

New Zealand on taxing tour

WELLINGTON, Oct 23: New Zealand left Sunday for one of their most gruelling cricket expeditions, a two-and-a-half-month tour of India and South Africa that includes three Tests and a possible 14 one-day international matches, reports AP.

The Indian leg includes four one-dayers in eight days dotted across the continent against the host country and the West Indies, and possibly a final.

The players are coming off a three-month winter break to face one of the world's best one-day sides and an Indian team that is difficult to beat at home.

New Zealand will have a one-day match upon arrival in South Africa — New Zealand's first tour there for 32 years followed by three, three-day matches before the first Test in Johannesburg.

In between the first and second Tests against South Africa, there is a six-game one-day programme against South Africa, Pakistan and Sri Lanka, followed by the last two Test matches.

Captain Ken Rutherford, who, with vice-captain and star batsman Martin Crowe, has a critical role to play with the bat, believes it is a tour on which players have the chance to cement international places.

"I guess I'm asking players to stand up and say that's my spot," Rutherford said.

KEN RUTHERFORD

THE ITINERARY

Oct. 26: vs. West Indies, Goa.
Oct. 28: vs. India, Baroda.
Nov. 1: vs. West Indies, Guwahati.
Nov. 3: vs. India, Delhi.
Nov. 5: one-day final, Calcutta (if New Zealand qualifies).
Nov. 9: vs. Select XI, Halfway House, near Johannesburg.
Nov. 11-13: vs. Northern Transvaal, Pretoria.
Nov. 15-17: vs. Combined Bowl 11, Kimberley.
Nov. 19-22: vs. Orange Free State, Bloemfontein.
Nov. 25-29: vs. SOUTH AFRICA, first Test, Johannesburg.
Dec. 1: vs. President's XI, Soweto.
Dec. 3: vs. Transvaal, Johannesburg.
Dec. 6: vs. South Africa, Cape Town (day/night).
Dec. 8: vs. Sri Lanka, Bloemfontein (d/n).
Dec. 11: vs. South Africa, Pretoria.
Dec. 13: vs. Pakistan, Port Elizabeth (d/n).
Dec. 18: vs. Sri Lanka, East London.
Dec. 19: vs. Pakistan, East London (d/n).
Dec. 21-23: vs. Boland, Stellenbosch.
Dec. 26-30: vs. SOUTH AFRICA, second Test, Durban.
Jan. 2-6: vs. SOUTH AFRICA, third Test, Cape Town.

Of Kiwi bottle top bandits

AUCKLAND, Oct 23: The New Zealand cricket team resorted to ball tampering with a bottle top to counter a dominant Pakistan on the New Zealanders' 1990 tour, Test bowler Willie Watson said Sunday, reports AP.

The tactic was used after New Zealand were thrashed in the opening two Tests, with Wasim Akram and Waqar Younis "bowling at another level," Watson was quoted as saying in the Sunday Star Times newspaper.

Before the third Test, during practice, New Zealand captain Martin Crowe experimented with a ball he had scratched on one side, Watson said.

Mark Greatbatch volun-

Emergency to take Healy's place

SYDNEY, Oct 23: Australian selectors on Sunday summoned New South Wales captain Phil Emery to replace injured wicketkeeper Ian Healy for the remainder of the Pakistan tour, reports Reuters.

Healy broke his left thumb during Australia's nine wicket defeat against Pakistan in a limited overs international in Rawalpindi on Saturday.

He is likely to be in plaster for up to three weeks and Emery is expected to take his place behind the stumps for the one-day series final against Pakistan in Lahore next week.

Courier, Rosset race to final

LYON, France, Oct 23: Jim Courier of the US and Marc Rosset of Switzerland swept aside their opponents with ease on Saturday on their way to the final of the Lyon men's tennis indoor tournament, reports Reuters.

Rosset, the fifth seed, caused the major upset with a crushing 6-2, 6-2 defeat of top seed Andrei Medvedev of Ukraine while fourth seed Courier dismissed unseeded Russian Andrei Chesnokov 6-3, 6-4.

Courier, the former world number one but now ranked 14th, will be seeking his first ATP Tour victory in 14 months today following a dismal season in which he has reached only one tournament final.

Rosset will be bidding for his second title of the year after winning in Marseille in February.

His semifinal against Medvedev was a one-sided performance, marred by some poor line-calls which seemed to disturb the Ukrainian. But Rosset was always in command and Medvedev had little answer to his powerful serve.

