BREFLY

Israeli police remove Knesset member Shaul Gutmann from the Jerusalem Old City mosque compound as he tries to hold a prayer on Wednesday at Al Aqsa Mosque. -AFP/UNB photo

7 escape from LTTE camp: Seven youth forced to join the Tamil Tiger guerilla group have escaped from their training camps in the jungles of eastern Sri Lanka, an official said on Thursday, AP reports from Colombo.

Six of them, aged between 10 and 17 years escaped and reported to the military, said army spokesman Brig. Nihal Jayakody.

3 beheaded in Saudia Arabia: Two Pakistanis and Chadian convicted of drug trafficking were beheaded in Saudi Arabia on Wednesday, bringing to 42 the number of people executed this year, AFP reports from Riyadh.

The Interior Ministry said the three had been found guilty of smuggling heroin into Saudi Arabia by hiding it in their in-Sihanouk in China for check-up: Cambodian King Norodom Sihanouk has arrived in Beijing for a routine check-up on his cancer condition, the Xinhua news agency said, AFP reports from Beijing.

The king flew in late Wednesday by special plane from Phnom Penh and was greeted at Beijing airport by Chinese Vice Foreign Minister Tang Jiaxun.

One convicted for bilking $ 69m: A Texas socialite has been convicted of running an international pyramid scheme that bilked 69 million dollar from investors worldwide, AP reports from Houston.

Jurors deliberated for about three hours Wednesday before convicting Teresa Rodriguez on all 32 counts of mail fraud. wire fraud and money laundering. US District Judge Sim Lake denied bond and she was taken into custody.

Ex-first lady to pay $3000: Former first lady Hema Premadasa has been ordered to pay 150,000 rupees (3,000 dollar) to a maid she employed for 15 years without wages, officials said on Thursday, AP reports from Colombo.

Kokmaduwage Kalkanthi worked for Premadasa since the age of seven on the assurance she would be sent to school.

Kerosene pollutes Kara Sea: About 1,800 tons of kerosene fuel has leaked into a frozen harbour on the Kara Sea in the arctic region of northern Russia and could cause serious pollution, a news agency reported on Thursday, AP reports from Moscow.

The Federal Ministry for Emergencies said the break occurred in a fuel pipeline at an aviation plant located (2,300 kilometres) 1,400 miles northeast of Moscow, the ITAR-Tass news agency reported.

UK urged to rejoin UNESCO: The man who led Britain out of UNESCO in 1985 said on Wednesday it was time to rejoin. AP reports from London. "It was never intended to be a permanent step," Lord Howe said of Britain's decision to pull out of the United Na tions Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organisation.

6 die in Egyptian train attack: suspected Muslim militants killed five people and wounded three others on Wednesday after climbing aboard a passenger train to attack police guards. One of the attackers was slain in return fire by detectives, AP reports from Cairo.

The killing brought to nine the number of people shot dead on Wednesday in Egypt's troubled south. The others were suspected radicals who died during a police raid on their hideout

Algerian forces kill 3 rebels: Three Islamic extremists who took refuge in a schoolhouse on Wednesday were killed in a clash with security forces that left six children injured, authorities said. AP reports from Algiers. Security forces said the children were injured by the extremists. Two of the children were seriously hurt, according to an official communique that provided no information on the circumstances of the shootout or the children's ages.

2 Israelis held in Gaza: Palestinian police in the Gaza Strip, self-rule enclave, arrested two Israelis on Wednesday for trying to pass counterfeit money, Israeli radio stations, quoting Palestinian police sources said, Reuter reports from Jerusalem.

Palestinian police were not immediately available to comment. The Israeli army said it was checking the report.

Submarine-ship collision: A nuclearpowered US submarine collided with a freighter in Hong Kong waters but no radioactive material leaked, the US Consulate said on Thursday. AP reports from Hong Kong.

The incident, described by a Hong Kong spokesman as more a bump than a collision, happened a week ago. the Panamanian-registered container ship sustained a slight dent to its bow, while the submarine, the USS Drum, was undamaged, said Marine Department spokesman Patrick Wong. The submarine was not submerged at the time, he said.

Baghdad demands withdrawal of forces

Turkish troops advance 40 km into Iraqi territory

ANKARA, Mar 23: Turkev's military thrust into Iraq to crush Kurdish rebels threatened today to provoke a rift with its NATO allies, although Ankara says the operation will be limited and "will not take months or years," reports Reuter.

With up to 35,000 troops engaged in a fourth day of ground and air attacks deep in northern Iraq. Baghdad has. condemned the Turkish incursion and demanded the troops be withdrawn.

