English-medium college opens in Chittagong

CHITTAGONG, August 1: Minister for Fisheries and Livestock Abdullah al Noman urged for taking private initiatives to establish more educational institutions to cater to the need of growing population of the country and to ensure human resource development.

The minister was addressing today as chief guest at the inaugural function of 'Sunshine College' at Mehdiabag, a private English-medium college — first of its kind in the city here.

Turning to English language, the minister said that it is the best medium to attain maximum knowledge and education as well as to know the outside world.

The present government also is giving emphasis on learning English to help the people in their acquisition of more education and knowledge," Noman added.

He stressed for creating more scopes for the people to learn English for greater interests of the nation. The minister pointed out that knowledge on English is also required to have proper representation of our country in various world organisations.

However, thanking the college authority for taking such a private initiative, the minister urged for maintaining proper standard of education in this college.

Tribute to Aminul Haq

By Staff Correspondent

The Muktiyoddha Chhatra Command (MCC) held a memorial meeting on Attorney General Aminul Haq at the TSC auditorium of the Dhaka University yesterday.

Speakers and organisers paid tributes to Aminul Haq for his strict principles, upright attitude and legendary contribution in his profession.

They lauded the contribution of Aminul Haq and his family in the struggle for the country's independence.

Aminul Haq died in harness on July 13 following a massive heart attack.

Former VC Fazlul Halim Chowdhury said as a freedom fighter, he has made his contribution most outstanding remaining honest upright and true to his profession.

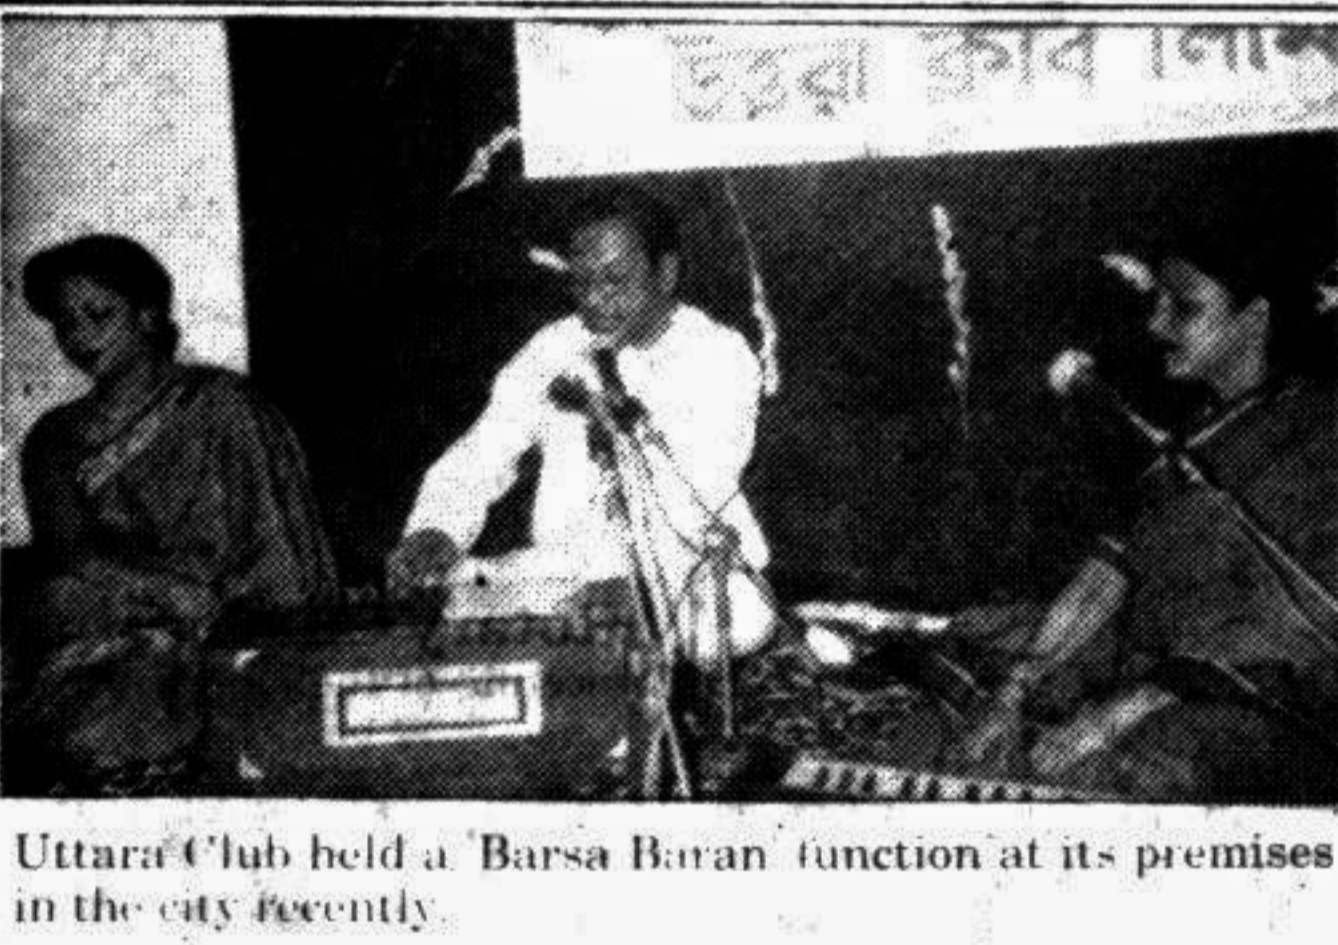

Advocate Gazul Haq said Aminul Haq has proved to be one of the most courageous lawyers taking up the cases of political prisoners, which were fabricated by the state machinery to bully the opponents. On many occasions, he said, Aminul Haq fiercely criticised the farcical trials and even went for signature campaign against such regulations.

Col. (Retd) Showkat Ali said he used to plead the cases of political prisoners free of charge and mentioned few such incidents from his own life.

Dr. Nilima Ibrahim called him a role-model for the younger generation.

K M Jahangir in his speech said he never succumbed under any pressure nor did he compromise on principle.

Poet Shamsul Haq, Prof. Kabir Chaudhury and Kazi Arif also spoke.

Uttara Club held a 'Barsa Baran' function at its premises in the city recently.

RADIO BBC Examines Islam

In a major new eight-part radio series beginning Friday, 11 August, BBC World Service looks at the challenges faced by Muslims to the modern world and asks "Are Islam and the West heading for a 'clash of civilisations'?", says a press release.

Islam is the world's fastest growing religion with over a billion followers worldwide. This new series, Islam: Faith & Power, will look at modern Muslims from a global perspective.

Roger Hardy, the BBC's Middle East expert has been talking to Muslims around the world to find out what their priorities are, what they think of what is now the secular West and what social, economic, cultural and political blueprints Muslim nations need to take them into the next century.

"There has been an increased focus on events in the Islamic world since the end of the Cold War," says Bob Jobbins, Editor, News & Current Affairs, BBC World Service. "The BBC has a remit to service its audience's information needs and Muslims make up a significant percentage of the BBC's global audience. Series like Islam: Faith & Power provide an opportunity for us to go behind the news headlines and examine topical issues in greater depth."

Presenter Roger Hardy visited a range of cities from New York to Jakarta to make the series. In addition he has interviewed journalists, scholars, intellectuals, feminists, government spokesmen, and other experts from around the world.

Islam: Faith and Power can be heard in Dhaka at the following local times:
