Ambassador of France in Bangladesh Jean-Michel Lacombe and his wife at a press briefing yesterday announced that they would hold a charity auction sale of French luxury products tomorrow at their Gulshan residence.

Some 30 reputed French companies donated the items which will be auctioned. These include jewellery and per fumes by big names like Cartier, Hermes, Dior and Lacoste. French chiffons designer ties and bags will also be on sale.

This will be the second time such an auction will take place. The proceeds of the sale will go to an orphanage of Mother Teresa, the Central Women's University and Women's Voluntary Association.

The French envoy commented that it was the success of last year's auction sale which brought in Tk 550,000 that encouraged him and his wife to hold an auction for the second time. This year, I am hoping we will get from 8 to 9 lakh Taka," remarked Madame Lacombe.

thinking of opening outlets in Dhaka.

This country has changed a lot." said the French Ambassador adding that he would ask French investors to invest into Bangladesh.

The auction will be conducted by two professional auctioneers - Ali Munir, a Bangladeshi and Tony Fields, a Briton. The auction will begin at 6 pm and continue till midnight. It will be held at the French Ambassador's resi dence (House 7, Road-99 Gulshani

The auction sale is part of three-day programme to celebrate the coming Eid-ul-Fitr The Eid festival includes colourful fashion show, food festival, soirce of classical music and varieties of children programmes. The fashion show will be presented by Bibi Russel, an internationally reputed model and designer and Naseema Hasan Akhi, another designer.

The charity auction sale and other events of the Eid festival will be open to all. The programme, apart from raising funds for charity will also promote French culture.

Bengal cities led expansion of modern civilisation' desh and West Bengal observed that the cities of the then Bengal had played a pioneering role in expansion of modern civilization and flourishing socio-cultural heritage in this part of the sub-continent, reports BSS.

They were taking part in the deliberations of a three-day special conference on 'the city in history and culture, of Bengal" which began yesterday morning at Dhaka University under the auspices of the Centre for Advanced Research in Humanities.

Vice Chancellor of the University Prof. Emajuddin Ahmed inaugurated the conference at the Lecture Theatre while president of the centre Prof. Abdul Momin Chowdhury presided over the thaugural session. Director of the centre Prof. Fakhrul Alam also spoke.

Three separate sessions were held where six papers on various subjects were read out. The first session, the city in