Turkey's forces have advanced 40 km (25 miles) into Iraq and its jets have bombed targets there. Army officers near the Iraqi town of Zakho said Turkish soldiers were closing in from two sides on a Kurdistan Workers Party (PKK) border base.

Western governments and human rights groups, fearing for the safety of Kurdish refugees and thousands of other civilians, have urged Ankara to show restraint. In its first official comment

TOKYO, Mar 23: Police arrested a member of a shadowy cult following a dramatic car chase in western Japan, and military chemical specialists

were called in when suspicious substances were found in the

down on the Aum Shinri Kyo

cult, which is under a growing cloud of suspicion in the Tokyo subway nerve gas attack, authorities also launched a second round of searches at cult patched 14 dangerous-chemicals specialists to the scene of the arrest, near Hikone in

The Japanese military dis-

Amid an intensifying crack-car, reports AP.

facilities.

since the operation began on Monday, Iraq said it was "a violation of its sovereignty."

Prime Minister Tansu Ciller said this was "not the case at all." She said the assault would be limited, without specifying.

"It will take as long as it takes to ensure that the camps are no longer there," she said in a live interview with CNN international television. "It will not take months or years."

Military officials said about 200 guerillas and 13 soldiers had been killed since the operation began at dawn on Monday. Iraqi Kurds say at least one civilian had been killed, and others hurt, but Turkey denies all such claims. The assault threatened disarray within NATO, with the United States tacitly endorsing the incursion as its European allies questioned its legality and raised fears for thousands of refugees and civilians in Kurdish-controlled northern

Twenty-two members of Arab League represented by Foreign Ministers begin a two-day session in Cairo on Wednesday, to call for limited renewal of the nuclear Non-Proliferation Treaty until Israel joins. This 103rd session marks the 50th anniversary of Arab League.

Tokyo police nab Aum man western Japan. The military squad was treating the automobile with chemicals so it could be safely examined, offi-

a traffic violation and then tried to evade police, running red lights and crashing into a footage of the chase. The police and military blocked off the area, and residents could police wearing protective gear and carrying caged canaries as gas detectors carried out new be seen looking on anxiously.

The driver was stopped for Japanese TV showed

Meanwhile, more than 500

cials said.

truck.

"Turkey's actions in north Iraq give rise to the greatest concern," said German Foreign Minister Klaus Kinkel.

Kinkel, due in Ankara for a visit today by past, present and future European Union (EU). presidents, was joined by Britain in urging Turkey to tread carefully in its biggest assault on PKK bases.

French Foreign Minister Alain Juppe on Tuesday said the incursion broke basic principles of international law and that the air and ground raids violated Iraq's sovereignty.

Norway on Wednesday barred arms exports to Turkey, citing a law referring to countries at war or in warlike situations.

The United Nations said it was worried about refugees, particularly 4,500 Turkish Kurds settled in border villages. It fears Turkish forces may have seized some near the border town of Zakho and taken them back to Turkey.

-AFP/UNB photo

searches and took soil samples

Thursday at a rural religious commune near Mount Fuji

where they found nerve-gas

Media reports said more unspecified chemicals were found at the site. Raids

Wednesday on 25 of the group's properties across

Japan also turned up nerve-gas solvent. 22 pounds of gold and Several members of the Aum Shinri Kyo group, whose name means Sublime Truth

were arrested Wednesday in a kidnapping case unrelated to the Tokyo subway attack.

7.9 million dollars in cash.

solvent the previous day.

It was echoed by aid and rights groups, including the International Committee of the Red Cross and Amnesty International, in its concern.

For all the diplomatic and humanitarian risks involved. Turkey's heavy-handed show of force is unlikely to score strongly against well-trained, highly-mobile Kurdish guerillas, according to military ana-

One said the guerillas had probably moved out of the area. leaving civilians to bear the brunt of the attack.

Soldiers in Zakho acknowledged PKK mines were hindering an assault on the rebels' Haftanin Camp, to the east. They said many guerillas had slipped away before the incursion, with only a token force left at some of the PKK positions being attacked.

Ciller said Turkey, a target of Western criticism on human rights, was not jeopardising aspirations for closer relations with Europe as the assault was clearly against "terrorists."

Belgian FM resigns BRUSSELS, Mar 23: Belgian

Foreign Minister Franck Vandenbroucke resigned on Wednesday after being impli cated in a bribery scandal, offi cial sources said, reports AFP.

His decision to step down came after he admitted being aware of a secret bank account allegedly used by his Flemish socialist party to hoard cash generated by bribes.

Reuter adds. NATO Secre-Vandenbroucke.

named foreign minister in October after Claes moved to -NATO, and the alliance chief have both been linked to a scandal over alleged bribes connected to a helicopter deal involving the Italian firm Augusta.

