IRRI, boro output target may fail in Greater Mymensingh

KISOREGANJ, Apr 25: The target of IRRI-boro cultivation taken up by the Agricultural Extension Department in five districts of greater Mymensingh region may fail.

Abnormal high prices of different inputs, shortage of bullocks for tilling the lands, high prices of fuel, faulty system of irrigation equipment, shortage of supply of the high yielding varieties of seeds etc are the main reasons behind the failure of the project.

According to an official source, a massive programme was taken up in all the five districts of the region during the season to bring a total of 4,94,200 hectares of land under boro cultivation during the season.

Out of the total area 4,26,000 hectares of land were brought under different high yielding varieties and 68,200 hectares of land under different varieties of local boro. The total area includes 1,12,800 of land hectares in 11 thanas under Mymensingh, 78,900 hectares in seven thanas of Jamalpur, 52,800 hectares in five thanas of Sherpur, 1,09,700 hectares in 11 thanas of Netrakona and 140,000 hectares in 13 thanas of Kishoreganj district.

The total target of paddy production had also been fixed at 13,16,400 metric tonnes, the source added. It includes 12,14,100 tonnes from the different high yielding varieties and 1,02,300 metric tonnes from different local varieties.

Abnormal increase in the prices of different inputs had caused such set back in the programme. The supply of different high yielding varieties of seeds was also scanty in the government godowns. However, it was alleged that the seeds were being sold in open market at abnormally high rates during the sowing season. The poor stock of seeds were also exhausted during the last year's monsoon in almost all the districts of the region.

The government in the meantime, has withdrawn the rental system of supplying the irrigation equipment to the farmers. These machines are now being sold by the BADC.

Repeated and abnormal rise in the prices of different kinds of chemical fertilizers has also victimised the situation.

Disbursement of the special agricultural loans is not at all satisfactory. It is alleged. Though there is sufficient amount of money sanctioned by the different nationalised commercial banks for distribution of loans among the farmers including Bangladesh Krishi Bank, the disbursement position is quite below the target. It is learnt from an official

Most of the staff and officials of the banks in the remote areas are found less interested in disbursing the loans to the small farmers, it is alleged. However, a section of influential people and the village leaders were receiving the loans. Even most of the poor farmers have to seek loans through these selected groups for obtaining loans from the banks, it is alleged.

The bank officials very often disappoint the interested farmers in providing them with the loans on the plea of not submitting sufficient documents and papers which as become a regular affair.
