LONDON, May 19: British lawmakers will vote Thursday on the European Community's treaty on closer economic and political union, and Foreign Secretary Douglas Hurd expressed confidence Britain will soon approve it, reports AP.

Denmark ratified the treaty in a referendum Tuesday, leaving Britain the lone holdout among the 12 EC members.

"People can now see that the treaty... is not a blueprint for a superstate and we can now go ahead with our own parliamentary procedures which we have to complete," Hurd said Wednesday.

The British parliament has spent more that 200 hours debating "every nook and cranny" of the treaty and approval now is a government priority, Hurd said on BBC Radio.

put the number of Indian troops and border security forces in the Indian-controlled Kashmir at around half a million men.

The statement said it was "evident" that the so-called political initiative 'advertised' by Indian leaders to resolve he crisis in Kashmir had 'failed'.

"Now the Indian army is being called upon to try to impose a final solution", the spokesman said.

"The emplacement of Kashmir valley under what amounts to martial law is bound to intensify grave human rights violations in Kashmir and could also escalate tensions in the region," he added

Thousands of people have been killed in the Indian administered southern two thirds of Kashmir over the past four years in violence linked to a Muslim insurgency against Indian rule. The two South Asian neighbours have fought two wars over the ownership of Kashmir since their independence from Britain in 1947.

Pakistan calls on the world community to ask India to halt its campaign of repression and violations of human rights in Jammu and Kashmir," the official statement said.

It also urged the international community to persuade India to "reduce rather than augment the instruments of repression in the Indian-held Kashmir.

Demanding that India allow international human rights organisations to inspect conditions in Kashmir, the statement renewed Pakistan's offer for bilateral talks on the Kashmir tangle.

"The world community should bring political and moral pressure to bear on India so that it responds positively to Pakistan's repeated offers to open a dialogue with a view to defusing tensions and promoting a peaceful settlement of Jammu and Kashmir dispute in accordance with international and bilateral commitments."

NEW YORK: A majority of American women approve of the more activist role President Bill Clinton's wife Hillary has taken in the White House, according to a poll released on Tuesday, reports Reuter. The poll, co-sponsored by Mccall's magazine and the Life

Time Television Cable Network, found that 69 per cent of those surveyed approve of Mrs Clinton's performance. Of those, 46 per cent said she is a "terrific role model of today's career oriented woman who also has a family." Of the 31 per cent who disapproved of her role, the most common reasons were because she has not been elected to any office and that she is smart but too aggressive." In addition to acting as a senior adviser to the President, Mrs Clinton is heading a task force on health care reform.

Two-thirds of those polled said they thought she would have a positive effect on her husband's re-election chances in 1996.

" For the time that there is a disruption in the availability of easy abortions we know that children will live", said Patricia Lindley, an executive board member of the umbrella group of anti-abortion groups in the Chattanooga area.

OIC seeks US help to save Bosnia from extinction

JEDDAH, May 19: A group representing 51 Islamic nations appealed Tuesday to President Clinton to take action quickly in Bosnia, and said the Islamic world would support him, reports AP.

"I beseech you and your great country, in the name of humanity, to act now before it is too late to save the Republic of Bosnia-Herzegovina from virtual extinction," said Hamid al-Gabid, secretary-general of the Organisation of Islamic Conference (OIC) in a letter to

The appeal coincided with testimony by US Secretary of State Warren Christopher to Congress on Tuesday that Washington will not act alone.

Christopher said European allies rejected a US proposal to lift an arms embargo to help Bosnian Muslims and seek standby air strike authority from the United Nations.

The 51 OIC members are fully committed and are ready to extend their utmost support for the success of your initiatives to save Bosnia-Herzegovina, said Hamid al Gabid's letter. A copy was provided to The Associated Press.

Al-Gabid said the conference was " deeply concerned" about Europe's lack of response. He warned the UN Security Council's credibility was at stake if it didn't lift the arms embargo on Bosnia and let it defend itself.

Arabs, Israelis resume arms control talks

WASHINGTON, May 19: Arabs and Israelis resumed talks Tuesday aimed at ridding the region of nuclear, chemical and biological weapons, re-

The Mideast arms control talks, part of the Arab-Israeli peace talks, convened for their fourth session with some 40 countries and international or ganizations in attendance- including Israel, Jordan, Egypt, Saudi Arabia, the Gulf states, North African states, European countries, Japan and UN organizations

The idea of such broad participation is to provide Arabs and israelis with assurances of support as they undertake the delicate issue of cutting their arsenals of mass destruction. Syria and Lebanon are boycotting the talks pending progress in their direct peace talks with Israel, where they are demanding that the Israelis give up land for peace.

For the first time since the arms talks began in January 1992 a Palestinian delegation also was participating. Israel had argued until now that the Palestinians were not a country and therefore shouldn't take part in arms control talks, but changed its mind as a concession to advance is one-on-one peace talks with the Palestinians.

The arms control talks are theoretically modeled on the experience of decades of US-Soviet disarmament negotiations The United States and Russia has been working closely with the sides to prepare the sessions and guide

US persuasion is largely credited for a reduction in persistent Arab demands that arms control talks should start with Israel signing the international Non-Proliferation Treaty and opening up its nuclear facilities for inspection.

Israel is widely believed to have dozens of nuclear warheads, although it has never officially confirmed these re-

Instead, the United States and Russia have steered the talks toward discussion of confidence-building measures among Arabs and Israelis - ar guing that a reduction of arsenals could realistically occur only after peace is achieved between the sides.
