

BUP, IUB survey reveals Demand for management personnel to be highest during next yrs

The demand for general management personnel in different enterprises in Bangladesh will be highest during the next three to 10 years, followed by that for technical personnel, according to a market survey report released in the city Thursday.

The survey was conducted on 265 enterprises in Dhaka Metropolitan City areas, representing 20 categories of organisations in the public and private sectors.

The survey revealed that the demand for management personnel will increase by 26.6 persons per enterprise while that of technical personnel will increase by 15.6 persons.

Bangladesh Unnayan Parishad (BUP) in collaboration with Independent University, Bangladesh (IUB) conducted the survey to assess the needs for skilled professional manpower in different sectors on the basis of which IUB determined priorities in formulating its course curriculum.

IUB is a private university which offers higher education in selected fields of humanities, social sciences, technology and business studies relevant to the needs of the national economic and social development.

The survey also reveals that lack of background in research and applications of the university graduates in Bangladesh is the most critical problem hampering economic growth and social development in the country.

Majority of the respondents suggested that universities should reorient their undergraduate and postgraduate education to produce skilled manpower needed by the economy as it grows and the enterprises should also provide pre-service and in-service training to overcome the deficiency of skilled manpower, faced by commerce and industry.

The survey indicated that a modest but growing modern sector has emerged, which needs skilled manpower to improve its performance and expand its activities.

Over 70 per cent of the respondents said that they would support any universities effort to organise or reorganise its academic programme to produce such graduates as are required by the commerce and industry.

239 of the 265 enterprises said that they were facing various problems of which law and order situation was at the top. The survey found that 59.7 per cent of the enterprises were facing deficiency for personnel in marketing management, 52.8 per cent in technology, 42.4 per cent in computer science, 39.8 per cent in general management, 39.4 per cent in financial management, 39 per cent in production management, 37.7 per cent in development planning, 32.5 per cent in personnel management, 23.4 per cent in engineering and 19.9 per cent in generation and processing information.

About 50 per cent respondents said that they would not recruit qualified or trained professional and managerial staff because individual career interest had conflicts with job skills.

It was found that training of managerial and engineering personnel was very productive for the organisations and 71 per cent of them having employees with job-related training had used training facilities within the country.

181 of the organisations under the survey were established during the last 20 years, 77 during 1948 to 1971 and only seven were established before 1947, the survey revealed.
