BRIFFLY

3 Lankan Muslims shot dead: Tamil Tiger rebels shot dead three members of a Muslim family, including a woman, in eastern Sri Lanka, military officials said Sunday, AP reports from Colombo.

They said rebels shot the three farm hands when they were harvesting rice Saturday in Ampara district's Central Camp area, 126 miles (200 kilometers) east of Colombo, said officials at the Joint Operations Command.

Rebels also fired at the funeral procession but no one was hurt, said the officials, who cannot be identified under briefing rules.

Tamil rebels, who are fighting to set up a separate Tamil homeland in the north and east, have also been trying to drive out Tamil and Sinhalese Muslims and Buddhist Sinhalese from the east.

Lebanese start voting: Lebanese in the north and east of the country started voting in the first parliamentary elections in 20 years, Reuter reports from Betrut.

The country is deeply divided between Muslims who favour the elections and Christians who refuse to vote while Syrian troops still control Beirut and the surrounding area.

More than 265 candidates are standing for 23 Christian and Muslim seats in eastern Lebanon and 28 seats in the Voting in other parts of Lebanon is due on the next two Sunday, August 30 and September,

2 killed as Greek ship sinks: At least two people were killed and 477 people were rescued Sunday after a Greek passenger ship collided with a fishing boat and sank, authorities said, reports AP from Kuala Lumpur. Police in Port Dickson, 80 kilometres (48 miles) south of Kuala Lumpur said by telephone that rescue vessels reported two people were killed and lour injured after the 13, 176-ton Royal Pacific collided with a Taiwanese fishing boat early Sunday morning.

The injured included two Indonesians and two Greeks, but the nationalities of the dead were not known. Police said three of the injured had arrived in Port Dickson and were being treated at a hospital there.

Borghild Eldoen of the Norwegian Rescue Centre at Sola, Norway, said at least 20 ships had responded to the distress call and had rescued 477 people.

Gabid to attend Y'slav talks: The secretary general of the Organisation of Islamic Conference, Hamid al-Gabid, will attend the Yugoslavia peace talks in London, it was announced in Jiddah Saturday, reports AP from Jiddah.

The negotiations are to begin Wednesday. The invitation was issued by British Prime Minister John Major.

The OIC, the umbrella group for the world's Isiamic nations, held a June conference in Istanbul on the crisis in the former Yugoslavia. Since then, it has been mustering support for the Muslim majority under attacked by Serbs in the breakaway republic of Bosnia-Herzegovina.

Temple collapse claims 10: Ten raiders digging for valuables in an historic temple in northwest Cambodia were killed when the walls fell in and villagers claiming it was God's will refused to save them, a UN spokesman said, AFP says from Phnom Phenh.

The collapse, which occurred August 12 in Banteay Chhmar, killed 10 guerillas belonging to the Khmer Rouge and Khmer People's Liberation Front (KPNLF), said spokesman Eric Fait.

They dug about three metres (10 feet) and suddenly the walls collapsed and killed them," he said.

A freelance journalist returning from the area said many of the raiders were buried alive, but villagers refused to help, saying they deserved their fate for trying to steal from a tem-

Plawluk recognises new govt: The US-based Ukrainian government-in-extle formally recognized the leadership of independent Ukraine on Saturday and gave up its 72-year-old claim to be the country's rightful ruling body, AP reports from Kiev. At a Ukrainian World Forum of 2,000 delegates in Kiev, the president of the government-in-exile, Mykola Plawluk, handed Ukrainian President Leonid M. Kravchuk a certificate endorsing the new state.

The ceremony took place just two days before the first anniversary of Ukraine's proclamation of independence from the Soviet Union on Aug. 24, 1991.

The government-in-exile had existed since 1919-1920. when Russia crushed the short-lived independent Ukraine that was established after the 1917 Bolshevík Revolution.

Sino-ROK diplomatic accord today

BEIJING , Aug 23: South Korean Foreign Minister Lee Sang-Ock arrived here today on a three day official visit during which an accord establishing diplomatic relations between Seoul and Betjing is to be signed, Xinhua news agency said, reports AFP.

Lee and his Chinese counterpart Qian Qichen are to sign the historic accord on Monday, officially closing decades of enmity between the cold war rivals.

