,

lost on Monday, leaving Lc conte with the full burden of more pressure," Leconte said.

"The pressure is more and Open for Leconte, 28. He reached the finals in 1988; losing to Mats Wilander in his closest brush with a Grand avoiding long rallies. He charges the net even on his second serve, or during his opponent's service _ the base-minefield he wants to escape.

Wednesday will be the tournament's foremost giant-killer,

21-year-old Nicklas Kulti of Sweden. Already, Kulti has knocked off John Mc Enroe very hard physically," Leconte said. "He hits very hard from the baseline, has a good first serve . . . He's afraid of noth

Court match-up with Leconte before a delirious, pro-Henri out there," said the Swede, crowd was nothing to fear.

The match will be a very.

Kulti asserted that a Centre-

"It's going to be great fun and Michael Chang.

line sometimes seems like a

I's quarterfinal opponent

Leconte seems intent on

"The further you go, you feel

This is the 12th French

France's hopes.

more everyday."

Slam title.

France's top hope, sixth-

PARIS, June 2: bit crazy.But I won the Jolted by losing match, so it's not too serious."

In other quarterfinals, Monica Seles, the top seed, was to play No 5 Jennifer Capriati; and Arantxa Sanchez Vicario. the No 4 seed, was paired with unseeded Manon Bollegraf of the Netherlands. However, rain began as Sabatini completed her victory, delaying the start of the next matches.

"The court was little bit dangerous," Sabatini said. "It was very slippery."

Sabatini, who admitted to nervousness at the start of the match, said she came alive at 0-3 in the second set out of desperation.

"I knew I had to do something," she said. "I just started hitting the ball."

Graf hopes to regain the title from Seles, the winner here in 1990 and 1991, and also atone for a humiliating 6-0, 6-2 loss to Sanchez Vicario in last year's semifinals.

Zvereva, a finalist here in 1988, has now lost all nine of her matches with Graf. This was only the second time she had extended the German to him in his victory over McEn-

At times, Leconte looks like a man possessed, pumping both fists, yelling at himself, strutting like an angry rooster around the backcourt before insisted when someone asked have to do it. I am there because I'm happy to play, happy sparkling performance from Leconte who inspired France to their Davis Cup triumph last November but who needed a wild card to enter this year's championships after slumping

Leconte's victory was a wel come bonus for the Centre

Court crowd who had struggled to reach the famous Roland Garros Stadium to the west of Paris through gigantic traffic-jams caused by a night

"I feel very drained and it got a little bit difficult at the end. But I made it, said Leconte, who was jeered off the Centre Court by the crowd when he was beaten in the prepare for the next hurdle, the unpredictable Frenchman replied: "By taking my phone

Asked how he intended to 1988 final by Mats Wilander.

of storms and flooding.

out of the world's top-200.

AFP adds: It was another to go as far as possible."

"This is not a mission," he

"I'm not there because | serving.

if he was on one.

hez in the French Open at Roland Garros in Paris Monday. Agassi won 6-1, 6-3, 7-5. _AFP

Germans start as favourites

AMSTERDAM. June 2: Pakistan renew their rivalry with Germany at the Amsterdam five-nations tournament starting on Wednesday, reports AFP. Pakistan will be locking to avenge their defeat at the Champions Trophy in Karachi in February when they gave away an early lead to go down 4-3 to the Germans. They are still waiting to hear the fate of centre forward Musaddiq Hussain who failed a drug test in Karachi. He now awaits the results of the second test.

Musaddiq insists he took killer. He has backed by Pakistan manager Islahuddin.

On present form though, Germany are favourites to win the men's event where they will be opposed by Olympic champions Great Britain, Spain, Netherlands and Pak-

The Netherlands and Spain are in Pakistan's group at the Barcelona Olympics and will provide strong opposition in Amsterdam, Spain, winners of last month's four-nation event in Madrid where they were held goalless by India, have a match winner in short-corner expert Ignacio Escudo. With his scheming brother Xavier. he can turn the fortunes of a

39 Visibility

42 Census

datum

56 Diner sign

hindrance

Hans Jorrisma, have been training hard and do not appear too worried about their consecutive 2-1 defeats to India at the weekend. Floris Jan Bovelander will be as important to the Dutch short-corner as Carsten Fischer to Germany.

Great Britain's hopes have been hit by the injury worries over centre forward Sean Kerly. He has a hamstring injury and the British are still searching for the formula that brought them success at the last Olympics.

set pieces they cannot be compared to the Dutch or Germans.

The women's competition involves Netherlands, South

Korea, Spain, Germany and

Great Britain. Britain and Spain have just completed a three-match series in which Britain the other two.