Of today's final, Rosset, who won this tournament four years ago, said: "It'll be a clash between two players who hit the ball very hard. Jim has played terrific tennis this week and it was a pleasure to watch."

The pair have met six times before, with each winning three times.

Courier said he was gradually returning to his best form after a string of poor results.

"I feel much better, both physically and mentally, and I hope to improve still more. I'm happy with my game and we'll see what happens tomorrow," he said after dispatching Chesnokov in one and a half hours teered to take a bottle top on to the field for the third Test in Faisalabad and Chris Pringle responded with an 11-wicket haul in the match as New Zealand almost pulled off an unlikely victory, Watson said.

Crowe refused Sunday to

WILLIE WATSON

comment on the allegations, but another player involved in the match confirmed that the ball was damaged when the New Zealanders huddled together at the fall of Pakistan wickets. Greatbatch could not be contacted.

New Zealand Cricket chairman Peter McDermott said he did not condone the behaviour. "I think it's a case of the players reacting strongly and trying to play the same way they felt the opposition was doing."

Medium pacer Watson makes the revelations in "Willie's Tail — Bouncers, Bottle Tops and Bombs," a booklet released for his benefit session with Auckland.

Watson said Crowe started to swing the scratched ball "all over the place" during prac-

"Bowlers have to prove themselves, prove they can take 20 wickets to win a Test match, and we haven't done that for a long time."

The New Zealand team: Ken Rutherford (captain), Martin Crowe, Bryan Young, Blair Hartland, Darrin Murray, Stephen Fleming, Shane Thomson, Chris Harris, Adam Parore, Lee Germon, Matthew Hart, Dion Nash, Chris Pringle, Murphy Su'a, Richard de Groen, Simon Doull.

If New Zealand qualifies for the one-day finals, they will be played at Cape Town (day/night) on Jan. 10, Johannesburg (day/night) Jan. 12, and Pretoria (day) Jan. 14.

—AFP photo

tic. "Martin let us into his little secret: the night before he had spent a couple of hours scratching the leather off one side with the help of a bottle top."

"The bowlers immediately tried this out with a hint of success: The Bottle Top Bandits were born," wrote Watson.

Watson said that was the only time New Zealand players tampered with the ball.

"We all sort of did it (scruffed the ball) to be honest. But that's the first and last time we've done it to my knowledge," he said Sunday.

New Zealand had suspected tampering by Pakistan in the first two internationals and felt these were substantiated when they saw the second Test ball Pakistan had used.

"For some reason the Pakistanis changed the ball while some of us were outside the dressing room mucking around, so we went and had a poke at it — one side seemed to have appreciably less leather than the other," Watson said.

His revelations — the first admission by a New Zealand player — are certain to re-ignite international controversy over ball tampering, which is believed to enhance "reverse swing."

Pakistan great Imran Khan resigned his position this year as an International Cricket Council delegate after admitting in his biography that he used a bottle top to scratch the ball while playing for Sussex in England in 1991.

The row reached a peak in 1992 when England batsman Allan Lamb accused Wasim and Waqar of cheating during the one-day international between England and Pakistan at Lord's.

Watson said Crowe started to swing the scratched ball "all over the place" during prac-

tic. "Martin let us into his little secret: the night before he had spent a couple of hours scratching the leather off one side with the help of a bottle top."

"The bowlers immediately tried this out with a hint of success: The Bottle Top Bandits were born," wrote Watson.

Watson said that was the only time New Zealand players tampered with the ball.

"We all sort of did it (scruffed the ball) to be honest. But that's the first and last time we've done it to my knowledge," he said Sunday.

New Zealand had suspected tampering by Pakistan in the first two internationals and felt these were substantiated when they saw the second Test ball Pakistan had used.

"For some reason the Pakistanis changed the ball while some of us were outside the dressing room mucking around, so we went and had a poke at it — one side seemed to have appreciably less leather than the other," Watson said.

His revelations — the first admission by a New Zealand player — are certain to re-ignite international controversy over ball tampering, which is believed to enhance "reverse swing."

Pakistan great Imran Khan resigned his position this year as an International Cricket Council delegate after admitting in his biography that he used a bottle top to scratch the ball while playing for Sussex in England in 1991.

The row reached a peak in 1992 when England batsman Allan Lamb accused Wasim and Waqar of cheating during the one-day international between England and Pakistan at Lord's.

Watson said Crowe started to swing the scratched ball "all over the place" during prac-

tic. "Martin let us into his little secret: the night before he had spent a couple of hours scratching the leather off one side with the help of a bottle top."