An earlier report from Seoul said: Lee Sang-Ock left Seoul for Beijing today to conclude an agreement establish ing diplomatic relations between China and South Korea. He is expected to call on Chinese Premier Li Peng and President Yang Shangkun before returning home on Tuesday.

Meanwhile, officials in Seoul said that during the normalization negotiations with South Korean officials, the Chinese expressed regret that China took part in the 1950-53 Korean war on the North Korean side. The Chinese officials described their war participation Saturday. as an "unfortunate and regrettable", incident involving the two countries. China sent a million troops to fight South Korean and UN forces led by US troops, saying its territory bordering on North Korea was threatened. Chinese officials have as paper said today. sured Seoul that China will henceforth maintain equally friendly ties with both South and North Korea. Until now, North Korea has been China's close political ally. An official also said that with the Seoul-Beijing normalization, China's mutual assistance treaty with North Korea.

dead letter", it stipulates automatic Chinese military intervention in case of an attack on North Korea. On the other hand, officials concluded in 1961, became "a in Seoul expressed hope of TAIPEI: An unidentified man, wearing a placard condemning South Korea's move to South Korea's move to sever relations with Taiwan could leave the island with close to no

We do not have perfection

tonight, but we do have fair and honourable compromise that will benefit Canada," Mul-Bourassa, said he was "very glad" over the results of the talks, which he said showed

Canada's willingness to address province and to this Franco-

But Bernard Landry, vice

English-speaking

phone society," Bourassa said.

president of Quebec's separatist Parti Quebecois, blasted

Bourassa for "surrendering" to

Quebec's Premier, Robert

roney emphasized.

his province's needs.

Sweeping political reform in Canada

"Canada is attached to this ment foundered after some society."

maintaining what they called "unofficial" ties with Taipei, although Taiwan severed formal relations with South Korea on

Meanwhile Reuter adds: China will invite South Korean President Roh Tae-Woo and North Korean President Kim-Il-Sung and his son and heirapparent Kim Jong-II to Betting for separate visits this year, a major Japanese news-

Yomiuri Shimbun quoted informed sources in Beijing as saying the invitation to the North Korean leader was to show China's intention of maintaining close relations with Pyongyang despite the establishment of diplomatic ties with Seoul.

China sent troops to help North Korea in the 1950-53 Korean War and remains isolated Pyongyang's closest ally. North Korea has not yet reached in public to Beijing's agreement with Scoul.

Deng Xiaoping still master of China

BEIJING. Aug 23: Chinese patriarch Deng Xiaoping quietly celebrated his 88th birthday Saturday after monopolising the Chinese political scene since the beginning of the year and proving he is still the master of China, reports AFP.

Neither the People's Daily the central press organ of the Communist Party, nor any other national newspaper mentioned Deng's birthday, following repeated requests by the Chinese leader not to create a personal ity cult around himself.

The television made an allusion to the Patriarch, without recalling his birthday by leading the evening news with a laudatory report on the economic de velopment zone of the eastern city of Tlanjin-visited by Deng

His famous tour in the south of the country at the beginning of this year and his remarks or the necessity of accelerating re forms have become obligatory references for anyone who claims to be current with his political line.

But turning 88 on the 22nd day of the eighth month makes for a combination of double digits that, according to Chines tradition, is a sign of good for

6 opposition MPs join Congress

NEW DELHI. Aug 23: Six op position members of India's par lament joined the ruling Congress Party on Saturday, boosting the strength of the minority government, the United News of India agency said, reports Reuter.

It quoted Janardhana Poojary, a General Secretary of the Congress, as saying that six par liamentarians of the Telugu Desam Party were admitted into the ruling party.

This boosts the strength of the Congress to 251 in the 544the People. It also claims the support of about 25 legislators who are either independents or belong to allied parties.

Telugu Desam, which is part the rally establish formal diplomatic ties with China, hurls eggs at the South Korean embassy in of the opposition National Front Taipei on Saturday. He also supplied eggs for passers-by to throw at the embassy building. alliance, had 13 members in parliament before the six -AFP/UNB photo | changed allegiance.

