Ainjibi Forum deplors hartal

The Dhaka unit of Jatiyatabadi Ainjibi (lawyers) Forum yesterday described as unfortunate and condemnable the observance of hartal by a section of opposition parties at a time when the people of the entire country have been facing natural calamities, including floods, reports BSS.

The forum in an emergency meeting with advocate Mokbul Hossain Fakir in the chair said that, the people had rejected destructive activities and renewed their support to the development programmes of the government.

They termed timely the call of Prime Minister Begum Khaleda Zia given at Democracy Square Friday to the opposition for resolving the "current artificial crisis" through discussion and within the constitutional framework.

The forum urged the opposition leaders to shun the politics of hartal and other destructive activities for next few months for the sake of students, preparing for final school examinations.

ONLY FOR THE EXISTENCE: They are defying neither the opposition's hartal nor the process of supporting the government — they are rallying only for struggle. — Star photo

For less hassle at Qazi office

CHITTAGONG, Sept 2: Kulsuma Begum, a woman leader here today called upon the government to streamline the office and functions of marriage registrars in every union, city corporation and municipal ward in order to, what she said, save the people from alleged harassment and financial loss at the hands of Qazis, reports BSS.

Hailing government decision to appoint marriage registrars at union and municipal city ward level, she claimed that such arrangement would halt the alleged oppression and autocracy of the Qazis (marriage registrars) who have allegedly been realising excess marriage fees at their whims.

Kulsuma Begum in a statement here today alleged, the Qazis do not register marriages of the poorer section of people but they do not forget to register marriages of affluent people where they realise handsome fees. Most of the present Qazis realise high fees keeping the government fixed rate of fee secret, she further alleged.

She urged the government to appoint marriage registrars from among the imams of mosques and religious teachers at every union and city municipal ward and they be asked to register all marriages and divorce cases irrespective of social status. She also suggested that minimum "Mohrana" and marriage registration fee be fixed at Taka ten thousand and Taka twenty-five respectively for the poorer section of the people and that a list of marriage registration fee be hung at the Qazi Office.

Kulsuma Begum further suggested that marriage registrars (Qazis) should be brought under the direct supervision of union parishad chairmen and ward commissioners and they should also be asked to submit reports of marriage registration, cases of divorces and accounts to their supervising authorities.

UN role questioned

"In some cases the UN responses and actions are prompt and effective and in other cases they are lethargic and half-hearted," he said.

The UN is holding the convocation of the special session on "reinforcing and democratising the structures for international cooperation" as part of its anniversary celebrations.