Relentless Reefat

Sports Reporter

On completion of the fifth round matches of the 11th Gazi Mottahar Hossain International Master's chess tournament yesterday, the top of the points table scenario remained somewhat similar to that of the day before with national champion IM Reefat bin Sattar singularly leading with full five points.

At the conference room of the National Sports Council, Reefat, playing with white pieces, penetrated Abdullah al-Rakib's Carocan Defence in only 30 moves.

Defending champion Pakistan's IM Mahmood Ahmed Khan Lodhi shared the second position with Indian V Sharanavan, both having four points. Lodhi, the all too familiar Pathan, had to manoeuvre for 43 moves before finally opening up Indian IM Lanka Ravi's Dutch Defence. Ravi's compatriot Sharavanan, however, made most of the Alapine variation of the Sicilian Defence against Hasibul Hassan's white pieces and forced resignation in only 28 moves.

Ravi Hedge, another Indian IM, opened his encounter against Nahid Miyazid of Bangladesh with the queen's pawn and won in 51 moves. Hedge and Ravi are in the third place with three and a half points each.

The second Bangladeshi IM in the 14-man fray, Ziaur Rahman upped his collection to three points with a victory over compatriot Taiyebur Rahman in 51 moves. Zia declined to play in the line of queen's gambit against Rahman's white pieces and pushed his opponent in a virtual no-go position.

Kalimullah Khan remained glued to his paltry one point haul when he succumbed to yet another loss against IM Shekhar Chandra Sahu of India in 29 moves. Khan's Slav defence was simply inadequate to withstand Sahu's onslaught.

FIDE master Syed Tahmidur Rahman and Maruf Ahmed agreed to draw after only 21 moves in a game of queen's pawn opening.

Edberg gets into groove

HONG KONG, Oct 23: World number five Stefan Edberg limbered up for next month's ATP Tour World Championship in Frankfurt and Sweden's Davis Cup final against Russia with victory in an exhibition tournament in Hong Kong on Sunday, reports Reuters.

Edberg defeated defending champion Richard Krajicek of the Netherlands 6-3, 7-6, 6-3 with a sharp serve and volley display.

"Today I had a great day at the office," said Edberg, who picked up a cheque for 220,000 dollars. "My reactions were quick and I returned serve every well. This is good preparation for Frankfurt and the Davis Cup final."

Krajicek, a virtual ace machine in his semifinal victory over world number one Pete Sampras, could not get his big serve in the groove against Edberg.

"I did not serve as well today," he said. "Stefan was very sharp at the net especially on the big points."

Novotna wards Halard off

BRIGHTON, England, Oct 23: Title-holder Jana Novotna staved off a fierce challenge from Julie Halard of France on Saturday to claim a place in the final of the Brighton international women's indoor tournament, reports Reuters.

Novotna will face fellow Czech Helena Sukova in today's final after the 1990 runner-up beat Latvia's Larisa Neiland 6-4, 0-6, 7-5 in the second semifinal.

Second seed Novotna achieved her fifth successive straight-sets victory over seventh seed Halard but had to battle hard in the second set, twice recovering service breaks, before wrapping up a 6-3, 7-5 victory in 94 minutes.

She described Halard's play as "ugly" but the French player's ferocious groundstroke battery from the back of the court was highly effective, if not pretty.

It was very tough, especially in the second set. She is a very difficult player to face because she hits the ball so hard to keep you behind the baseline and then throws in a short ball. She is very unpredictable," Novotna said.

Halard's resistance looked short-lived initially when she was broken twice from 3-3 in the first set and trailed 0-1 in the second. But the French player suddenly lifted her game to give Novotna a fight.

"My self-confidence is building up all the time and I never thought for one moment that I would not win this match," said Novotna, who won her last tournament in Leipzig three weeks ago.

"It was good to have a difficult match like that before the final because I haven't really had a tough test like that all week."

Indian IM Ravi Hedge moves his knight to force Mizaid's queen to retreat during their fifth round match of the eleventh QM Hossain International Masters' chess tournament at the National Sports Council conference room yesterday. Hedge won the match in the 51st move. — Star photo

Johnson outpoints Segura

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Oct 23: Tom "Boom Boom" Johnson kept his IBF featherweight title on the national stage he wanted, reports AP.

Whether he got the kind of audience he wanted for the points victory over Pancho Segura on a Saturday when most of his American countrymen were watching college football is another matter.