"The degree of unanimity

we achieved is quite overwhelming," said Frank

McKenna, premier of the eastern province of New will meet later this week in

Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island, to review legal details had hoped for a greater transfer of power from Ottawa to the provinces, Quebec had gained enough to justify com-ter of Canada's 27 million peo-

Quebec has about one-quar-

Bourassa said that while he Mulroney and the premiers tional referendum.

of the agreement.

Brunswick.

ported by Prensa Latina, Cuba's official news agency. he said Guevara thought many economic measures adopted in the Soviet Union were wrong. The report was monitored in news reports, says AP.

Off the Record

Because it will lead

istry. In the interview regan Granma.

The Argentine-born Guevara left Castro's government and went to Boltvia to try to foment a guerilla war. He is a national hero in Cuba after being killed by the Bolivian government in Cuba's economy has been devastated by the fall of communism in the former East bloc, once the Caribbean island's biggest sponsors and trading partners.

Gomez Trueba's interview comes as Cuba's harsh economic situation has forced President Castro to backtrack ideologi-

One of the world's few remaining hardline Communist states has recently begun to allow joint ventures with foreign capitalists.

'Go home niggers'

CUMMING: Marchers singing civil rights anthems paraded through driving rain and past a torrent of jeers Saturday to repeat their 1987 walk through Forsyth County, where blacks have been unwelcome for 80 years, reports AP. Ku Klux Klansmen and others shouted, "Go home, niggers" from behind police barricades as the Rev Hosea Williams led about 40 people to the Forsyth County Courthouse. The march started Wednesday in Atlanta, 50 miles (80 kms) away.

Earlier Saturday, about 50 white supremacists chanting white power" had demonstrated at the courthouse to protest the march. "We don't take second billion to no niggers," Jerry Lord, a member Lok Sabha, or House of Klansman and county organizer for the white supremacist Nationalist Movement, said at the rally. Nationalist Movement first officer Richard Barrett later called reporters to say Lord had been suspended from the group for 30 days because of his language and his behavior at Assistant Police Chief Buck Jones estimated that about 350 white supremacists jammed the streets, along with several hundred onlookers.

A garrulous mother

LONDON: "Wild Swans," an engrossing family history of China, was the book Jung Chang didn't want to write. Her mother talked and talked and talked her into it, reports AP.

"I came to England in 1978. For 10 years I didn't want to write this book because, I mean, it was too painful - my past. I simply wanted to forget about China," Chang said. But the 40-year-old scholar and adviser to the British Foreign Office was convinced that the story of her grandmother and her mother, and of her own 26 years in China, had to be told when her mother came to visit. "Once she started she really couldn't stop. It was quite incredible because we talked every day for hours. "We traveled around in Britain and then we went to Switzerland, and my mother was almost obsessed with just talking. In the evenings in the hotel, she would talk into a tape recorder and then she had 60 hours of recordings for me by the end of it. And that sort of made up my mind and I felt it was a story worth telling."

reporting and historical research in China and her own experiences exiled in the Himalayas, joining the Red Guards and doing peasant labour - makes a lively journey through 70 years of Chinese history.

France opposed to isolating Guatemalan peace Cuba internationally talks begin HAVANA, Cuba, Aug 23:

MEXICO CITY, Aug 23: Guatemalan government and rebel leaders Saturday convened an eighth round of talks here seeking an agreement on human rights as part of an overall accord to end 31 years of civil war, officials said, re-

Government delegation head Manuel Code said the foundation had been laid for a definitive peace agreement to be signed this year and that 'the points of controversy have already been resolved."

ports AFP.

The current session, scheduled to continue through Monday, is expected to com-

Chinese allege human rights abuse in Australia

SYDNEY, Aug 23: Members of Australia's Chinese community staged a protest rally here today alleging human rights abuses by the government and immigration authorities, reports AFP.

Organiser Kenneth Xu said the rally, attended by some 2,000 people was in protest against the use of violence against a Chinese student by an Immigration Department officer and the deportation of stu-

Xu alleged that on August 14 a Shanghai student, identified as Xing Jian Dong, was beaten by an immigration offi cer after refusing to acknowledge a deportation order served on him at the Villawood detention centre.

"The Chinese government says it is not going to punish students in the pro-democracy movement overseas."

plete negotiations in the area for 'democracy and human rights,' one of 11 on the agenda for the talks.