Iran rejects Perry's charge as 'baseless'

UNITED NATIONS, Mar 23 Iran's UN mission on Wednesday rejected as "baseless" and "fictitious" a charge by US Defence Secretary William Perry that Tehran had deployed chemical weapons as part of a military buildup on islands at the mouth of the Gulf, reports

it also said the claim that Iran's defensive actions in its territories might pose a threat to the stability of the Gulf or its littoral states was a "distortion

The Iranian mission was commenting in a press release on statements by Perry during a visit to the United Arab Emirates that Iran had moved chemical weapons, about 6,000 troops and anti-ship missiles to the island in what he said was a potential threat to shipping.

boycott talks on E Timor

sia said on Thursday it would sponsored talks on East Timor despite its protests over the UN secretary general's push to include key dissident figures from the territory, reports Reuter.

agency quoted Foreign Minister Ali Alatas as saying that he had officially expressed disappointment over the way the UN Secretary General Boutres Boutros Ghali invited participants without consulting

tary-General Willy Cales faced increasing pressure to quit today over a corruption scandal following the resignation of Belgian Foreign Minister Frank

Vandenbroucke, who was

Reuter.

of logic and simple facts."

Indonesia won't

JAKARTA, Mar 23: Indone not boycott United Nations

The official Antara news

Off the Record

Baboon should not be blamed

CAPE TOWN, South Africa: A baboon that flung itself on electric cables to try to rescue its baby started a mountain fire and cut power to an area northeast of Cape Town, reports AP. A witness said the baby baboon became trapped Wednesday in an electric substation and the mother, in a desperate rescue bid, leaped on cables and caught fire, than fell into brush that began to burn, the South African Press Association reported. The fire spread up a mountain but was brought under control later Wednesday, while power to the area near Paarl, 50 kilometres (30 miles) from Cape Town, was out most of the day. The fate of the baby baboon was unknown.

Great Star of Africa diamond. Black township leaders in South Africa on Wednesday called on Britain's Queen Elizabeth II, currently on state visit to South Africa, to give back the jewel which was presented to King Edward VII in 1907. -AFP/UNB photo

'King and Queen' to be repaired

BUMFRIES, Scotland: A bronze sculpture by Henry Moore decapitated by vandals will be repaired, the artist's longtime assistant said Tuesday, reports AP.

For nearly 40 years "King and Queen" held a commanding position among several sculptures on a hill overlooking Dumfries, southwest Scotland, until someone sawed off the heads of the two seated figures sometime over the weekend. "It would have been easier to repair if ve had the heads of the two figures but they are missing," said John Farnham, an expert in transporting and repairing sculptures, including many of Moore's bulky masterpieces.

"We might have to cast new heads," he said, noting that molds of the sculpture still existed but that divers would explore a nearby reservoir Saturday in search of the originals. Farnham said he wasn't sure whether "King and Queen' would then be returned to the open-air art gallery outside Dumfries that contains works by Moore, Rodin and others.

The sculpture park, established by a local property developer, had never been seriously vandalised before, police said. They have not speculated on a motive.

New Russian plan to end Balkan crisis unidentified diplomat close to

WASHINGTON, Mar 23: Russia will present a plan worked out with Serbia for ending the Balkan conflicts to the US Secretary of State Warren Christopher in Geneva today the Washington Times reported, says Reuter. Under the plan, the Serb

Republic of President Slobodan Milosevic would recognise the other former Yugoslav states in exchange for an end to United Nations sanctions against his government, the newspaper said in its today's edition. The Washington Times said it had obtained a copy of the peace plan which it described as having been worked out by Milosevic and Russian Foreign Minister Andrei Kozyrev. It said Kozyrev would present the proposal to Christopher in their second day of talks in Geneva. The newspaper, citing an the US-Russian meetings in Geneva, said the plan had "won the approval" of Bosnian Muslims who are said to have sent an envoy to meet Serbian leaders in Belgrade.

The newspaper quoted its source as saying Belgrade's goal, in addition to ending the economic sanctions, was to "kill" the US brokered anti-Serb Federation of Bosnia's Muslim-led government and Bosman Croats.

Bosnian Croat and Muslim forces fought in 1993 boosting the cause of their common enemy the separatist Serbs before a US mediated truce brought the two together last

As outlined by the Washington Times, the Russian-Serb the end of this month plan calls for a summit before

Israel orders 4

Zhirinovsky's proposal creates uproar in Duma

MOSCOW, Mar 23: A proposal by ultra-nationalist leader Vladimir Zhirinovsky for ethnic origin to be used to chose between applicants for Russian citizenship caused uproar in the Russian parliament on Wednesday, reports AFP.

