Water-logging in city to persist

Water-logging will remain a problem for the city dwellers for mother two to three monsouns till the completion of the Dhaka Integrated Flood Protection Project, experts at the WASA said vesterday, reports UNB. The Tk 159 crore project that began in mid-1992 with assistance from the Asian Development Bank is scheduled to be completed by June 1997.

About 50 per cent of the project has been completed in three years and another 10 per cent is likely to be completed within the current fiscal year. sources at Dhaka WASA's Sewerage and Drainage Depart-

The project envisages a 78kilometre canal and 50.7 kilometre storm sewerage line in an area of 140 square kilo-

The sources said the construction work is being aflected at some places because of legal complications. Illegal occupation of lands, court cases and stay orders have forced authorities to stop work in the Katasur. Sheorapara. Scupara Parbata, Rajabazar. Fikiterpool and Purana Paltan

Experts said rain water takes an unusually long time to recede in certain parts of the city, like Motijheel, the Inner Circular Road, Shantinagar, DIT Extension Road, the Secretariat and its adjoining areas.

The water logging problem in these areas will be solved with the completion of a 2.200 metre-long canal in Se gun Bagicha. The canal is already 1.900 metres long

However the sources said. the remaining 300 metres of work will not be completed before June 1997 due to legal problems concerning lands in Fakirerpool and Purana Paltan. After the Segun Bagicha canal is completed, rain water will flow into the Balu river.

The sources, however, said that the roads in the old part of the city will be free from water stagnation from next monsoon. Nimtali, Hosnidalan and Nazimuddin roads are the areas in the old town where WASA is now facing this prob-

Experts attributed the chronic water-logging problem to the unplanned growth of the city. The low-lying areas of the city, which were being used as water reservoirs have now filled up, thereby worsening the situations. A low lying area in front of the Teigaon office of the Prime Minister has been converted into a parade ground and the Bijoy Sarani has been constructed. That was the cause of water-logging in front of the PM's office a few years ago, they said.

"Water-logging is manmade," said an expert who feels that 30 per cent of the problem could be solved by making the people aware of the problem. In this context, he said, polythene bags are blocking the flow of water in small drains of the city.