In earlier talks in Mexico, the two sides reached agreement on democratic reforms and another that ends the requirement for civilians to serve in paramilitary civil defence

Negotiators were expected to iron out details on creation of a commission to determine responsibility for crimes during the war and to accept an international human rights charter as a framework for resolving a conflict that has claimed more than 100,000

France is opposed to isolating Cuba internationally, even though Paris does not agree with the island's communist government on some issues,

> Michel Charasse said on Saturday, reports Reuter. Charasse, speaking to reporters at the end of a threeday visit to Cuba, said the French government had set allies in Asia.

bec, reports AP.

OTTAWA, Aug 23: Provincial premiers and other leaders agreed to a sweeping political reform package designed to head off a secession referendum in French-speaking Que-day night after five days of negotiations - would overhaul

Parliament, grant self-government to natives, give provinces a veto over future changes in federal institutions, and lower inter-provincial trade barriers.

for Canada. This is a good day for Canada," Prime Minister talks involving provincial premiers and native and terri-

Brian Mulroney at the close of

This is a good agreement

The pact - reached Satur-aside 30 million francs (6 million dollar) for Cuba in its overseas aid budget, the Cuban domestic news agency Ain It said this money would be spent on small projects over a three-year period.

French Budget Minister

The French minister had brought a personal message from President Francios Mitterrand to Cuban President FIdel Castro. Its contents were not revealed.

Asked about Cuba's unpaid commercial debts to France, which is one of the island's main western creditors, Charasse said Paris was not pressing the issue. Cuba owes more than 7 (seven) billion dollar to western creditors and negotiations on the debt have been deadlocked for several years.

"We're not going to declare war on Cuba, not harass it just for a few cents. France's general policy is against the isolation of Havana," the French minister said, quoted by Ain. The United States, Cuba's main political enemy, has frequently urged the international community to isolate the island until its rulers end its one-party communist system and introduce multi-party poli-

The package must be ratified by the federal parliament and provincial legislatures, and be approved by voters in referendums in Quebec, Alberta and tutional limbo since 1990, when the provinces failed to unanimously ratify a previous reform package, the Meech

Lake accord. The 1986 agree-provinces objected to recognizing Quebec as a "distinct the agreement, which has unanimous support, will be ratified. But he has not yet decided whether to call a na-

Mulroney said he expects

Canada has been in consti-

British Columbia

Ain quoted Charasse as saying his government followed a policy of respect towards all other states, even though it did not share some points of view with the Cuban govern-

The minister said that in his talks with Cuban officials he discussed a nuclear power plant being built on the island and the subject of Cuba's oil and fuel supplies. He declined to give details.

Peruvians go to polls Nov 22

LIMA, Aug 23: Peruvians will elect a one-chamber, 80member Congress on November 22 that will write a new constitution as well as exercise legislative and watchdog powers, an electoral law published on Saturday said, reports Reuter. It said the Congress, which will re-establish the balance of powers in Peru after President Alberto Fujimori dissolved Congress and reorganised the judiciary in April, would last until the end of Fujimori's term in July 1995. The state guarantees that the constituent Democratic Congress will act with sovereignty and complete autonomy in its constituent, legislative and watchdog functions, " the law in the official Gazette said.

MIAMI, Aug 23: The heavily-populated southeast coast of Florida was put under a hurricane watch on Saturday as hurricane Andrew roared towards the Bahamas and the US main-

Reuter. The northwestern Bahamas islands were put under a hurricane warning. Forecasters in Nassau expected hurricaneforce winds on Sunday.

land with 100-mile-per-hour

(100 km) winds, reports

The storm could make US landfall as early as Monday. Emergency managers along

Florida's east coast were warning residents to begin hurricane preparations and officials of the US space agency NASA ordered workers to batten down at the Kennedy space

At 2100 GMT the centre of Endrew was located about 615 miles (1,000 km) east of Miami. The storm was packing top winds of 100 miles an hour and travelling west at 15 miles per hour (25 km).

"It's a strong storm, quite compact," said Al Sandrik, a forecaster at the US national hurricane centre in Coral Gables, Florida. "And some further strengthening is possi-

Atlas rocket blown up

CAPE CANAVERAL, Florida Aug 23: An unmanned Atlas rocket carrying a cable television satellite was blown up Saturday over the Atlantic after its booster failed, sending it swerving out of control shortly after lift-off, reports AFP.

