US fears attack on its citizens in Asia

ISLAMABAD, Nov 25: Ame rican embassies in Asia were calling and faxing US citizens today to warn them to be on the alert for 'terrorist or mob action following President Bill Clinton's meeting with British author Salman Rushdie, reports Reuter.

The US embassy in Islamabad was calling American residents to warn them to stay away from known trouble spots, avoid going out if possible and try to be as inconspicuous as possible in Muslim Pakistan.

"While we are not aware of a concrete threat in connection with this trip, experience and the continuation of the Iranian Fatwa (decree) against Rushdie suggest that there may be terrorist or mob action directed against American or American interests overseas," the US embassy in New Zealand said in a statement.

An embassy spokesman told Reuters the statement had been released by the State Department in Washington.

The US embassy in Australia issued a similar statement, as did the American consulate in Hong Kong.

"It is a routine notification to Americans... to be cautious." said a consulate spokeswoman In Kuala Lumpur, the US embassy distributed the State Department advisory by fax to US citizens working in Malaysia and asked recipients to pass it along to other Americans where appropriate.

The Hong Kong spokeswoman said the worldwide statement was aimed at both private citizens and government officers but there was nothing to suggest that any attack was Several people were killed when police opened fire on an anti-Rushdie demonstration outside the United States Information Service Office in Islamabad in 1989.

Rushdie met Clinton on Wednesday. The Indian-born author described the unannounced meeting as 'the pinnacle' of his long campaign to pressure Iran into lifting its death sentence against him.

The late Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini issued the decree in 1989 because of what he termed blasphemy against Islam in Rushdie's novel "The

Cut system loss further, Saifur asks PDB officials

MOULVIBAZAR, Nov 25: Finance Minister M Saifur Rahman today asked the Power Development Board officials to further reduce the "awful" system loss to a justifiable limit to make PDB a viable and profitearning organisation, reports

"Losses during the generation period or during transmission phase is understandable... But how can one justify system loss due to theft, meter tampering and other malpractices?" he asked the PDB men.

The Finance Minister was addressing as chief guest the foundation laying ceremony of the Sylhet 90-MW Combined Cycle Power Plant Project at Fenchugani.

The function was also addressed, among others, by Energy and Mineral Resources Minister Dr Khandaker Mosharraf Hossain, Sharaf Uddin Ahmed Khasru MP. Energy Secretary M Faizur Razzak Japanese Ambassador Seizio Takenaka and local BNP leader Shafi Ahmed Chowhury.

The Tk 404 crore power project with a foreign exchange component of Tk 290 crore is expected to be completed by October, 1995. The Overseas Economic Fund of Japan will provide the foreign exchange component for the project. When it goes in full operation, the plant will not only meet the additional demand of the greater Sylhet district but also provide 50 MW of electricity to augment the supply in the national grid.

The phase-one of the combined cycle power plant now under construction consists of two gas turbines and one steam turbine - each of 30 MW capacity.

The steam turbine will use excess heat from the two gas turbines to boil water without using any further fuel for itself making the whole plant cost-effective. The steam produced from boiling the water will rotate the turbine to generate shall be the best example of French-Pak friendship," Ms Bhutto told a group of Pakistani newspaper editors.

Ms Bhutto did not give any details on when an agreement might be reached. But she said the plant was urgently needed to increase electricity supplies in Pakistan.

Pakistan and France reached a tentative agreement on the nuclear plant in 1990, when Ms Bhutto was serving her first term in office.

The project stalled when Ms Bhutto's government collapsed later that year. She returned to power following last month's elections.

Pakistan already has one nuclear power plant in the southern port city of Karachi.

Pakistan insists its nuclear programme is entirely for peaceful purposes. However, the Asian country has acknowledged that it has the ability to built nuclear weapons, but says it has not done so.

Arch rival India also is considered capable of assembling an atomic bomb. Neither country is willing to unilaterally sign the nuclear non-proliferation

The WB will not lend money for the BWDB unless there is substantial improvement in the Board's performance. The Bank has criticised the BWDB for weak management, unsatisfactory financial control and lack of attention to operation and maintenance of the BWDB schemes.

The BWDB, with a sanctioned staff strength of 18,000. is managed by a Chairman appointed by the government. A major cause of management weakness in the BWDB, according to the World Bank, is that historically the government had selected officials without an engineering background as Chairmen of the Board. In 1990, the BWDB had 933 engineers and 254 other professionals. The BWDB's financial con trols have been termed unsatisfactory by the WB. Executive Engineers heading more than two hundred BWDB Divisions spread over Bangladesh spend more than Taka 500 crore every year. Payments made by the Executive Engineers are only recorded by the Board's accounting arm in each BWDB Division and consolidated at the headquarters. According to a recent report, the BWDB headquarters was managing 1500 separate bank accounts at the same time!

The WB's decision to put a hold on new lending to the BWDB will seriously affect development of the irrigation and water resources sector. The BWDB, like all other public agencies, is heavily dependent on aid for its investment programme. With the WB withdrawing it support, the BWDB's role in expansion of surface irrigation and water resources management will suffer a setback. If this is not reversed the BWDB may become another BADC, ob-
