Condolence meeting on S M Ali held

By Staff Correspondent Reminiscences of Syed Mohammad Ali, better known as S M Ali, thronged into the minds of the participants at a condolence meeting organised by the Jalalabad Association in the capital yesterday evening.

Presided over by M A Malek, the condolence meeting recalled the life and works of S M Ali. Many discussants, who personally knew the Founder-Editor of The Daily Star S M Ali, became emotional as they spoke about the late editor. Reminiscing the long journalistic career of Ali, Sulaiman Chowdhury, the former managing director of Janata Bank, observed that his life was marked by patriotism and optimism.

Asma Abbasi, another cousin of Ali noted him as a 'good man' - so scarcely found nowadays - saying "he was an essential man for the nation and the country". The condolence meeting was also attended by the brothers of Ali - Syed Moazzem Ali, Director General of Foreign Office and Syed Ruhul Amin, Dr C M Delwar Rana and others.

Winding up the remembrances Malek said that Ali never was afraid to do what he felt right. He cited instances when Ali gave suggestions to the Prime Minister or the leader of the opposition.