Aussies pick Olympic squad

the drug, an analgesic, pain will be sending half of their and only five have played fewer men's field hockey squad which bombed out of medal contention at Seoul to next month's Barcelona Olympics,

> In the 16-man squad announced here today, team captain Warren Birmingham, Dayid Wansbrough, John Bestall, Mark Hager, Graham Reid, Jay Stacy, Ken Wark and Michael York are holdovers from the team that finished fourth in the 1988 Games after starting as gold medal favou-

> Ranked third in the world behind the Netherlands and Pakistan, Australia have high hopes for a medal in Barcelona after failures at the last two

The squad's average age is The Dutch, coached by 25, while five players have

DOWN

1 Boutique

2 Apply

SYDNEY, June 2: Australia played over 100 international Australia are grouped at Barcelona with Olympic champions Great Britain, Champions Trophy holders German, India, Argentina, who descated them in Darwin last month, and Egypt.

Australia will play in a fournation tournament in Malaysia later this month against the Netherlands, Malaysia and Japan before heading to Spain. The team is : Warren Birmingham, David Wansbrough, John Bestall, Damon Diletti, Dean Evans, Lachlan Dreher, Lachlan Elmer, Jay Stacy, Lee Bodimeade, Ashley Carey, Mark Hager, Graham Reid, Stephen Davies , Ken Wark, Michael York, Paul Lewis.

ITF lets let stay

PARIS, June 2: A controversial plan to change the let rule in tennis fell out of court on Monday when the International Tennis Federation (ITF) postponed a decision until more talks are held, reports Reuter.

The proposed change would allow a serve that clips the net and lands into court as being in play instead of being retaken.

But the ITF's management committee decided at a meeting in Paris not to recommend the change until more discussions are held with representatives of the men's and women's tours.

Many players have criticised the rule change, originally put forward as away of eliminating wasted time, as irrelevant.

Handballers note

Sports Reporter

Mansur Sporting Club will take part in the forthcoming Second Division handball league, according to a club press release.

Interested handballers have been asked to contact the club coach Mansur or captain Tapan Das at 4 pm on June 16 at the Outer Stadium handball court.

Series tied

AUCKLAND, June 2: Argentina won their fifth hockey international against New Zealand 1-0 here today, reports AFP. The result levelled the series at 2-2 with one match drawn. Result: Argentina 1(Martin Sordelli 64) New Zealand 0.

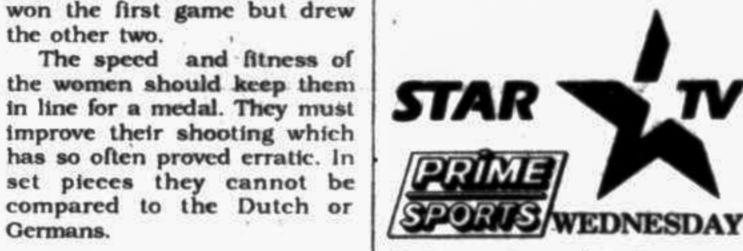

Indians win again WASSENAAR, Netherlands,

June 2: Jagbir Singh scored twice in five minutes as India noticed up their second 2-1 win over the Netherlands in two days here on Sunday, reports AFP. The Dutch side started well, with some inspired long passes leading to Maarten van Grimbergens' opening goal in the seventh minute. Indian captain Pargat Singh, scorer of a goal on Saturday, led the Indian assault for an cqualiser. But the Dutch held out for the first period.

India only took firm control in the second half when the home team wilted in the heat.

National Hocky League 06.00am continued from Tuesday

Major indoor Soccer

Prime Bodies of '92 Winter Olympics 12.30pm Tennis 01.00 Equestrian 02.30 Boating: Potomac International Rowing

04.00 GP Sailing 04.30 Lure of the Wild Trans World Sports 05.00 Prime Bodies 06.30 Cricket: Best of '92 World Cup Cricket

08.30 09.00 Motorcycling Gand Prix 12.00am Major indoor Soccer League

02.00 Prime Bodies 02.30 Best of '92 Winter Olympics 04.30 Tennis: Women's Tour

Equestrian

(Please deduct 2 hours from above timings for Bangladesh Standard by Denmark. who had the crowd against of the hook. Sports sanctions hurt Y'slavs

BELGRADE, June 2: Of all tough international sanctions slapped on Yugoslavia, the one that appears to hurt the most is the sports boycott, reports

This sports-crazy nation has been in shock ever since it learned the Yugoslav soccer team will not play at the European Championships in Sweden and that its worldrenowned basketball squad and other athletes may not take part at the Olympic Games in Barcelona.

