European Nations Cup

Belgians in last four

DUBLIN, Aug 23: Belgium were surprise qualifiers for the semifinals of the European Nations Cup when they held the Netherlands to a 1-1 draw on Tuesday to complete group matches unbeaten, reports Reuter.

It is the first time Belgium have reached the semifinals, a scenario which had appeared unlikely earlier when Spain gave themselves every chance of qualifying by beating Scotland 3-0.

The Spanish victory mean Belgium had to get at least point from the Dutch and they held on defiantly after taking the lead from their first corner. Jean Willems scoring with a shot which went in off the Dutch goalkeeper's pads.

With rain pouring down, Belgium were ahead until the 46th minute when Erik Jazet scored for the Netherlands from a switched penalty corner.

Belgium owed much to their defence in which Willems. Mark Coudron, playing out of position as libero, and goalkeeper Michael Van Oost played superbly.

At the end of the match the delighted Belgians threw their sticks in the air and fell in a heap on top of each other.

Earlier in the day England made sure of their semifinal place — for the fifth time in seven attempts — with a comfortable 4-0 win over Belarus.

The unrelated Thomsons. Rob and Nick, ensured England joined the already qualified Netherlands in the last four by sharing the goals. Germany were virtually guaranteed to join England from Group B when Ireland, their only rivals for that place, failed to beat Poland with whom they drew 1-1.

Ireland are two points adrift of Germany and now need to beat them by 10 clear goals today to qualify alongside England who face Switzerland in their final Group B match.

Germany have never conceded 10 goals in a match and have beaten Ireland in all their previous 19 matches.

In a typical rambling King press conference, the promoter said Mathis "is our first choice" to fight Tyson in his next fight, on November 4 at the MGM Grand, but added that International Boxing Federation cruiserweight champion Al Cole and Nate Miller "are also under consideration.

Later in the press conference. Tyson's co-manager John Horne said: "It is going to be Buster Mathis, unless you find someone better for

King then said: "Mike Tyson will fight Buster Mathis on November 4."

Tyson's return has excited the money men but the former world heavyweight champion's 89-second, 25 million dollars victory over McNeeley was almost universally rated as a farce by fans.

King praised McNeeley for going right after Tyson, but assailed Vecchione for stepping into the ring and forcing the fight to be stopped 89 seconds into the first round with McNeeley still on his feet.

"If he was that concerned about his fighter he should have never put him in the ring," King said. "He took from Peter McNeeley a moment of glory that is priceless and a moment of glory he can never recapture again.

King said he would promote McNeeley again, but not with Vecchione working his corner.

The Nevada commission is withholding 179,820 dollars. Vecchione's one-third share of McNeeley's take of the purse, 540,000 dollars. If the commission decides to hold a hearing questioning Vecchione's actions, it will take place within 30 days of the Monday, August 28 date.

The card will also feature Julio Cesar Chavez in a bout against fellow Mexican champion. lightweight Miguel Angel Gonzalez.

Bugner to don gloves again

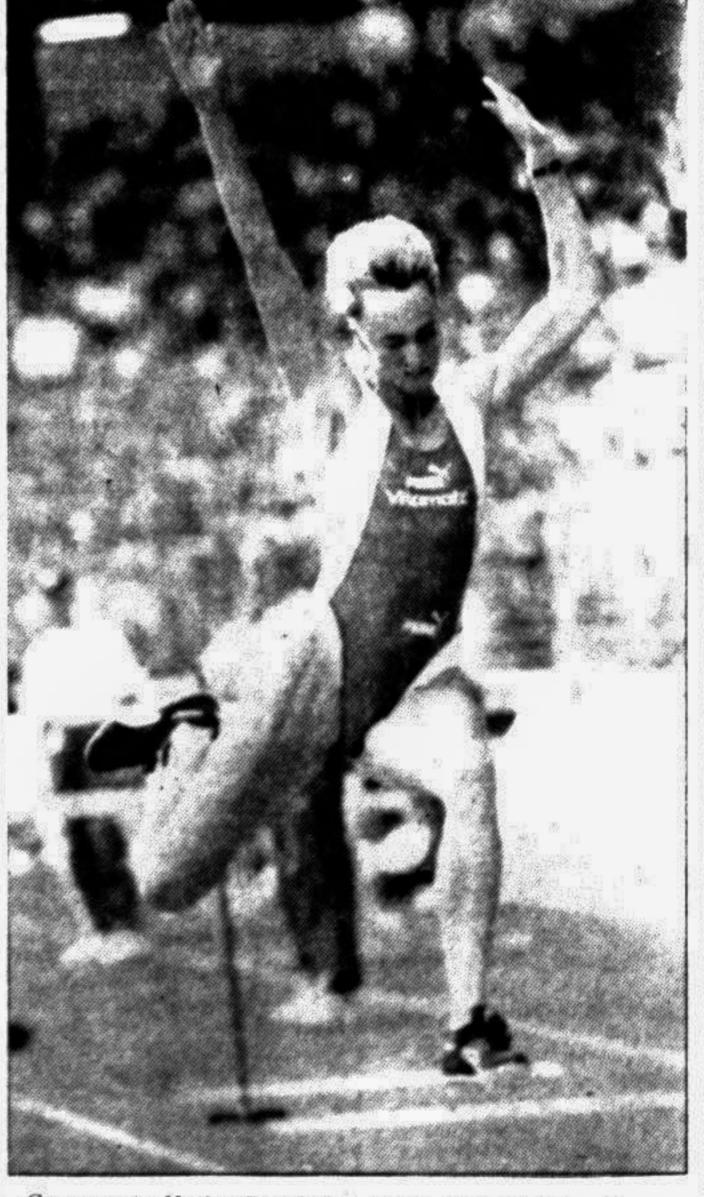

SYDNEY, Aug 23: Former world heavyweight title contender Joe Bugner today announced another comeback at the age of 45 and set his sights on a showdown with fellow veteran George Foreman, reports Reuter.

Bugner, who lost on points to Muhammad Ali in a world title bout in Kuala Lumpur in 1975, will challenge for the Australian heavyweight title next month.

"Down the track, it's my aim to get into the ring with Foreman — I was supposed to fight him in 1977 but politics came into play and the bout fell through." Bugner told reporters 'at a news conference at Queensland's Gold Coast resort.

"If people think I'm crazy, so be it," said Bugner, who also went the distance in non-title fights against Ali and Joe Frazier in 1973.

Bugner, an Australian citizen since 1987 after emigrating from Britain, will face title-holder Vince Cervi, 28, at the Gold Coast on September 22, ending on eight-year absence from the ring since his previous comeback in the mid-80s.

Tarango's tantalism on

LONDON, Aug 23: Jeff Tarango plans to appeal after being banned on Tuesday from two Grand Slam tournaments and fined an additional 28,256 dollars for his extraordinary outburst at Wimbledon last month, reports Reuter.

The 26-year-old American, who had feared a 100,000 dollars fine and a life ban from tennis, was found guilty of "aggravated behaviour and conduct contrary to the integrity of the game" following an inquiry by the Grand Slam committee.

Tarango was originally fined a record total of 15,500 dollars by the All-England Club after defaulting from his thirdround match against German Alexander Mronz and accusing French umpire Bruno Rebeuh of being "the most corrupt official in the game." He was fined 10,000 dollars for verbally abusing Rebeuh, whom he accused of favouritism towards certain players, 5,000 dollars for failing to complete the match and 500 dollars for unsportsmanlike conduct in telling the crowd to "shut
