Interest-free credit for farmers suggested

Agricultural economists Thursday stressed the need for subsidising agriculture and suggested interest-free credit, crop insurance and price support for farmers for ensuring economic growth of the country, reports UNB.

They also called for expansion of power supply network and development of rural infrastructure for a change in the agro-based economy.

"Country's growth rate will decrease if subsidy in the agricultural sector is not continued," President of the Bangladesh Agricultural Economist Association Prof A M Moazzem Hossain cautioned at a press conference.

The news conference, held at the Bangladesh Agricultural Research Council (BARC) auditorium, focused on the agricultural sub-sector in the national budget for 1993-94.

Dr Zahangir Alam of BLRI presented a paper on "Agriculture Sector in the New Budget: A Review" and Md Abul Kashem of BIDS presented another paper on "Agriculture Sector in 1993-94 Budget and Poverty Alleviation."

Prof Hossain said the small farmers would be affected and there would be overall adverse impact on food production of the country if subsidy is withdrawn.

Govt ad policy to curb press freedom

Bangladesh Sangbadpatri Parishad (BSP) has expressed concern over a current financial hardship being faced by the country's newspaper industry, reports UNB.

At a meeting of its executive committee held on Wednesday, the BSP blamed the government for its centralised advertisement policy that stood in the way of free development of the industry.

Criticising the government's advertisement policy, BSP observed that it was designed to control the economy of the newspaper industry with a view to curbing the freedom of the press. Such a policy should be abandoned in the interest of democracy and free press.

Referring to press reports that the Khulna Newspaper Mills faces the threat of closure from July due to short supply of Grewa wood, the BSP expressed concern over the situation.

Agreement for setting up of 2 pilot building materials production units

An agreement was signed Thursday between the Rural Development and Cooperatives Division of the Ministry of LORD and Cooperatives and local Mare-Ace Consortium for setting up of two pilot building materials production centres in Sylhet and Cox's Bazar, reports BSS.

The objectives of proposed projects are to produce pre-stressed concrete building components, viz. columns, beams, slabs etc and treat indigenous materials like bamboo and sun-grass which will not only be affordable to the rural poor but also be economically viable and commercially attractive, according to a PID source here Thursday.

This is a new technology and a better product at a cheaper rate which will prolong the durability of the building materials by at least three times, the handout said. This is a unique example of collaboration in the field of new technology between the government and private entrepreneur.

The agreement entails a total cost of Tk 97.87 lakh of which Tk 77.90 lakh will be grant and the balance Tk 19.97 lakh will be the equity share to be provided by Mare-Ace, the entrepreneur. LGRD will provide Mare-Ace with land, technical back stopping support, needful cooperation and monitoring for which Mare-Ace also signed a separate agreement with LGRD yesterday.

The proposed building materials production centres constitute an important component of the on-going project entitled "reconstruction of rural housing in flood affected areas of Bangladesh," an UNDP aided project and the first of its kind in the country which aims at constructing 13,500 houses and establishing an improved as well as revolving housing loan programme targeted to the rural poor which is in line with the income generation and poverty alleviation programme of the government.
