Tama, estranged from her husband Russell Rahman for the past two years, reportedly lived with the victim. But neighbours of the actress said Tania had introduced Nayan as her servant when hiring the second floor apartment.

Importers of toxic fertilizer yet to be penalised

The Ministry of Agriculture is yet to take any action against those responsible for the import, from the United States, and distribution of toxic fertilizer last year, although a probe body report recommending punitive measures was approved by the Prime Minister's office some time ago.

Meanwhile, a US Federal Court recently penalised two American companies, involved in manufacturing the contami nated fertilizer, a total of one million US dollar.

According to informed sources, the Agriculture Ministry has not initiated any step to implement the approved actions at the "highest" level. They declined to elaborate.

Earlier in June the Prime Minister's office had approved the report by a 3-member enquiry committee, headed by the Vice Chancellor of the Open University Dr Shamsher Ali, recommending legal and punitive actions against the suppliers and officials involved in the import and distribution of the fertilizer containing high levels of toxic lead and cadmium substances.

Initiated by the Environment Ministry the probe body recommendations were later forwarded to the Agriculture Ministry for implementation.

The Bangladesh Agriculture Development Corporation (BADC) imported 3150 tonnes of zinc-oxy sulphate fertilizer from the US in January last year, chemical tests of which later revealed that it was contaminated with toxic industrial wastes.

The corporation went on to distribute 1113 tonnes of the toxic fertilizer after just a preliminary test at the Bangladesh Agriculture Research Institute (BARI), which was done without proper standards. BARI recommended the use of the fertilizer and opined that it would not be harmful to the environment or to human health.

By doing so, both BADC and BARI also completely ignored a timely warning, well before the consignment reached Chittagong port, from the US Embassy, quoting the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA). that the fertilizer may contain toxic industrial wastes. See Page 12 Col 8

Fate of IWT-3 project hangs in balance

By Sohel Manzur

A decision on the fate of the crucial Third Inland Water Transport Project (IWT-3), which is also being considered as a determining factor for the government's relations with the World Bank, is likely to be taken on Monday by the cabinet, according to official

The cabinet will decide whether the government would go ahead with the project accepting the conditionalities imposed by the bank or refuse to accept those leading the project towards cancellation.

The conditionalities imposed by the World Bank in the form of action plan for the Bangladesh Inland Water Transport Corporation (BIWTC) were opposed mainly by the Ministry of Shipping, although other concerned government agencies feel there is little scope for opposing the conditionalities since the government has already signed the Development Credit Agreement (DCA) with the bank.

The action plan as suggested by the WB as precondition to disbursement of aid (both credit and grant) for the 64 million US dollars project include organisational restructuring, fleet restructuring, manpower rational isation and financial restructuring of the BIWTC.

The WB also insisted the government approve the technical assistance for the project provided by the Finnish government and appoint the management consultants and the local consultants within the shortest possible time to pave the way for disbursement of the But the Ministry of Shipping

Bangladesh admn most stable in Asia: BBC

British Broadcasting Corporation (BBC) has described the administration of Bangladesh as most stable among the Asian countries, reports BSS.

In a report broadcast on Tuesday night in the Bengali programme, Serajur Rahman, a noted journalist of BBC, observed that foreign investors are scared to invest in Bangladesh because of frequent calls for "hartals."

"Are the people who call the hartals, aware of the adverse effects of frequent hartals, processions and rallies?" he asked and posed further questions: "Do they want to create such a situation for the administration to make it difficult to run the country by bringing disaster for the nation and hardship for the people?"

In his "Dhakar Chithi" Rahman said the task for devel-oping the economic infrastructure and progress for the nation cannot begin if the attention at the moment is concentrated to bring down unconstitutionally an elected government.
