The minister said government has taken certain steps to bring down the trade imbalance with different countries. This includes active support to the exporters.

Government also adopted a long term(1992-2000) export strategy aimed at helping the exporters to make a long term export plan, he added.

Anwar told Sheikh Harunur Rashid (AL) that the country's trade ratio with India was import 100 : export 3.31 during 1992-93 fiscal.

During the period, Bangladesh has imported goods worth Taka 482.80 crore from India through Benapole Land Customs till April 30 against its export worth Taka 15.80 crore, the minister said replying to Moulana Mohammad Sakhawat Hossain (Jamaat)

Replying to a question from Nawab Ali Abbas Khan (JP), Anwar said that Bangladesh imported eggs worth Taka 6.57 crore from India during 10 months of 1992-93 fiscal.

The Commerce Minister told Rashed Khan Menon (Workers' Party) that Bangladesh could not export Jamdani saree to India because of high duty on imported saree by India. But he added that India recently announced withdrawal of duty on imported Jamdani saree from Bangladesh.

Withdrawal of quota on crude edible oil import demanded

Bangladesh Vegetable Oil Refiners and Vanaspati Manufacturers Association demanded the withdrawal of quota system on import of crude edible oil to save the industry from a virtual close down. In a press conference at a local hotel in the city yesterday, the leaders of the association said the government had permitted import of only 4.5 per cent of total crude requirement till July, 1993. The acting chairman of the association, Yussuf A Harun said "this literally means only 28 days' supply of raw material for the whole year.

By Staff Correspondent It will force us to remain closed for the rest 11 months." He alleged that in the last year also country's 67 refineries received crude edible which were sufficient only for nine per cent of their installed capacity.

"In such a situation, it is impossible to survive after meeting the power, gas and other costs of production." Harun said.

The association chief termed the quota system contradictory to the government's liberalisation policy.

He refuted the allegation of raw material smuggling to neighbouring countries and called it baseless. "Price of oil in India is cheaper than here and therefore, such smuggling can not occur," observed Harun.

The association also proposed to set up a committee comprising representatives from Commerce Ministry, Board of Investment and the Association to determine the required quantity of crude edible oil.

The press conference was also attended among others by the acting vice-chairman of the association. Rauf Chowdhury and executive committee member, Nazmul Huq Chowdhury.

ABU DHABI, June 28: Arab officials agreed Sunday to hold more talks with the Basel Committee in a bid to persuade it to drop its classification of most regional countries as high-risk in lending, reports AFP bank governors from Qatar, Egypt, Kuwait and the United Arab Emirates (UAE) as well as two senior Arab League economic officials took the decision at a meeting at the Abu Dhabi-based Arab Monetary Fund (AMF).

The six-officials formed a committee to oversee measures to strengthen Arab banks and guarantee they meet a Basel ruling, that banks worldwide must have a capital adequacy of at least eight per cent to ensure they have enough funds to face any financial crisis.

"The committee agreed to continue a dialogue with the Basel Committee to exchange information and views about its classification of Arab coun tries," an IMF statement said after the meeting.

The Basel Committee, created by the Bank of International Settlement (BIS) to draw up guideline for World Bank, classifies all Arab League members, except Saudi Arabia, as high risk countries in lending activities.

Arab officials say the decision is unfair because many of their banks have a high capital adequacy.

Govt, central bank truce on monetary policy may prove temporary in Russia

MOSCOW, June 28 Russia's strategist, who added that it central bank, once referred to by Finance Minister Boris Fyodorov as a 'parallel government," has put a hold on its stonwalling of the government's tight monetary policy but the truce might be temporary, reports AFP.

Central bank Chairman Viktor Gerashchenko last April bowed to pressure from government and agreed to a series of inflation-fighting measured including placing ceilings on credit and raising the prime lending rate.

The agreement was hailed as "historic" by Fyodorov, the sovernment's chief reform would pave the way for a three billion dollar loan from the International Monetary Fund and place the economy on the path towards stabilisation. The release of further western financial aid on the agenda of next week's Tokyo summit of the Group of Seven industrialised countries is tied to Moscow's success in stabilising the economy

Western financial analysts however say the money crunch has yet to hit the country and that the central bank might the decide to renege on its commitment to cut off credits

"If Russian industry - from the Urals on eastward threatens to go bankrupt, then we will see another flood of rouble on the market, commented one western financial advisor to the Russian govern-

At least one bank official. Deputy Chairman Alexander Khandruyev, has already stated that several aspects of the agreement were impossible to fulfil 'due to the realities of the Russian economy

With no social security net in place to offset massive unemployment and with now real foreign investment pouring into the country, Russian industry simply connot survive without state support, Khandruyev contends. The April agreement has so far yielded results on the money market where in the past ten days the rouble exchange rate has risen from its all-time low of 1,166 to the US dollar to Thursday's rate of 1.061 to the Greenback:

"All commercial banks, not just four of five, are selling their dollar now and there has been no central bank interven tion," commented on Thursday, Yuri Schegolkov, spokesman for the Moscow in terbank currency exchange.

The Food Minister told Mizanur Rahman Manu (AL) that the target of wheat procurement has been fixed at 80,000 metric tons during the current season. So far, 73 metric tons of wheat was procured, he said.

Replying to Sheikh Hurunur Rashid (AL), the minister said food deficit during 1992-93 fiscal was estimated at 10.52 lakh metric tons. But the deficit might increase or decrease depending on the actual food production.

He said government has taken steps to import food to cover the deficit.