Th 12-round fight in a ballroom at Bally's Park Place was the third of a five-bout nationally televised series by the CBS network. It is understood that ratings have been disappointing. Fall Saturdays are traditionally spent watching American college football while Sunday's are reserved for professional football.

"Hopefully now, people know Tom Johnson," said Johnson, who before the fight had called himself "the most active world champion nobody knows."

Anyone who did tune to see Johnson's fifth defence of this share of the featherweight title saw a good action bout, which was much tougher for the champion than the scoring indicated.

Judges Al DeVito and Joe Pasquale of the United States scored it for Johnson 118-110. Judge Bernie Cormier of Canada favoured the champion 117-111.

The AP card favoured

Aouita's fall from grace

RABAT, Oct 23: World 2,000 metres record holder Said Aouita has been sacked as technical director of the Royal Moroccan Athletics Federation (FRMA), newspapers said today, reports Reuters.

They said the FRMA had accused Aouita of criticising federation members training methods and of "wanting to impose an individual management."

The FRMA said Aouita, appointed technical director last December, "possessed no diploma and no qualifications giving him the right to assume the role of national trainer."

A leading Moroccan sports writer said on Sunday, "Aouita doesn't need diplomas as he holds two Olympic records and has beaten five world records during the past 10 years."

Johnson 117-111. "He fought like a champion, but he was fighting a champion," said Johnson, who said he wasn't surprised about the one-sided scoring.

"I'm disappointed in the scoring," said Segura, who weighed 125 1-2 pounds (56.8 kilogram). "I don't think it was that far apart. The last two rounds I won without a doubt."

All three judges gave Segura, from the United States, the 11th round, but they favoured Johnson in the 12th.

Johnson, 126 pounds (57 kilograms), controlled the fight from the outset, scoring well with left jabs, body shots and counter punches. But Segura, who was hurt by a right to the head in the second round, kept coming.

Johnson, whose purse was $120,000 for his first commercial network appearance, extended his winning streak to 11 fights. His record is 37-2 with one draw and 23 knockouts.

Segura, who had a five-fight unbeaten streak ended, earned $120,000.

Segura, who had a five-fight unbeaten streak ended, earned $120,000.

Segura, who had a five-fight unbeaten streak ended, earned $120,000.

Segura, who had a five-fight unbeaten streak ended, earned $120,000.

Segura, who had a five-fight unbeaten streak ended, earned $120,000.

Segura, who had a five-fight unbeaten streak ended, earned $120,000.

Segura, who had a five-fight unbeaten streak ended, earned $120,000.

Segura, who had a five-fight unbeaten streak ended, earned $120,000.

Segura, who had a five-fight unbeaten streak ended, earned $120,000.

Segura, who had a five-fight unbeaten streak ended, earned $120,000.

Segura, who had a five-fight unbeaten streak ended, earned $120,000.

Segura, who had a five-fight unbeaten streak ended, earned $120,000.

Segura, who had a five-fight unbeaten streak ended, earned $120,000.

Segura, who had a five-fight unbeaten streak ended, earned $120,000.

Segura, who had a five-fight unbeaten streak ended, earned $120,000.

Segura, who had a five-fight unbeaten streak ended, earned $120,000.

Segura, who had a five-fight unbeaten streak ended, earned $120,000.

Segura, who had a five-fight unbeaten streak ended, earned $120,000.

Segura, who had a five-fight unbeaten streak ended, earned $120,000.

Segura, who had a five-fight unbeaten streak ended, earned $120,000.

Segura, who had a five-fight unbeaten streak ended, earned $120,000.

Segura, who had a five-fight unbeaten streak ended, earned $120,000.

Segura, who had a five-fight unbeaten streak ended, earned $120,000.

Segura, who had a five-fight unbeaten streak ended, earned $120,000.

Chang's second

BEIJING, Oct 23: Top-seeded Michael Chang of the United States retained his Beijing Open singles title here Sunday by beating Anders Jarryd of Sweden 7-5, 7-5, reports AP.

Chang, the world number seven, took one hour and 37 minutes to put away Jarryd in front of an appreciative audience and take the 350,000 dollar title for the second year running.

In the absence of other major international stars, the week-long competition was like a training session for the 22-year-old Chang, although Jarryd fought stubbornly in the final.

Ranked 138 on the ATP circuit, the Swede never managed to seriously threaten Chang, except when he won three break points at 5-5 in the first set.

The second set was perfectly negotiated by Chang, whose well-executed cross court shots did not leave Jarryd a chance.

