'Popular support a must for success
of privatisation'

By Staff Correspondent

The government's privatisation programme cannot be implemented successfully unless it gets popular support from the employees of the public enterprises and the people at large.

This was the view expressed by Industries Secretary A H M Abdul Hye while narrating his experiences on privatisation in Chile at a seminar held Thursday at the Dhaka Sheraton Hotel.

Abdul Hye, who recently returned from a trip to the South American country, said the main factor that made Chile's privatisation programme a success was the popularisation of the programme among the workers.

Authorities in that country managed to obtain support from the workers by undertaking various programmes like "popular capitalisation," "workers' capitalisation" and "indirect capitalisation," he said.

Explaining the process of privatising Chile's public enterprises, he said the authorities did not stick to any particular method. Rather, they used various methods simultaneously depending on the demands of the situation.

He said Bangladesh should also take lesson from Chile's experience in privatisation — lauded internationally for its success — and adopt a broad-based policy for implementing the government's privatisation programme.

The main objective of privatisation should, however, be to broaden the ownership base of the enterprises, the Industries Secretary said, adding that for this the method of selling shares through the stock market would be very useful.

Bangladesh Water
Development Board
River Bank Protection Project
Brahmaputra Right Bank Priority WorksInvitation for Prequalification

1. This notice for prequalification for specific works follows the General Procurement Notice for this project which appeared in "Development Business," number 371, dated July 31, 1993.

2. The Government of Bangladesh, through the Ministry of Water Resources, has applied for a credit from the International Development Association (IDA) for the rehabilitation of two groynes and construction of river bank protection revetments at three locations on the bank of the Brahmaputra River. It is intended that part of the proceeds of this proposed credit will be applied to the payments under the contracts for which this prequalification is required.

3. The works to be constructed consist of linear concrete block armored revetments (with upstream and downstream terminations) on a fascine mattress with geotextile filter membrane placed on a stable slope reconstructed by dredging and/or reclamation by hydraulic fill. An alternative design, also to be tendered, comprises of a combination of concrete blocks and rock armoring. In view of the magnitude and specialized nature of the works, and short construction season, mainly equipment intensive construction is envisaged.

4. The proposed project is divided into two contracts as follows:

- (a) Contract No. B1 for two adjacent revetments totalling 1.6 km developed length at Sariakandi and Mathurapara (between latitudes 24°50' and 24°55' North) and rehabilitation of Kalitola Groyne at Sanakandi; and
- (b) Contract No. B2 for reconstruction of existing revetment at Sirajganj town (latitude 24°28' North) to a 2.5 km developed length to include incorporating the existing Ranigram Groyne in the upstream termination.

The principal work items based on current estimates (including dredging in water depths of up to 14 meters) for these contracts are:

Item	Contract No B1	Contract No B2
Dredging (cu. m.)	600,000	2,200,000
Hydraulic fill from dredging (cu. m.)	150,000	1,650,000
Geotextile (sq. m.)	160,000	190,000
Concrete block armoring (brick aggregate option) (cu. m.)	150,000	180,000

The envisaged durations of contracts B1 and B2 are 24 and 36 months respectively. The two contracts will be bid concurrently through international competitive bidding (ICB) procedures under "Guidelines: Procurement under IBRD Loans and IDA Credits" and it is planned that contracts will be awarded during 1995.

5. Prequalification of potential bidders for the two contracts will be done concurrently in accordance with IDA Guidelines. Contractors and/or voluntarily formed joint ventures from eligible source countries who have experienced with similar works are invited by the Bangladesh Water Development Board (BWDB) to prequalify for one or more of the contracts, and should specify for which contract(s) they seek prequalification. Evaluation will be based on threshold criteria related to an applicant's relevant experience, personnel and equipment capabilities, financial position and litigation history. Applicants for two contracts will have to meet more stringent criteria in each threshold category.

6. Applicants may obtain the prequalification documents by request in writing and payment of a non-refundable fee of Takā 2000 or US$ 50, sent to the first address below. The closing date for receipt of all applications is January 31, 1995. Copies should also be sent to BWDB's Consulting Engineers at the second address below:

Bangladesh Water Development Board
WAPDA Building, Motiheel C/A

Telex No: 44844 HALWIL G

7. The advertisement for prequalification was first published in August, 1993 and prequalification applications for the same work were received in October 1993, but due to delay in tendering, those are no longer valid. Applicants who responded to the first advertisement in October 1993 and were prequalified, will be contacted by BWDB to update their earlier application. Applicants who have not been so notified by BWDB must resubmit new documentation for prequalification following purchase of prequalification documents as described above.