An amendment by Zhirinovsky's Liberal Democratic Party to a Russian Citizenship Bill proposed that all inhabitants of the former Soviet republics of Russian origin should immediately be granted Russian citizenship if they wished.

Others would have to wait for up to six months for their application to be processed, according to the amendment.

Pyramids have become centre of pilgrimage for mystics CAIRO, Mar 23: Egypt's ancient pyramids have become a centre of pilgrimage for thousands of new age mystics who flock from around the world to seek the "energy" of the spirits

The granite walls of the pyramids and temples echo to the sound of chanting as this new brand of tourists - mostly

American and women - brave

the threat of Islamic militant violence in the search for in-

Eyes closed, hand-in-hand, around 20 Americans gathered in a circle in the heart of the 4.500-year-old great pyramid

Cheops.

in the funeral chamber of energy," barked a woman

dressed in a huge blue tee

"Breathe, concentrate your

of the Pharaohs, reports AFP.

One women cried as she prayed. Another adopted the lotus position and started up her video camera.

during congressional debate on welfare reform.

When the group emerged from the long corridor out of the pyramid their faces were flushed with pleasure. "It was a marvellous experience, spiritual as well as cultural," said Jane Cotton, a 63-year-old woman from Chicago.

Zahi Hawas, head of antiguities for the three pyramids of Cheops, Shephren and Mycerinos southwest of Cairo, said: "this sort of tourist is not put off by terrorism."

Mohammad Nazmy heads a tourism agency called Sphinx which specialises in spiritual trins, "Fyory wear we deal with years ago there were only 20 to 30," he said. He is already taking reservations for turn-of-the-century

1,500 to 2,000 people. Fifteen

US Republican Patricia Schroeder (C) speaks at a vigil to protest welfare reform on Capitol

Hill in Washington, DC on Wednesday as former representative Bella Abzug (L), a women's rights advocate, looks on. The vigil, by women, churches and poor people's groups, was held celebrations on December 31. The great pyramid, the only one of the seven wonders of the world still surviving, attracts its band of followers at Among them are the Rosi-cruciens, a California sect whose temple in San Jose is shaped like an Egyptian tem-The pyramids have a particular shape and were built spirit, they give certain vibrations, says the sect's representative in Egypt. Milad Zakhary.

"11/11" and "power places' organise gatherings of three to four hundred people at suitable times. Some dress entirely in white or in a tarboosh, a cap Andrew, a young Briton who came to Egypt with several friends, brought with him a "star gate", a copper structure which is supposed to create "a strong energy field."

Other groups such as

-AFP/UNB photo

Mystics must ask permission from the Egyptian antiquities office to visit the pyramids outside normal hours. They pay 35 dollars for a group of 15. and 15 dollars for each extra person.

according to the power of the "There are at least four to five groups a month, each one with around 20 people. Most are Americans and women."

said Mohammad Hemeida, a local inspector of antiquities.

Egyptians themselves are rarely interested, but on Friday one of them waited in vain for Solomon, son of the Prophet David, for several hours on top of the 137-metre (440-foot) high Cheops pyramid.

The Imhotep Association. named after the architect of the Djoser and Saqqara pyramids, sees itself as more scientific than the new age sects and has been meeting regularly in Cairo for the last nine years. The pyramids represent an energy point and symbolise the way geometric forms can be used to create a vibrational power," said architect Ibrahim Karim, one of the group's lead-

Antiquities chief Hawas

tried to explain the attraction. The pyramids have something magical about them because nobody knows how they were built. Some think they are the work of extra-terrestrials.

He distinguishes between simple pyramid worshippers who he respects because "they have a dream," and the more dangerous fanatics such as an American who wanted to dig underneath the great pyramid to find documents he said would change the world.

Hawas himself is sceptical of repeated attempts to uncover the secrets of the pyra-

"Some people sometimes say they hear Cheops talking to them at night. But it is only the rats making a noise." he said.

WB mosques shut JERUSALEM, Mar 23: Israel

ordered four West Bank mosques shut for periods ranging from three to six months this week for "inciting" against Israel, the army said on Wednesday, reports Reuter. It said the mosques, all in the area of the town of Ramallah, had received warnings they could be shut. Subsequent searches later uncovered material authorities considered "inciting" and the mosques were ordered closed. Israel has cracked down on people it suspects of supporting militant Islamic groups in the occupied West Bank in the wake of bombings by Islamic guerillas opposed to the israel-PLO peace deal that have killed scores of Israelis since last April.