The victory won Chang 42,600 dollars, or the equivalent of what the average Chinese would earn in a lifetime. He also won 140 ATP points.

Graf starts training today

BONN, Oct 23: Steffi Graf is to start training Monday after five weeks rest because of a back injury, her father Peter said here Saturday, reports AP.

The German world number one plans to play in Philadelphia, USA, from November 7 to start training Monday after five weeks rest because of a back injury, her father Peter said here Saturday, reports AP.

She was also out of the WTA tournament in Zurich earlier this month and the current indoor tournament in Brighton, England.

Burns leads

RICHARD BURNS, one of the rallying world's hottest young properties, opened a six second lead on the first day of the 3800km 555 Hong Kong Beijing rally when both the pre-event favourites lost time in accidents, says a press release.

Possum, Bourne Burns teammate at the 555 Subaru World rally team and the reigning Asia Pacific rally champion stalled his car during Stage One on Hong Kong's historic Stonecutters Island.

After a three hour blast across the border (past thousands of spectators) into Guangdong province, Richard Burns benefited not only from another mistake by Bourne but by Mitsubishi driver Kenneth Eriksson as well. Mitsubishi and Subaru are locked in battle for the 1994 Asia Pacific rally championship.

Burns' lead is useful but is not likely to make his adversaries worry with over 3000kms to go before the rally finishes in Tiananmen Square on Friday morning.

Burns' lead is useful but is not likely to make his adversaries worry with over 3000kms to go before the rally finishes in Tiananmen Square on Friday morning.

Burns' lead is useful but is not likely to make his adversaries worry with over 3000kms to go before the rally finishes in Tiananmen Square on Friday morning.

Burns' lead is useful but is not likely to make his adversaries worry with over 3000kms to go before the rally finishes in Tiananmen Square on Friday morning.

Burns' lead is useful but is not likely to make his adversaries worry with over 3000kms to go before the rally finishes in Tiananmen Square on Friday morning.

Burns' lead is useful but is not likely to make his adversaries worry with over 3000kms to go before the rally finishes in Tiananmen Square on Friday morning.

Burns' lead is useful but is not likely to make his adversaries worry with over 3000kms to go before the rally finishes in Tiananmen Square on Friday morning.

Burns' lead is useful but is not likely to make his adversaries worry with over 3000kms to go before the rally finishes in Tiananmen Square on Friday morning.

Burns' lead is useful but is not likely to make his adversaries worry with over 3000kms to go before the rally finishes in Tiananmen Square on Friday morning.

Burns' lead is useful but is not likely to make his adversaries worry with over 3000kms to go before the rally finishes in Tiananmen Square on Friday morning.

Burns' lead is useful but is not likely to make his adversaries worry with over 3000kms to go before the rally finishes in Tiananmen Square on Friday morning.

Burns' lead is useful but is not likely to make his adversaries worry with over 3000kms to go before the rally finishes in Tiananmen Square on Friday morning.

Burns' lead is useful but is not likely to make his adversaries worry with over 3000kms to go before the rally finishes in Tiananmen Square on Friday morning.

Burns' lead is useful but is not likely to make his adversaries worry with over 3000kms to go before the rally finishes in Tiananmen Square on Friday morning.

Burns' lead is useful but is not likely to make his adversaries worry with over 3000kms to go before the rally finishes in Tiananmen Square on Friday morning.

Burns' lead is useful but is not likely to make his adversaries worry with over 3000kms to go before the rally finishes in Tiananmen Square on Friday morning.

Burns' lead is useful but is not likely to make his adversaries worry with over 3000kms to go before the rally finishes in Tiananmen Square on Friday morning.

Burns' lead is useful but is not likely to make his adversaries worry with over 3000kms to go before the rally finishes in Tiananmen Square on Friday morning.

CROSSWORD By Eugene Sheffer

ACROSS
1 Marceau portrayal	35 Right on the map?	3 It may support your bust	19 Third party?
4 The height of fashion?	36 Eerie artist of Edward	4 Thatcher's successor	20 Sci-fi movie villain
8 Bloke	37 Apprehension	5 Currier's partner	21 Verdi opus
12 Exploit	40 Unload all at once	6 Postal Creed word	22 Alaskan islander
13 City near Cleveland	41 Satyr's counterpart	7 Squid squirt	23 Speechless
14 Jeans-maker Strauss	42 Overenergetic one	8 Insurance agent's paperwork	25 Animation units
15 He's often asked, "What's the scoop?"	46 "God's Little —"	9 Frau's mate	26 Having an undue salary
17 Battle cry									