"We are not killers. We are world, European and Olympic champions," said a statement issued Tuesday by Yugoslavia's sports association.

It protested UN sanctions banning the country's teams and athletes from international competition.

The sports ban was part of a broad package of economic and diplomatic sanctions approved by the UN Security Council last Saturday to pressure Yugoslavia, composed of Serbia and Montenegro, to end their involvement in neigh bouring Bosnia.

The measures also include a trade and oil embargo, a cutoff of air links and the freezing of Yugoslav assets abroad.

"We can survive without gasoline and fancy imported goods," said Mile Mitic, a Belgrade pensioner. But with out soccer and basketball....

The International Olympic Committee meets later this week to follow up on UN sanctions and exclude Yugoslavia from the Barcelona Olympics. The Yugoslav Olympic Committee has appealed on the IOC not to expel Yugoslav Yugoslavia's highly regarded national basketball team which includes Los Angeles Lakers center Vlade Divac, has ceased its preparations for a pre-Olympic qualification tournament in France and is returning home.

"It's simply not fair. We are politicians and warriors. We are only sportsmen and sports should not mix with politics," Divac said in an in terview

Divac's squad is the current world and European champion. If won silver at the 1988 Seoul Olympics. In Barcelona, Yugoslavia was also expected to field world-class men's waterpolo and handball teams as well as women's handball and basketball squads. The soccer team, which the European championships starting June 10, also returned to Belgrade on Tuesday.

This soccer team has sev eral players, almost magicians, like Harlem Globetrotters in basketball. They would have impressed Europe, but were not allowed to," said the national team coach, Ivan Cabrinovic.

"They took the players" lives, hearts and love. They did it suddenly," Cabrinovic said. Denmark, a team the Yugoslavs beat by one goal to make the finals, will replace them in the tournament. A protest by Yugoslav athletes who have world and Olympic titles is scheduled Thursday. They plan to march through Belgrade wearing their medals.

We don't want to fight. We want to compete" will be the slogan of the protest.

"The ban is a tragedy for Yugoslav sports," said Danc Korica, the head coach of Yugoslavia's track and field team. "It is absolutely the worst punishment against was preparing in Sweden for sportsmen of any nation since World War II."

Y'slav booters leave for home

LEKSAND, Sweden, June 2: The Yugoslav football team left their training camp here today to return home after being banned from the European Championships, reports AFP. They kicked out of the competition after the United sporting sanctions against The players, who have been since last in Sweden Thursday, left the camp in coaches for Stockholm airport. They were to fly home at the expense of the Swedish Football Feder ation.

Nations ordered trade and

Item 18 Incubator noise 19 "Holy cow!" 20 Hirsch sitcom 21 Rhea's cousin

23 Greek

36 Adhere

37 Born

38 Coop

occupant

ACROSS

1 Resorts

Bosc

5 Bartlett or cross 25 William Conrad role 28 Circe's ilk 32 "And grow on' 33 Binge 34 Cruelty

FORECAST INKY DSJAWS SPFOREHEAD F E E S O L I D S V PAI LILY

Solution time: 27 mins.

24 Supermarket section 25 Funny 52 39 Khrystyne CRYPTOQUIP of "Head of the

DGONBIQA ouiB ' Y MBJQI, JGO

Today's Cryptoquip clue: Y equals M

The Cryptoquip is a substitution cipher in which one letter stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it crashers will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words and words using an apostrophe give you clues to from work locating vowels. Solution is by trial and error.

PDZNBAIZO B'QQ PCOPU

Coach: Frank Murray. Time) CROSSWORD By Eugene Sheffer 12

blacktop 9 — guzzler 44 Author 3 Sheltered man Bill, 12 Golfer 4 Sinuous Janowitz familiarly 48 Rever-5 Cork Irwin 26 Actress — 13 Mass Alicia ence shooter 49 Leer at revelry 6 Pennsyl-27 Actor 14 Parrot 50 Unyieldvania port Beatty 7 Shoelace 29 NOW 15 Finished 16 Rug 51 Piscopo tips goal: 8 Reuben abbr. surface 30 Sage-17 Lapidary's holder Garagiola 52 Doctors 9 Enthusibrush St. 31 Bishop's astic income 53 Raven 10 Top domain haven? 35 Scant 11 Big rig 54 Subways' 20 Brush 36 Word opposites cleaner from a 55 Priceless? 22 Squirrel's poser?

Class'

41 Puzzle's center?

43 Merriment

greater

45 Vicinity

46 51% or

47 Picnic

49 Away

40 MP's