Launch officials sent the rocket self-destruct commands by remote control less than eight minutes after blastoff. Air Force officials said there was no danger to anyone on land or at sea and that nothing on the ground had been damaged.

The costly satellite, however, was lost. It was the second launch failure in year-anda half for Atlas Manufacturer General Dynamics, Corp. In April 1991 an Atlas carrying a Japanese broadcasting satellite had to be destroyed shortly after life-off.

The 14-story rocket and roared away from its seaside launch pad on schedule at 18:40 pm (2240 GMT) in the third launch attempt in as many days. Stormy weather forced the cancellation of the first two tries.

Hollywood has cut off its own flow of talent foreign crew to case communication, Rosen-

LOS ANGELES, Aug 23: What's the quickest way to find the cinematographer on a movie set? Just listen for a foreign accent.

"We American cinematographers are lost in fog," said Woody Omens, whose film credits include "Coming to America" and "Boomerang." "Hollywood has cut off its own flow of talent." Many in the film and television industry believe a trend of hiring immigrants is pushing skilled American designers and technicians out of work, reports AP. Some, including Omens, see the hiring of mostly nonunion cinematographers, costume designers, art directors and makeup artists as an attack on organized labour and a break with the tradition of promoting from within. Others see it as big business cutting costs, like Ford building cars in Mexico. The studios say film production has become shouldn't be denied access to an expending and skilled talent pool "Cinematographers are developing throughout the world," said Michel Rosenfeld, director

an international business, and producers of labour relations and immigration for the Walt Disney Co. "There's even production in Africa now. New visa rules give the local unions a small say in who can — and can't — come in. "We're trying to keep American jobs for Americans," said Carole Frazier, executive director of the costume designers' guild, where unemployment runs 50 per cent. "I was just able to stop a British designer from working at Sony Pictures. In this day and age when jobs are so scarce, we have to fight for everything."

The entire crew — including the caterers were foreigners on the recent production of "Noble House," according to the International Photographers Guild "We are not being xenophobic," said Bruce Doering, director of employee relations at the guild. "We have hundreds of (cinematographers) who are foreign-born." While no exact figures are available, various estimates suggest as many as half of all films employ at least one foreign worker. Some in-Cinematographer John Toll (the upcoming "Wind" and television's "The Young Riders"] said he's toyed with the idea of changing his name to Jon Van Toll.

dependent films use foreigners in almost every

"There is a tendency among some people who are relatively new to the business to say they want "an exotic name." It's a joke but it's dead - on true," Toll said.

The Screen Actors Guild, a union not especially open to foreigners because of the premium placed on language skills, receives at least one application a day seeking approval to hire immigrant performers.

"American actors are being replaced," said Leonard Chassman, SAG's Hollywood executive director. "The volume has picked up dramatically."

say it's simply part of industry wide cost-cutting aimed at non-star talent. Salaries for key positions (actors, directors and some screenwriters) have fallen as well. But the three unions covering these jobs are

Although foreign investment in Hollywood has never been so great, overseas ownership is not pushing these new hiring practices. Some relatively strong. The production companies argue they hire foreign workers to stretch the creative canvas, not to undercut the domestic job market. The producers often see nonunion workers - some unionized counterparts. Some foreign directors demand using their feld said, adding, "If the director can't tell what's in focus and what's not, you're in trou-These people are trying to bring in the most talented people, "Rochard Fraade, a lawyer specializing in immigration law, said of the producers. "I've never had one client tell me they're doing this to save money.

This should not be seen as an abusive system. It was not set up to bring in swarms of people who are not qualified." Gene Reynolds, vice president of the Directors Guild of America, calls that contention "nonsense". This town is stacked with talent. The idea of saying, "we've got to get this guy from this country, he's the only one who can do the job is a lot of bull."

The Hollywood unions have little quarrel with immigrants who move to the United States to establish careers. Indeed, some of the most acclaimed cinematographers and costume designers were born outside the United of whom will work for much less money - as The objection rests mostly with cinematic more determined and productive than their migrant labourers, one-stop interlopers who come for a paycheck and promptly go home, denying a capable union member a job.

The vivid family saga - supplemented by Chang's sound Flordia put under hurricane watch