People urged not to offer Eid prayer behind believer in "Maududism"

A group of leading ulema Wednesday called upon the people not to offer Eid-ul-Azha prayer behind those imams who are supporters of Jamaat-e-Islami, reports UNB.

In a joint statement, 54 ulema also urged the pious Muslims not to get their sacrificial animals abnegated by any believer in "Maududism".

Signatories to the statement included Hazrat Shah Sufi Moulana Syed Abdullah Al Chisti, Moulana Yahya Mahmud, Moulana Ruhul Amin Khan and Moulana Mohammad Sufian.

"The followers of Jamaat-e-Islami have already deviated from Islam by misinterpreting the Quran and criticising the prophet and his close associates (sahabas)," they claimed.

Jamaat-e-Islami, they alleged, is using Islam for their party and personal interest by "bluffing pious Muslims". They are also spoiling the sanctity of different mosques by using those for party purposes.

The ulema also urged God-fearing Muslims to keep mosques above all controversies and party politics.

"Build protest against those imams who will try to campaign politics in mosques," they rugged all.
